Opening Concert Will be Held on Saturday, June 25—Camp in Charge of Bishop Fitzgerald, Who Will be Assisted by Noted Evangelists and Preachers—Ten Sermons Will be Held Daily

Ocean Grove's official program for the summer of 1904 has been completed by President Bishop James N. Fitzgerald, Vice President Aaron E. Ballard and Musical Director Tall Egan Morgan. The great camp meeting will begin Saturday, August 20, and continue daily until Monday, August 29. The camp will be in charge of Bishop Fitzgerald, who will be assisted by noted evangelists and preachers. While this is in progress ten services will be held daily. The opening concert will be held on Saturday, June 25th.

Lovers of music and vocal and instrumental entertainment will have every taste gratified to the fullest extent. So as not to miss a single one of the many treats in store for all this list should be cut out of the paper and pinned upon the wall of the home in a conspicuous place. No one need lack a delightful mode of entertainment of visiting friends right up to the middle of September, for through the careful preparation and arrangement by the committee almost every date is covered, commencing with the opening concert on June 25 and leading on to the closing concert and preaching service set down for September 10 and 11.

Every form of healthful, inspiring entertainment is offered, and the prices named for all the features for which admission will be charged, are most reasonable and low enough so that no one need be denied the pleasure of attendance on that account.

The committee of arrangements consists of Bishop J. N. Fitzgerald, Rev. A. E. Ballard, D.D., Rev. J. H. Alday, A. H. DeHaven and John E. Andrus. Musical director and manager, Tall Egan Morgan.

Singers familiar with the "Elijah" or "Messiah" are invited to sing with the chorus on July 27 and August 18. Rehearsals will be held for this purpose every Tuesday evening at Union Church, 48th street, between Broadway and Eighth avenue, New York City.

On August 6, 7, and 8, leaving Reading Terminal at 8 a. m., will be run from Philadelphia a special excursion, carrying the Philadelphia Festival Chorus, which will sing the "Creation" August 6. Special reduced hotel rates will be given the members of the chorus. Round trip fare, $2.25.

SLIGHT FIRE MAY RESULT SERIOUSLY

Mrs. Jones, Lately Operated Upon, Suffers Severe Shock

An alarm of fire was rung in from box 32, Ocean Grove, about 1.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The blaze was in the house at 83 Embury avenue, occupied by Mrs. Frances I. Jones, of Blossburg, Pa.

The blaze started in a pile of boxes and barrels in the cellar of the house, but from just what cause it is not known.

The E. H. Stokes chemical company soon had the fire under control and no other stream was put on. The firemen conducted their operations very systematically and no damage was done either by fire or water outside of the basement.

Mrs. Jones, who was ill from an operation performed recently, was carried to the house next door by Officer Frank Tatum. Mrs. Jones received a severe shock in consequence of the fire and is now seriously ill. Dr. Joseph Ackerman and Dr. Laura M. Wright were summoned and did all they could to relieve the sufferer.

Miss White, a cousin of Mrs. Jones, who is living in the house, also received a severe nervous shock and fainted. The damage will amount to about $100. Mr. Jones, who was in New York, was summoned home immediately.

Musical Service at St. Paul's

J. L. Hesse, director and tenor soloist of St. Paul's choir, is rehearsing a musical service which is to be given Sunday evening, June 19, the last evening service of the season.

The work of the choir on this occasion is to be mostly choral and many new selections are under rehearsal. Among them may be mentioned "Gloria Patria" from Farmer's Mass, "Te Deum" by Baumbach, "Ab, Sing Unto the Lord" by Kirkpatrick, and Mozart's "Gloria" will also be rendered.

Mr. Hesse will sing "Oh Jerusalem Look About Thee" from the Coming of the King by Dudley Buck, and by request will repeat the solo "Hosannah" that was so well received at the last Easter service.

An enlarged choir of forty voices will assist in this program.

Epworth Leaguers Enjoyed Meeting in St. Paul's

An Epworth League rally of group No. 4 was held Tuesday night in St. Paul's M. E. Church. Dr. Snyder, pastor of the Central Church, of Bridgeport, was the first speaker. He drew lessons of character from the life of Mary, sister of Lazarus, mentioning her love, gentleness and faith and told how Christians could be benefited by studying her life.

Rev. Thomas S. Brock, of New Brunswick, formerly pastor at Bradley Beach, gave a talk on culture. Mr. Brock put great emphasis on the necessity of spiritual culture, the culture of the soul in the leading of a true Christian life.

The devotional services were conducted by Dr. DeMaris, of Camden. The music was under the direction of Mr. Hillier and Miss Glendora Weeks presided at the piano.

Epworth League Officers Elected

The annual meeting of the Epworth League of St. Paul's M. E. Church was held on Thursday evening, May 26th, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—Joseph C. Jackson.

First Vice President—Mrs. Albert Smith.

Second Vice President—John M. Goodnow.

Third Vice President—Mrs. W. H. L. Starks.

Fourth Vice President—Otis F. Lee.

Mrs. Wheeler's Noted Correspondent

Miss Hallie Erinie Rives, the noted author of "Heart's Courageous," who is now in Europe, has just written Mrs. Wheeler, of Wheeler Villa: "England is ideal now; all in bloom with its fruit-blossoms, primroses and Star of Bethlehem."

"I send you some to recall the love-walks of your girlhood."

"I go to Shakespeare's home tomorrow and expect to gather rosemary from Anne Hathaway's doorknob."

"Heart's Courageous" was the largest selling book in New York last year. While in Washington President Roosevelt exchanged books with her, and Senator Blackburn gave a Colonial dinner in her honor, representing the different characters in her book.

Sunday Services at St. Paul's

The pastor, Rev. B. C. Hancock, will occupy the pulpit at St. Paul's at both services on Sunday. In the morning, Sacrament of the Lord's Supper and reception of members. In the evening the theme will be, "Seeing Through a Glass Darkly."

HOW WE SPENT DECORATION DAY

PLEASURE OF VISITORS MARRED BY HEAVY SHOWERS

DAY A VERY QUIET ONE

Severe Storm All Night Does Much Damage

to Roads—House Struck by Lightning at Glendora—Crops Suffer Considerable Damage

At three o'clock Monday a heavy shower broke from the threatening clouds which hovered over our city all day, lasting some thirty minutes. Toward evening it began to rain and by dark the water was pouring down in torrents, doing considerable damage to all roads leading into town, making them almost impassable for farmers bringing in produce early on Tuesday morning. All night the downpour continued, until the streets were running in small rivulets and streams through which one must ford to cross to the opposite side.

Fierce lightning and heavy claps of thunder accompanied the downfall. At Glendora Robert Davidson's house was struck and the cupola torn into pieces. Fortunately none of the inmates were injured. Considerable damage was done to crops in and about Hamilton and the surrounding country.

Owing greatly to the inclement weather, the day was passed quietly, and with the exception of a natty blue uniform bore and there, relieved now and then by the sombre brown of the kahl, there was nothing to denote that the day was other than a quiet Sunday by the shore.

Immense crowds came down on all the trains Saturday and Sunday, while early Monday morning the streets were enlivened by the arrival of the Newark excursionists, who left, however, at six o'clock in the evening.

At the ball grounds the Oreos cleaned up the Columbian Law School team in a score of 11-6. The Columbia boys put up a poor fight and the ground was muddy and slippery, so that all in all the game was a disappointment.

At one large hotel over one hundred visitors were registered, while all the large hotels and most of the smaller hostleries reported entertaining a larger number than usual of visitors who came down to "snatch two full days' enjoyment at the shore and a rest from their business cares and duties.

At the Asbury avenue casino a large number listened to Pryor's orchestra and admired the beautiful floral piece, given by Abbott, the florist, to the City of Asbury Park, which adorned the center of the platform.

Yet, taken altogether, every one made the best of the disagreeable weather and enjoyed themselves by a stroll on the boardwalk or a row on the lake, taking opportunity as it offered in between the showers.

SCARCITY OF SCHOOL TEACHERS

Seven Instructors Leave Township, Three to Wed—Will Need 60 Next Year

Sixty teachers is the number of instructors the Neptune township board of education has decided to employ for the schools in the township district.

Seven teachers have made known to Principal L. A. Doren their intentions of resigning their positions. Three of them are to be married and the others have accepted positions elsewhere. They are: Miss Lisher, of the sub-primary; Florence Heman, fifth grade; Maud Heman, eighth grade; Thersa Baker, sub-primary; Mrs. C. Long, seventh grade; Miss Augusta Scott, eighth grade; Gertrude Goodenough, sub-primary.

The increase in teachers' salaries this year amounts to $425, making the amount set aside for this purpose $3,770 per month. The teachers who received a raise in their salaries last year have not had their amounts increased on the pay roll while those who did not receive a raise last year have been remembered.

At the conclusion of the school year every school in the district will be entirely renovated, furniture and woodwork varnished and painted, while the grounds will also be carefully looked after and the flagpoles painted.

Three new teachers were engaged toward filling the vacancy caused by the resignations of the seven teachers. The new teachers are, Miss Bellehauser, Miss Frances Murphy and Miss Frances Segoline.

Deal Beach to Have Wild West Show

Joseph M. Byrne, of Newark, is arranging to repeat the Wild West Show of last summer, when $3,000 was secured for charity. The performers this year, as before, will be well-known society youths residing in Deal Beach, Allenhurst, Long Branch and Asbury Park. The show will take place in August and the proceeds will be divided between the Monmouth Memorial Hospital and the Roman Catholic Church, now in the course of erection.

A Big Bargain

I can sell you a twelve-room boarding house within one and a half blocks of the ocean, furnished and in good repair, for $2,075, part of which can remain on mortgage. An excellent opportunity to an investor. W. N. Woolston, 50 Main avenue, Ocean Grove.

PROMINENT NEWSPAPER MEN ENJOY A DELIGHTFUL OUTING

Guests of the New Jersey Central Railroad on Trip to Lake Hopatcong

The third annual outing given by the management of the New Jersey Central Railroad to the newspaper men along the lines of this road took place Thursday. The objective point this year was Lake Hopatcong, that well-known resort, than which there is none more charming or picturesque in New Jersey, or for the matter of that, in any other State.

Two special trains, one leaving Point Pleasant at 8.05, and one leaving Scranton at 7, arrived at the Lake shortly after noon. Owing to the rainy spell, which has prevailed throughout this section of the country since Monday last, the weather left much to be desired. But as one of the excursionists remarked on the return home, "Notwithstanding the bad weather we have had a mighty fine time."

The newspaper contingent from Ocean Grove and Asbury Park was augmented by the Ocean Grove High School orchestra, to whom an invitation had been extended by the Central Railroad, through its popular leader, Mr. L. vanGilluwe. The music furnished by the capable musicians of this orchestra gave no small enjoyment to the occasion. Many comments complimentary to their efficiency were passed, and as one of the pencil-pushers remarked, "What would we have done without them?"

Upon arrival at the Lake the excursionists, to the number of several hundred, with appetites as keen as cross-cut saws, were ushered into the Lake Pavilion, where dinner was served. They succeeded in getting away with almost everything in sight.

A delightful trip around the lake on the steamer "Lake Hopatcong" was next in order, and that the beautiful scenery was thoroughly enjoyed goes without saying. The inclemency of the weather prevented much outdoor diversion, but the orchestra entertained the party in the pavilion until supper time.

After the evening meal an informal meeting of the guests of the Central Railroad was held. A number of well-chosen remarks were made by P. Hall Packer, of the Senbright Sentinel; J. R. Farr, of the Scranton Commercial Progress; J. W. Hopewell, of the Scranton Register; J. S. Wright, of the Perth Amboy Chronicle. A vote of thanks was extended to the Central Railroad for its hospitality.

The entertaining committee was composed of the following gentlemen: W. C. Hope, assistant general passenger agent; C. M. Burt, general passenger agent; C. W. Huntington, general superintendent; H. E. Ruhe, district passenger agent; W. H. Hayden, general advertising agent; Ira E. Whyte, district passenger agent; W. C. Walsh, Jr., district passenger agent; F. A. Dickinson, district passenger agent.

Right royally did these gentlemen entertain their guests, every possible kindness and courtesy being shown.

One of the speakers of the evening said that the Central Railroad of New Jersey was "a model railroad," and it is a model railroad, both in service and management. The courtesy and consideration invariably shown by this management are much appreciated by all the members of the editorial fraternity and everybody else who have transactions with this railroad.

Whatever is done by the Central Railroad is done handsomely, and the editorial excursion to Lake Hopatcong on June 2 was no exception to this rule. The hearty thanks of the representatives of this paper who participated in this trip is extended to the New Jersey Central Railroad, and may it prosper and "its shadow never grow less."

PRYOR TENDERS RECEPTION

Entertains Members of Band and Others at His Summer Home Here

Arthur W. Pryor tendered a reception to the members of his band and several prominent men in the theatrical world at his handsome summer home, 128 Lake avenue, Friday evening. A delightful repast was served by Ketch & Sons, caterers of New York.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pryor, Mr. and Mrs. Simone Mantia, Theodore Levy, Christopher Chapman, Darius Lyons, Louis Christ, P. C. Meisen, Edward Wardell, L. Delnegro, M. Davison, Christopher Sorensen, Jr., and guests from New York, Philadelphia and Newark.

Sermons for Business Men

Rev. Dwight E. Marvin, D. D., formerly pastor of the Congregational Church, Asbury Park, now in charge of the Flatbush Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, has inaugurated a series of sermons which deal with every phase of business life and man's duty to his maker in the walks of commercial life, a subject which he handled with rare ability while occupying the Asbury Park pulpit.

Veteran Teacher Gets Pension

The first teacher to take advantage of the act in force in New Jersey that permits a teacher who has taught forty years consecutively in a city to be retired on half pay is Mrs. Kate S. Durie, principal of Primary School No. 5, Jersey City. She is seventy-eight years old and is in ill health after a severe attack of pneumonia and the death of her only daughter. She will go on the pension roll on June 1.

TOWNSHIP SOLONS IN A QUANDARY

ATLANTIC COAST LIGHT CO. DECLINES TO CONTRACT FOR ENTIRE DISTRICT

NO CONTRACT AWARDED

Matter Will Be Aoted on at Next Meeting

Which Will be Held at the Call of the Chairman—Company Does Not Care to Extend Its Lines—Contract Submitted Only Covers 27 Lights

There was considerable surprise among the committeemen Wednesday night when the expected bid of the Atlantic Coast Electric Light Company was opened and read, followed by several very pointed and appropriate speeches from those present at the very apparent change of position taken by the company in its written proposition from that expressed verbally by Mr. Campbell to the committee several weeks ago. At that time he made a proposition to supply the entire lighting of the township, but when the written bid was read it was stated the company did not care to serve more than the present equipment of 27 lights on account of the expense necessitated by an extension of its lines. The bid of the Ocean Grove Association was next read offering a continuation of its present service at the same rates now in vogue.

After considerable argument and discussion, it was decided to lay the bids on the table until the next meeting of the committeemen, which would be held subject to the call of the chairman.

It is now understood that the Coast Gas Company of Belmar and the Consolidated Gas Company will enter bids. Although Mr. Campbell representing the Atlantic Coast Electric Light Company was present during the early part of the evening, he left before the light matter was reached by the committee, so that no expression could be had from him as to the change of sentiment as shown by the written bid and his own verbal offer as made at the previous meeting.

A petition was presented to the committee with reference to the franchise granted the Consolidated Gas Company, asking that a proper time limit clause be inserted. Advice will be secured from Counselor Patterson as to the proper course to pursue in such a matter.

After hearing several complaints from residents in that locality, Supervisor of Roads White was requested by the committee to confer with the East Jersey Gas Company as to the responsibility for the destruction of a portion of Summerfield avenue during the late heavy rains, and to arrange to have them bear the expense of repairs, and in case of any opposition to this suggestion, that counsel be consulted as to the advisability of compelling them to do so.

The treasurer reported a cash balance in bank to the credit of the township of $454.64 and to the credit of the board of education the sum of $1,839.25.

George W. Pittenger, representing Robert S. Havens, appeared before the committee with reference to a reduction of tax assessment. The matter was referred to Counselor Patterson for an opinion.

FIRE DRILL AT SCHOOL

900 Township Pupils Vacate High School Building in Record Time

In a little over one minute the 900 pupils and teachers in the Neptune Township High School building in response to the fire alarm signal sounded by Supervising Principal L. A. Doren vacated that big structure. The exact time was one minute and eight seconds. The drill was given for the benefit of several local newspaper men and a few visitors in the building at the time. The classes had reached their rooms after the Memorial day exercises and were just settling down to work when the summons came unexpectedly, just as it would if a real fire were endangering their lives.

When the gong sounds certain boys assigned to that duty rush ahead to open the doors, and quickly following them come the scholars double file from the first floor and by fours down the stairways. So quickly did they all leave the building that one of the spectators exclaimed, "Is that all?" and Miss Doren replied, "Yes, that's all. The children are all out safely."

Benjamin Reeder Dies of Old Age

Benjamin Reeder, who for a number of years resided at 6½ Surf avenue, died Monday evening at 9.30 at the residence of Charles Collis, 109 Corlies avenue, West Grove, of old age. His wife died about a month ago. Funeral services were held at Trenton on Thursday, and interment at same place.

Emma Clayton Fined

Emma Clayton appeared before Judge Moran last Monday charged by Officer Chamberlain with being intoxicated. When brought before the judge she broke down and sobbed bitterly and pleaded guilty to the charge. She was fined $2 and costs.

WHY ADVERTISING RETURNS CANNOT BE CHECKED

Though All Evidence May Be to the Contrary They Still Exist

It pays to advertise a small-priced article. Many seem doubtful that a 5 cent or 10 cent article can be profitably advertised, even should the expenditure be as low as $2 or $3 for space.

A few weeks ago there was advertised a small souvenir book of views of the resort. Printed on good, heavy, calendered paper, with beautiful half-tones, and gold-embossed cover, it was really worth 50 cents. The advertised price was 10 cents. Before these books had been advertised there had been practically no call for them, even at such a remarkable price, and despite the fact that they had been placed conspicuously on the counters of the store.

The proportionate space given to these books in the ad. would have cost by itself 70 cents. A friend of mine seeing the ad., purchased a copy, and on his rounds that day—being a deliveryman—showed it to several of his friends. Each at once expressed the intention of purchasing a copy. He was the means of definitely sending eleven persons to that store for a copy of the book. Yet of this dozen persons, had careful tab been kept and each asked how they came to purchase a copy of the book, only one would have admitted coming in response to the advertisement, while the other eleven would have mentioned the fact of having seen it in the hands of the expressman. Therefore, apparently, only one direct sale in twelve had resulted from the advertisement. Yet, in reality, every one of the twelve sales had directly resulted from that particular ad., had the matter been correctly followed out to a proper conclusion. Therefore, instead of crediting that ad. with only 10 cents returns from the one instance of those twelve particular sales, it should have received credit for $1.30.

And so likewise down the line of the entire sales of the store. How short-sighted that merchant would be to claim, like many business men, of restricted vision, that "advertising did not pay."

There is really no true method of "checking returns" accurately, as the above instance will show. Nor would any sane man really claim that those eleven sales were due entirely and exclusively to the agency of the expressman in this showing his purchase to his friends, without going a step further back and giving the advertisement entire credit for all twelve sales, for surely without the ad. the expressman would never have been able to have acted as agent and salesman for the store offering the books for sale, for in such case in all likelihood he would not have possessed his own copy to show to the others.

This instance only serves to emphasize the importance of first having good goods and then advertising them. There is nothing backs up advertising so strongly and powerfully as a pleased customer.

I happen to be one of the twelve instanced in this connection. And on my way out of the store, I observed several articles in which I stood in need and which need I had forgotten until I saw the goods displayed attractively on the counters. Therefore, before I had left the place, though I had intended only making a ten cent purchase on entering, on emerging upon the pavement I had made four purchases and expended 65 cents.

How many of the other eleven in this particular dozen had done likewise to a greater or less extent?

Uniform Hour for Services

An important movement is about to be inaugurated by the churches of Asbury Park for the adoption of a uniform hour for the Sabbath services, the holding of the Sunday school service in the morning all the year and combining interests in advertising the churches during the summer season.

On the latter proposition all have agreed except the Episcopal church and it will probably be added to the list. Father Roache of the Catholic church favors the idea, as do all of the Protestant churches.

It was decided to fix uniform hours for Sunday church services this summer—10.45 in the morning, and 7.45 in the evening. It was also agreed to do away with afternoon sessions of the various Sabbath schools, and to hold the same the year around at 9 a. m.

Instead of each church having its individual advertising cards scattered promiscuously throughout the resort, only one card with each church represented on that card, will be issued and each announcement will be equally conspicuous with its neighbor.

Dr. Laura M. Wright Now President

The Ocean Grove Political Study Club held its annual meeting at the home of Mrs. C. B. Wilson, 73 Mt. Pleasant way, May 27th. After transacting the regular business, a new constitution was voted upon and accepted. This was followed by the election of officers for the ensuing year. Laura M. Wright, M. D., was made president and Dr. A. E. Ballard and Mrs. A. E. Nichols, vice-presidents.

You can have a well-painted house for ten years for one-half the cost of using lead and zinc paint. Why? Because the Carrara lasts more than twice as long, and retains its glossy appearance. For prices and color cards, inquire of T. M. Dickey, Ocean Grove.

HOW BONES GROW.

The Evolution From Cartilage To Bone, in Its Earliest Stages Called Temporary Cartilage, has fibrous tissue as its primary foundation. The chief uses of bones are to protect delicate organs and to form a framework for the body, by which, in combination with the muscles, the body is moved.

As growth advances stronger mechanical support becomes necessary, and, as scaffolding is gradually removed in the course of building, so each part of the soft cartilage is cleared away piece by piece, at first by the absorption of its central part and then by the deposit of a few particles of bony matter to take its place.

The arteries next enlarge and deposit granules of calcareous phosphate, which are laid down, particle by particle, in regular lines, so as to form continuous fibers, which cross connect and unite from different centers and by definite laws.

Each distinct bone is thus formed from ossific or bone-forming centers, which unite by a natural affinity. Dr. Roger has compared this process to the method by which a sculptor models first in plastic material the form to be expressed in marble.

SEEING DOUBLE.

How Intoxicating Liquor Acts Upon the Eye Muscles.

Among the earliest consequences of strong drink must be placed the lack of proper co-ordination of all muscular movements. This applies not only to the limbs, as is seen in the staggering gait, but to all parts in a healthy body which act in sympathy.

Certain parts of the retina of both eyes possess what are called sympathetic areas, so that though each eye has its own image, yet by continued experience these are transmitted to the brain as only one object. Should the muscles by any cause be unequal to regulate the associated movements the images of external objects are thrown on unsympathetic areas of the retina, and the result is that they appear double.

This may easily be tried in the healthy eye by squeezing one eyeball slightly, when the images will fall on areas not usually sympathetic, and two objects appear instead of one, or if a finger be pointed upward about two feet away, and a candle be placed farther off still, then the eyes, looking closely at the finger, will perceive two images of the distant candle.

THE TRADE WINDS.

How They Originate and the Reason of Their Constancy.

The constancy of trade winds is due to the permanence of the conditions which rule them. As the heated air at the equator ascends, surface winds set in from north and south and, uniting, descend in their turn and flow off in opposite directions.

As the velocity of the earth's revolutions from east to west is much greater at the equator than at the poles wind blowing along its surface to the equator is constantly arriving at places which have a higher velocity than itself; hence it is retarded and must lag behind, and under the influence of two opposing forces it is compelled to take an intermediate direction, so that what was originally a north wind is deflected and flows southwest, while what started as a south wind becomes northwest.

From the great service they have rendered to navigation these reliable winds are called trade winds. It is in a wide ocean, such as the Pacific, that they have their full scope.

Cricket in Japan.

There is a large green cricket, larger than our native variety, of which the children in Japan are fond. It is sold in cunning little bamboo cages in booths on the streets and is loved for its cheery chirp. Several varieties of true crickets are pure white, coming at different times of the year. Some have a note so loud and insistent that to have two or three playing their fiddles in a garden at once makes a noise almost deafening, while a species that comes late in the fall has an exquisite note like the quick ringing of a small bell.

How Anthracite Coal Was Formed.

Geologists are of the opinion that bituminous and anthracite coals were formed during the same period and under like conditions. Originally they were all bituminous, but during the violent contortions and upheavals of the earth's crust at the close of the carboniferous age the bituminous coals involved in that disturbance were changed by heat and pressure and the consequent expulsion of volatile matter from bituminous to anthracite.

A Clever Reply.

Mme. de Maltheville once asked Lord Stair why it was that the affairs of government were so badly managed in France under a king and so well managed in England under a queen? "For that very reason," replied the English ambassador, "for when a man reigns the women rule him, and when a woman reigns she is ruled by men."

Gave Him Time.

"Judge," yelled the prisoner, "can't you give me a little time to think this thing over?" "Certainly," replied the magistrate. "Six months."—Philadelphia Record.

Anxious to Show It.

"Hain't young folks become suddenly religious? I see him at church every Sunday now." "Yes, he's wearing his first silk hat."—Chicago Post.

WORLD'S FAIR

Great Coach Excursions via Pennsylvania Railroad

June 9, 16, 23 and 30 are the next dates for great coach excursions to St. Louis via Pennsylvania Railroad, on account of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. The rates for these excursions have been fixed at such a low figure that they afford those of limited means an opportunity of seeing the World's Fair at an exceedingly small cost. The unusual success attending the first Pennsylvania Railroad excursion indicates that these will be very popular.

Special trains of standard Pennsylvania Railroad coaches of the most modern pattern will be run on the above-mentioned dates from New York, Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Altoona and Pittsburg, directly through to St. Louis, with ample stops for meals at convenient hours. Each train will be in charge of a Tourist Agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The rates will be the same as for the first excursion, May 10, $20 from New York, $18.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other stations.

Specific information regarding time of special train and connections, and rates from principal stations east of Pittsburg, will be announced shortly. —23-24.

Success of "Dreamland"

No summer amusement resort ever started with greater prosperity than has Dreamland, Coney Island, a pleasure place which cost $3,500,000 before the gates were opened.

Situated directly on the ocean with a broad view of the vast Atlantic and its constantly passing ships; a long beach of soft white sand with bathing accommodation for 20,000 people a day, are attractive features which make Dreamland a desirable place for excursionists to the seashore.

Dreamland affords no lack of entertainment with its many free attractions. In large buildings are the most costly shows imaginable.

From New York to Coney Island, landing at its own steel pier on the grounds, Dreamland has inaugurated and has now in operation its own fleet of fast excursion steamboats. These boats are the largest plying between New York and Coney Island, each having a capacity of 4,000.

Hourly trips are made every day from landings on the North River, at West 129th street, West 22nd street, and the Battery.

The sail through the Narrows, the Lower Bay and out into the ocean, is delightful and affords a most picturesque view of the interesting points of New York's magnificent harbor. The round trip fare by boat, including admission to the grounds, is 30 cents, and on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays, is 35 cents.

The steamboat trip is preferable in every way to the discomforts of crossing the heated city and taking the elevated and surface lines for Coney Island, which leave from New York approach to the Brooklyn bridge.

That some idea may be obtained of the magnitude of Dreamland, "The World's Fair" of amusement resorts, these statistics have been carefully compiled:

Dreamland is 39 acres in area. Its real estate cost $750,000 and the buildings and construction work $2,750,000, making a total cost of $3,500,000. Fourteen thousand employees worked day and night on the construction work. One week's payroll amounted to $55,000. Seventeen hundred tons of asbestos were used in fireproofing. Ninety miles of piping were used in installing the conduit, sewer, gas and water systems. The height of the great white electric tower is 375 feet and it is studded with 100,000 globes. In the two tanks in the tower are 60,000 gallons of water. Marble dust makes Dreamland's staff work indestructible. The boardwalk, fifty feet wide, accommodates comfortably 60,000 people. In the grand ball room on the ocean pier 8,000 people can dance at one time. The restaurant over the ocean has 4,000 chairs. Most of the midlets in the world are in the Midlet City. The "Fighting the Flames" spectacle employs 4,000 men and women. The moving stairway on Dreamland's mammoth chutes is 360 feet long. The number of permanent employees is 5,000.

Properties for Rent

Ocean Grove, N. J. Season of 1904

NOTICE

The season comprehends four months, from June to October. In some cases the time of occupancy is limited to a shorter period, and in many cases it may be extended, if desired. The various houses differ widely in character of furnishings; but usually contain the needed articles outside of linen, bed covering, silver and cutlery. It is more satisfactory that applicants come in person and inspect the properties. They can be examined at any time, and the subscriber's offices are prominently located at 50 Main avenue, Ocean Grove, opposite the Association Building.

My facilities for serving the public are unequalled and a telegram, letter, postal card or telephone call will meet a prompt and cheerful response.

The Ocean Grove stages meet all trains, and any of them will bring passengers direct to the offices. Map of grounds and booklet will be forwarded upon application.

We also have many desirable boarding houses and cottages for sale at bargain prices.

VISITING A VOLCANO.

The Party Was Simply Too Tired to Descend Into the Crater.

We had meant to descend into the crater, but upon reaching the top concluded that we could see all that was to be seen from there. First one and then the other remarked that there was no need to make that arduous descent or that there was nothing more to be seen down there anyway. Of course we were not afraid. No, no; just tired. One of the boys sat down on the edge and proceeded to shoot up the scenery with his kodak, while we two others made a tour of exploration along the summit. Coming to an opening in the wall with a sort of shelf running along inside, we entered with something of the air of a chicken which, taking advantage of temporary quietness, pokes its head into a forbidden kitchen. If the presiding demon had made any explosive remarks, we should have widened that breach in getting away. Our native guide told us that it was all right, but he modestly refrained from forcing himself to the front, leaving that honor to the more aggressive Anglo-Saxon. The fact is we were all trying to get behind one another, with more or less success. —William Blanchard in National Magazine.

ASBESTUS.

It Was Used by the Ancients on Their Funeral Pyres.

Asbestos, which takes its name from a Greek word meaning incombustible, consists chiefly of silica, magnesia, alumina and oxide of iron. It was known to the ancients, who used it as a wrap to preserve the ashes of those whose bodies were consumed on the funeral pyre.

The modern demand for this valuable product has produced a supply from many quarters as far apart as the Alps and Canada. Its quality is determined by the length, strength and firmness of its fibers, which can be so manipulated as to resemble wool and to be woven into cloths, ropes and felted fabrics which resist any ordinary flames.

As closely woven cloth or felt it is a valid protection against fire. It is largely used as packing for the pistons of steam engines and as nonconducting coverings for boilers or for fireproof cement. Combined with clay it forms the familiar fuel of our gas stoves, which burns, but is not consumed, and it has proved of very special value in the manufacture of a safety paint and as an indestructible filter for acids or for electric gloves.—London Standard.

AN EARLY TIMEPIECE.

The Ring Dial Which Was Used Before the Days of the Watch.

The ring dial, or sun ring, was used as a small sundial before the days of the watch. Modern imitations were made, we are told, "in basketfuls" by a Sheffield firm about 1780, and in much more recent times specimens about six inches in diameter have been on sale in London as instructive toys which tell the solar time with great accuracy when the sun is high.

A writer in Notes and Queries, Jan. 25, 1851, describes a ring dial half an inch broad and two inches in diameter of Swedish make. To the right of its small handle a slit extends nearly a third of the whole length. A narrow band of brass runs along the center of the ring and covers the slit. This band is movable and has a hole through which the rays of the sun can fall. On each side of it letters for the months are inscribed, and within the ring opposite to these letters are figures for the hours.

By a proper adjustment of the brass band this ring clock could be properly set by the sun at suitable intervals perhaps once a month.

Curious Death Customs of Fiji.

The Fijians believe that in case a marriageable youth or maiden dies without having gone through with the elaborate nuptial knot tying ceremony of the islands his or her soul is doomed to wander about forever in an intermediate region between heaven and hell. When any one does—man, woman or child—a whale's tooth is placed in the hand of the corpse, the missile to be thrown at the tree which stands as a guidepost to point out the road that leads to heaven and the one that leads to hell.

London and Athens.

On entering a London suburb the spirit of London meets you, takes possession of you and hurries you on in thought to meet the millions in its bosom. On entering the outskirts of Athens it is the spirit of the past which you encounter, and which carries you back so far that the wearied mind turns and reposes in the present in keeping with the things animate and inanimate in its vicinity.—Gentleman's Magazine.

A Queer Sight in Holland.

One of the queerest sights which I saw in Europe was a row of wooden shoes outside the door of a Dutch farmhouse on Saturday morning. There were the big sized shoes of the farmer himself, the middle sized shoes of his good woman and several small sized shoes of the children, and all the line had been scrubbed and freshly whitewashed in preparation for Sunday.—"Old Stories of Holland."

Strenuous Music.

"Somebody has invented an instrument which enables one to feel music."

"I suppose it would be necessary to be taken home in an ambulance after feeling one or two of Wagner's pieces, wouldn't it?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

We can do nothing well without joy and a good conscience, which is the ground of joy.—Dibben.

SATURDAY, JUNE 4, 1904.

Passing through a field one day an elderly gentleman had his attention attracted to a young man who seemed to be very busily engaged in throwing stones into a stream that ran through the place. He worked so industriously and was so intent upon his peculiar occupation that the old gentleman was constrained to ask the young man what he was doing.

"I am building a cotton mill, sir," was the unexpected, startling reply. Indeed, it had so little apparent connection with his operations that again the old man questioned the youth. The information was elicited that the young man's father, once wealthy, had lost his money through the rascality of a partner who had absconded with the major portion of the firm's bank assets, leaving nothing from the resultant wreck but the piece of real estate upon which they now stood.

"It's a start, you see, sir," continued the young man, "for the land has to be cleared, though how we are going to get the money to excavate and build the plant and equip the mill with machinery, is more than I can tell. Dad's in town now, trying to get assistance from his old friends, though we have little hope of that. So while I was waiting for him to come back, I just thought I would get to work and do what I could meanwhile—making a start, you see."

Unknown to the young man the stranger happened to be a retired capitalist with plenty of idle money lying away in his bank vaults, and after inquiry in the town into the young man's past record and finding nothing but good recommendation of him and his father, as to their honesty, cheerfulness under affliction, and industrious habits, he took an active interest in the building of the cotton mill, and today, some seven years later, there is busily splashing and humming the immense machinery of one of the largest cotton mills along the banks of the Schuylkill, now owned exclusively by the young man who had "made a start" that day long before, for his father died a rich and respected man a few months ago.

Do you put duties by day by day; do you shirk present responsibilities just because the way does not show itself at the moment; do you sit around and idly wonder how a thing may be done, or do you just pitch right in, throw off your coat, roll up your sleeves; go at the first process in the operation, leaving the conclusion to come of its own accord and solution, naturally and properly?

How to get to the top of a big hill always appears more easily and quickly to the man half way up than to the one who sits in the road a half mile away, looking off to it in the distance. Make a start!

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE

Richmond, Va., June 1, 1904.

On to Richmond! What memories are recalled by a visit to this historic city. Someone has termed Virginia the "State of poverty and tobacco." Substitute "negroes" for "poverty" (if such be possible) and Richmond is typical of the entire Commonwealth. With a population of nearly, if not quite, 100,000 I am told in this city there are upwards of 35,000 negroes. And tobacco! There is no end to it. It is carted through the streets in great hogsheds; it is stored in immense warehouses; it is sold on the exchange in quantities to make you wonder how, when and where it is possible to dispose of it all; it is converted from leaf to plug, to cigarettes, to cheroots and to smoking tobacco, not in bundles, bales or boxes, but in carload lots, and that, too, by some ten or fifteen factories whose large size is indicative of the profit there is in the weed.

There are other interesting things to be seen in Richmond aside from tobacco. Capitol Square, Washington's headquarters, the National and Hollywood cemeteries, Soldiers' Home, Gen. Lee's residence, Jeff Davis' mansion, Virginia state prison, Chamber of Commerce, Tobacco Exchange, old slave market, Libby Prison site, the State Capitol, Governor's mansion, new State Library, Lakeside Park, Valentine museum, St. John's Church—these are a few. There are many others.

I had the pleasure of attending service in St. John's Church, of Patrick Henry fame. More, I sat in Patrick Henry's pew, although it was unpremeditated, and not until after the service did I know I was thus accidentally honored. This church was erected in 1740. Time and again the elements have been severe, very severe, with it, and several times it has been found necessary to rebuild. A friend has just presented St. John's with a new organ. The organ is too large to fit the church, so they will remodel the structure to fit the organ. When completed this famous old building will be the shape of a cross, its four wings exactly marking the cardinal points. This, I believe, was the original shape of the church. A visit to Richmond is not complete until one has gone to St. John's and sat in the pew of the great commoner who preferred death to liberty were to be denied him.

In Capitol Square may be seen Crawford's famous equestrian statue of Washington, probably the grandest work of its kind in the world today. There are also statues of Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Henry, Chief Justice Marshall, Henry Clay, Stonewall Jackson, and some lesser lights. The tame squirrels that inhabit this square, by State protection are a never-ending source of delight to visitors. Convicts from the State prison, guarded by a keeper feed the squirrels and keep the square in trim. No one may molest the squirrels nor talk to the convicts. Dogs are rigidly excluded from the grounds.

Powhatan, the place of rescue by Pocahontas of Captain John Smith, lies just a short distance from the city. The spot was pointed out to me. It is marked, so that he who runs may read. The most important battlefields around Richmond—and they are numerous—are Yellow Tavern, Mechanicsville, Ellersburg Mill, Gaines' Mill, Cold Harbor, Savage Station, Frazier's Farm, Five Forks, Seven Pines, Fort Harrison and Malvern Hill.

Richmond, as every school child knows, lies on the banks of the James river, midway between the Blue Ridge mountains and the Atlantic ocean. The city was founded in April, 1737. The seat of the State government was removed hither from Williamsburg in 1779, and the place became a city in 1782. Richmond is quite a manufacturing place, as well as being one of the most important jobbing towns of the South. Her products are shipped to all parts of the country and to many parts of the civilized world. An industry which has grown to large proportions is the Richmond Locomotive and Machine Works, now employing about 1500 men. Here was built the machinery for the battleship "Texas." Not long ago these works shipped seventeen compound locomotives to Finland and twenty locomotives to Sweden. Ten of the latter were put in service north of the Arctic circle.

From the North, Richmond is reached by the R. F. and P. railroad out of Washington. R. F. and P. stand for Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac, one of the finest equipped and best managed roads in the South. It is the connecting link with the Atlantic Coast Line, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Pennsylvania, the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Seaboard Air Line and the Southern Railway between all points, north and south, with Richmond. The courteous traffic manager of this road is W. P. Taylor, whose acquaintance I enjoy. Mr. Taylor is quite a young man for so responsible a position, but it is in evidence that his thorough knowledge of railroad matters coupled with his executive ability bring marked success to his department. The road is being doubled-tracked between this city and Washington.

Press Views and News

In Laredo, Texas, it costs a citizen a fine of $5 to $20 every time young mosquitoes are found on his premises. If that law were in vogue here, about one-half of New Jersey's residents would be bankrupt.—Times, Lakewood.

NO PROLONGED HOT SPELLS.

With the advent of warm weather is the opening up of the record for loss of life and property from lightning and tornadoes. Scientists predict that there will be many heavy storms of all sorts this summer on account of the spots on the sun. For the same reason they say there will be no prolonged hot spells.—Jerseyman, Morristown.

The fall of Fort Arthur is scheduled for about June 20. A Tokio despatch announces that the newspaper correspondents leave there June 15 to be in at the finish. Such precision in the forecasting of such a notable event is remarkable. Popular excursions may in time be run to afford the stay-at-home an opportunity of witnessing some of the striking incidents of the struggle.—Press, Asbury Park.

There are a lot of bad drivers at large these days and among the worst are men who drive nervous horses up to railroad crossings so that their noses are almost over the tracks and then guess at which way the horses will jump when the train passes. If the driver, his team and his vehicle were the only things involved, it might not be the public's business, but as no reckoning is ever made of who or what may be within wrecking distance, there should be some way of stopping the foolish practice.—Gazette, East Orange.

A store on the corner of two prominent streets in Paterson, which has been renting for $500 a year, has just been leased to a shoe-blackening concern for ten years at $1,500 a year. It is to be fitted up in fine style as a "shine parlor." This is an indication of the growth and profit in a comparatively new trade. Time was when every man was his own shiner; now it is a business by itself, and that it pays well is shown by the fact that $5,000 to $10,000 a year is paid for the right to control the "shining" privilege on some of the ferry lines between New York and Jersey City. It will take 30,000 five-cent shiners to pay the rent of that $1,500 store.—Times, Trenton.

SPANISH PROGRESS.

Careful observers of public sentiment and of the condition of affairs in Spain say that the kingdom of Alfonso is better off today than it was before the loss of its colonies and is gaining in many lines of development. It is said also that the general drift of opinion in Spain is that the country will have a brighter future without possessions beyond the seas.

The Spanish temperament was never ideal for the government of alien peoples and subject races. That storied peninsula of Southwestern Europe, with its picturesque and fascinating history, has within its borders latent treasures of amazing value. It may become prodigiously rich and populous again, as it was in former centuries. Americans wish it well.—Tribune, N. Y.

FUN AT THE BEACHES.

Refusing to be discouraged by the comparatively poor business and the many failures in places of entertainment in the various boroughs of New York in the autumn and winter, the purveyors of amusements at the nearby seaside resorts have spent more money and have been more ambitious in their schemes for public diversions than they have ever before. Their outlays have been so extensive, they are giving employment to such hosts of the people and their plans for the recreation of the masses are so ingenious, varied and attractive that they fully deserve a handsome return for their investments.

The World's Fair in St. Louis is a long way off for the swarming millions on the coasts of New York and New Jersey. But there are "Pikes" and "Midways" and dazzling shows of almost every imaginable kind within the sound of the Atlantic surges and within easy reach of all parts of the Union, from Cape May northward. At no time in the past have the North Atlantic beaches been so thickly studded with attractive and variegated places for gayety and enjoyment as for the summer of 1904.—Tribune, N. Y.

SECRECY OF WARFARE.

In no previous great modern war, when the means of transmitting news were much inferior to the present time, was there such a lack of definite information about the operations of the contending forces as is found in the Russian-Japanese war.

It is true that the theatre of the war is far removed from the centres of the world's news, but the telegraph and telephone and wireless telegraphy reach the most remote regions of the world. They have annihilated distances. Today Korea is much nearer to London and New York than was Waterloo when the great Napoleon met his final overthrow, and Belgium is almost in sight of the British Isles.

The reason lies in the policy of Japan to screen all her military and naval movements, and while mystifying all the rest of the world to keep her foe guessing the nature of her operations. The success with which Japan has carried out her policy is a revelation of the thoroughness of her organization and methods.

The Russian military authorities have been less secretive. The world gets news, such as it is, about the operations of the war through Russian channels much sooner than the same is altered through the Japanese cenship, and we hear of Russian strategic movements when we are completely in the dark even of the whereabouts of large Japanese divisions.

There is obviously a great advantage to be derived from secrecy in military operations, and all commanders understand its value in campaigns, but have not always been enabled to command the avenues of intelligence. Japan appears to have accomplished it with a thoroughness that elicits admiration. The military students of the Russian-Japanese war are learning new lessons from it, and an important one is that of Japan's success in keeping her secrets until her blows are delivered.

LONG BRANCH RETIRES OLD HACKS

Angry at Being Forced Out of Business, Drivers Will Fight Councilmen's Decision

There is adverse criticism among the Hebrew stage drivers on the recent action of the city councilmen who sat to pass judgment on the applications for stage licenses.

The men, who claim they are entitled to run their stages, are discussing the advisability of seeking redress in the courts. They have raised a pitiful cry that they have been deprived of a living, as their only means of support are their horses and stages. A hard winter, feed bills, repairs and family support have occasioned running in debt, and if refused a license just at this time they say they have no alternative but to seek charity and let their indebtedness go by default. Broadway today looked deserted—from a "stage" point of view. The Jewish drivers, however, were on the street, talking of their inability to master the English language. They want a license, but are in dread of making application for fear of being turned down.

The traveling public, it appears, however, is willing to submit to any inconvenience for the sake of avoiding out many of the unsanitary and unsafe vehicles, and the action of the councilmen is only condemned by the ark owners and drivers.

DEATH BLOW TO TRADING STAMPS

Camden's Action Is Upheld Asbury Park Will Adopt Same Method

A solution of the trading stamp situation has made its appearance in Camden and it is quite probable that the Asbury Park council will watch the outcome of the Camden fight and be guided by its result.

After weeks of discussion over trading stamps, caused by a combination of the merchants similar to the local movement, the Camden councilmen held a caucus and decided to tax every merchant who gives stamps the yearly sum of $50. Trading stamp stores will be charged $100.

The ordinance, which will be presented, will also provide that each stamp must have its face value printed on its face and be redeemable for that amount in cash.

If the action of Camden's council holds in the court Asbury Park council will follow suit.

This is the action which the local merchants have asked the city fathers to take up. It will practically kill the trading stamp business.

BABY'S BODY FOUND

Ten-day-old Infant Thrown Into Unused Hole About Two Weeks Ago

Chief of Police Brown, of Summit, while searching Sunday night in Prospect street, that place, for the cause of a stench which had aroused the residents of that section, found the body of an infant girl apparently ten days old, almost submerged in an unused cistern at the rear of the residence of William Lyall.

The little body was badly decomposed. It was dressed in good material. County Physician Westcott was immediately summoned and after an examination expressed the belief that the body had been in the cistern about two weeks.

A determined search will be made by Chief Brown to locate the party guilty of the supposed murder of the infant.

—William A. Berry, cashier of the Belmar National Bank, who was appointed State Prison Inspector by the Governor last winter, has been very sick at his home in Asbury Park during the past week. He is not yet able to be out and the oath of office was administered to him at his home on Monday last.

—The Johnson merry-go-round in the old building at the corner of Lake and Summerfield avenues, has been taken down and it is said has been shipped to Coney Island, where it will be in operation the coming summer. In its stead it is said that a miniature reproduction of the Johnstown flood will be placed in the structure.

—Sunday school workers from various parts of the country will gather here for a week, beginning July 4, to take part in the eleven annual session of the School of Methods for Sunday school teachers, to be conducted in the Beach Auditorium by the New Jersey Sunday School Association. The Rev. E. Morris Ferguson, of Trenton, will have charge of the conference.

—A space in the centre of the lower floor of the Asbury avenue casino is to be enclosed with a picket fence. Admission will be charged for seats in this enclosure, which will be 48x72 feet. No charge will be made for seats in any section of the big structure until the arrival of the 18-piece band on June 18. Concerts in the pavilion in Railroad Square will also commence on that date.

—The members of Local Union No. 694, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers of America, are considerably exercised over the reported disappearance of Frank Mount, treasurer of the union. In consequence they are unable to locate the funds of the union, estimated by one of the members to be over $200, and also the books of his office.

—After June 18, Pryor will direct a brass band of eighteen pieces and, later in the season, the organization will be increased to forty musicians. These concerts will be free to the public, but those desiring reserved seats in the galleries will be obliged to pay a dime for the privilege—an innovation for Asbury Park, for under the Bradley regime everything on the beach front was free.

—A. C. Atkins, L. H. VanSant and Elvin C. Burtis, a committee from the Schubert Glee Club, appeared before the beach commissioners Tuesday night and asked to have the Asbury avenue casino the night of June 11 for the purpose of reproducing the club's recent comic opera success, "Trial by Jury." Their request was granted provided the club insured the commission 25 per cent. of the gross receipts, which was readily agreed to.

—Decoration day was spent by our visitors boating, driving and strolling along the shore front, and in enjoying the two concerts given in the casino by Pryor's orchestra. The amusement places in Ocean avenue and Kingsley street were well patronized, as was the baseball game at the Athletic grounds, in West Asbury Park. The members of C. K. Hall Post, G. A. R., were stirring bright and early, and spent the morning visiting nearby cemeteries, where the graves of fallen veterans were covered with flowers.

An Essential Feature

Health and the enjoyment of living demand proper bathing facilities. In rural districts the streams in summer afforded the necessary ablutions, but as we are more crowded together the exercises and health we used to enjoy cannot be regained without the modern use of the bath.

These new wall papers are without doubt the most beautiful at the price ever sold. They are not expensive, and yet they could not be classed as cheap paper. If a good article costs a third more and lasts twice as long, it is certainly more satisfactory than a cheap paper.

Van's Grocery Talk

The new store in Bradley Beach is open. It is just across the bridge at the foot of Pilgrim Pathway, handy for the folks living at the south end of the Grove. Have fresh meats on sale there now and will have all through the season. The grocery stock is the same as at the Grove store.

It is one of the prettiest and most convenient stores on the coast. Come in and see if that is right.

The Ocean Grove store is still at your service with best of stock for reasonable prices.

Said a gentleman, "Van, your prices seem high when compared with other grocers, but somehow I cannot get the quality of goods at the other stores that I get from you."

That tells the story just pat.

When you want the quality just come to me and you will find that I am not charging any more for first-class goods than anybody else. I have lower grades also, which I sell just as cheap as any other grocer.

So I can suit you either way, and bear in mind that my low-priced goods are not trash, but clean and wholesome.

CURTAIN CALLS.

The Code in Germany Differs From That in This Country.

"There is an unwritten code of etiquette among actors in regard to curtain calls that appears to differ widely in different countries," says a St. Louis man.

"A friend of mine was recently telling me about the custom that obtains in this respect in certain theaters and opera houses in German cities, and from what he says it is exactly the reverse of what it is here. Over there the star or leading player takes the first curtain call alone. If there is a second curtain call the star and associate player of the opposite sex appear together on the stage to respond to it, and should a third call from the audience be given the entire company appears in answer to it. The customs of our stage generally reverse this procedure. Among us the first curtain call is responded to by the entire company, the second by three or four or five of the principal players, the third by the leading man and woman alone, and then if there are more by the star or leading player.

"This is of course dealing with the subject in a general way and considering the circumstances as those which may ordinarily obtain. Where two or three players only are concerned in the scene that brings the applause, why, naturally the other members of the company would have no part in the responses."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

STRONG ON CULTURE.

Polish and English of a Notorious New York Character.

Tom Gould, the notorious New York politician, saloon keeper and all round crook, was a man of great physical strength. One of his favorite pastimes was to back under a piano and then rise, lifting it off its feet. He was once asked to a reception at the house of a member of the Four Hundred who was then in politics and wished for Gould's support. It is alleged that on being introduced to the ladies on this occasion Mr. Gould broke an embarrassing silence by observing:

"Ladies, I'll bet $100 I can lift the piano!" which he then proceeded to do.

Another incident related of Tom Gould indicates that he was strong on culture. On one occasion he had left the Sun-Sentinel earlier than usual, and the next day on meeting his nephew, whom he left in charge, he said:

"Well, did anything happen after I left last night?"

"Nothin' much," replied the nephew, "exceptin' there was a couple of fellows came in about 10 o'clock and kicked up a row, and we run 'em out."

"How many times have you got to tell you how to speak English?" demanded Gould. "You say 'run 'em out'." "Run 'em out," said Gould, "I run 'em out." "A Rainy Day Costume." The Japanese woman has solved the question of the rainy day. She tucks her robes up to her knees, puts on wooden clogs five or six inches high, and as her stockings are merely short socks the wet and the splashing only fall on bare ankles and legs. There is in consequence very little difficulty about the after cleaning, and the kimono is not marred by mud colored stains that will not come out. This custom may seem a trifle queer, but as no one in Japan notices it or even thinks about it and the little ladies do it quite naturally it is really not more queer than the custom which our ladies have of wearing décolleté dresses in the evening, which the Japanese in turn think most queer, if not actually uncivilized. It is the old question of east and west.—London Tatler.

Wasn't to Be Fooled by a Sign.

An old fellow from one of Portland's most remote suburbs, while passing a certain hardware store in that city the other day, noticed a sign which read, "Cast Iron Sinks." The old fellow chuckled softly to himself, then, gradually, as the absurdity of it dawned upon him more forcibly, he broke into a loud guffaw. A passerby, attracted by the apparently unamused mirth of the old man, made bold to ask what amused him so. "Why, got dur'n it," he sputtered between sputters, "ef some folks air not gettin' ter be reg'lar dur'n fools. The idee uv hangin' up er sign tellin' people that 'cast iron sinks.'"—Lewiston Journal.

Keep Your Temper.

The unwritten laws both of society and good manners are innumerable, but there is one that we cannot pass over in silence, and that is—never lose your temper. This applies especially when playing games. To lose one's temper in private is bad enough, but to do so in public is unpardonable. It is a crime which no hostess can forgive, for it makes all the other guests feel uncomfortable and disturbs that outward calm which is the essence of all good society.

Self Possession.

Without a tremor Mrs. Highmore preceded leisurely to open the black bordered letter. "If there were any bad news," she said, "it would have come by telegraph. It must be that something has happened to Mr. Highmore's rich uncle."—Chicago Tribune.

Out Loud.

"Where's papa, Johnny?" "He's upstairs asleep." "Were you upstairs, dear?" "No, ma'am." "Then how do you know he's asleep?" "I heard him doing it. He's sleeping out loud."

More Frantic Than It Seemed.

She—What is your business? He—I'm an inspector of ruins. She—How romantic! He—Well, hardly. I'm an insurance adjuster.—Cleveland Leader.

STENOGRAPHY.

Sign Writing Was in Use Among the Ancient Greeks and Romans.

The existence of stenography among the Greeks and the Romans is certain. The shorthand that they used was a form of writing in which each word was represented by a special sign. The letters of the alphabet, with modifications, connected so as to admit of great rapidity of execution, formed the elements of these characters. They date at least from the first century before Christ.

In the second century A. D. is found the term semelograph (stenographic character) in the Greek orator, Ptolemy Philostratus.

Origin of Alexandria (185-254 A. D.) notes his sermons down in shorthand, and Sozomen, the ecclesiastical historian of the fourth century, says that part of the sermons of St. John Chrysostom was preserved by the same process. In the first century B. C. a discourse of Cato Uticensis, according to Plutarch, was taken down by shorthand reporters.

The development of shorthand was due especially to Marcus Tullius Tiro. Born in Latium in 103 B. C., Tiro, who was a slave, was brought up with Cicero, who was some years his junior. Freed, he became Cicero's secretary, and in this capacity aided him greatly. In the famous trial of Catiline (63 B. C.) the stenographic rapidity of Tiro was at its height.—Chicago Tribune.

RIGMAROLE.

The Word Evidently Comes Down to Us From "Ragman Rolls."

The word rigmarole is applied nowadays, with the contemptuous emphasis of slang, to describe a long, unintelligible statement. At one time it must have been a word of some weight, for Byron in "Don Juan" speaks thus of it: "His speech was a fine sample, on the whole, of rhetoric, which the learned call 'rigmarole'."

It was certainly associated with what were known in law as "ragman rolls," lengthy deeds with seals attached, whose lack of lucidity probably gave rise to the word's modern meaning. Even papal bulls were so described during the middle ages, while the ragman roll by which Edward I. bound the Scottish nobles is of historical celebrity. This was a cumbersome and complicated deed, consisting of thirty-five pieces of parchment sewn together.

There was a very old game called ragman roll, in which the players pulled from a roll of parchment papers attached to seals hung outside, on which various characters were inscribed. "The primary derivation of 'ragman' is very doubtful. In 'Piers Plowman' it is applied to the evil one, and in Icelandic it means one who is cowardly or confused.—London Answers.

A Gap in the Language.

"I have another complaint against the English tongue," began the literary man. "There are a good many gaps in it; of course, but it seems to me that the most absurd is that a language which has a dozen current names for drink has none for the young woman whom a man is engaged to marry. Most of the terms that might be suggested are the basest of coin—'best girl,' 'intended,' and so forth. We have to fall back weakly on the French fiancée. And yet the relation is English and American enough, I think, for us to have a word of our own. Of course there is 'sweetheart,' but that seems to have dropped out of use altogether."—Philadelphia Ledger.

An Invitation.

An interesting collection of invitations to and from Benjamin Franklin during his visit to England is in the University of Pennsylvania library. Among the letters to Franklin are some from the peerage for great and for little dinners, but perhaps the most interesting is one from a gentleman who described himself as "in lodgings" and unable to entertain Mr. Franklin at his home. He therefore proposed a visit to the Star and Garter, and then went on to say that he would order a dinner at a crown a head, evidently expecting Franklin to bear his share. There is no record of an acceptance.—Philadelphia Record.

A Cow Superstition.

According to Indo-European folklore the clouds of the heavens were nothing but cows, who were invested with the duties of a psychopomp. At times these clouds descended to the earth and assumed their bovine garb, but their duty remained the same. Hence the superstition prevalent in many agricultural countries that a cow breaking into a garden foretells a death in the family. The psychopomp was merely looking for a soul to escort to the hereafter.

All in One Pound of Coal.

If a pound of coal is subjected to a dry distillation and the products and residuum treated chemically by the processes for obtaining the well known coal tar colors, the pound thus treated will yield enough magenta to color 500 yards of flannel, vermillion for 2,500 yards, aurine for 120 yards and alizarin sufficient for 155 yards of red cloth.

Hardly.

"A nice husband, you are!" said madam in a passion. "You care less about me than about those pet animals of yours. Look what you did when your poodle, Azor, died." Husband (quietly)—Well, I had him stuffed. Wife (exasperated)—You wouldn't have gone to that expense for me—not you indeed!

A Slanderer.

Cobwigger—Look, here! Did you break that rubber plant? Freddie—That ain't no rubber plant. I pulled it off the leaves came out and it didn't stretch a bit.—Judge.

IN CHANCERY OF NEW JERSEY
To Charles F. Ahlum and Iva R. Ahlum, his wife, Charles F. Coutant, administrator of Gardner Coutant, deceased, and Charles F. Coutant.
By virtue of an order of the Court of Chancery of New Jersey, made on the ninth day of May one thousand nine hundred and four, in a cause wherein Adeline C. Burt is complainant and you are defendants, you are ordered to appear, plead, demur, or answer to the complainant's bill on or before the eleventh day of July next, or that in default thereof, such decree will be made against you as the Chancellor shall think equitable and just.

The said bill of complaint is filed to foreclose a certain mortgage given by one Sarah Adella Barton and David B. Barton, her husband, to Lewis Burt, which said mortgage is dated the sixteenth day of October in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-four, covering certain property located at Ocean Grove, County of Monmouth and State of New Jersey; which said mortgage is recorded in the office of the Clerk of the County of Monmouth in book 180, page 306; &c., which said mortgage is now held and owned by Adeline C. Burt, the complainant herein, and you, the said Charles F. Ahlum, are made a defendant because the title to said mortgaged property remains in your name as appears on record in the clerk's office of the County of Monmouth and you claim to be the owner, or part owner thereof; and you the said Iva R. Ahlum, are made a defendant because you are the wife of the said Charles F. Ahlum and claim an inchoate right of dower in said mortgaged premises; and you the said Charles F. Ahlum, administrator of Gardner Coutant, deceased, are made a defendant because you are the administrator of the estate of Gardner Coutant, deceased, who in his lifetime claimed some title and interest in said mortgaged premises; and you the said Charles F. Coutant are made a defendant because you are the son and heir at law of the said Gardner Coutant, deceased, and claim some title or interest in said premises.

Dated May 10, 1904.

Several firms are negotiating with the Asbury Park and Ocean Grove Bank for the leasing of the Symphonion factory at Bradley Beach. No arrangements, however, can be made by the bank until the recent sale is confirmed by the court.

The United States Realty and Improvement Company, capital $30,000,000, was incorporated at Trenton Thursday to do a general construction business. Incorporators: J. E. Freeman, B. Nonell, J. A. Tallman, J. M. Stoddard, New York; and Charles Betts, Morristown, N. J.

Members of the Atlantic fire company, of West Park, are anxiously waiting the collection of money due them for fire purposes in order that they might contract for the construction of a new fire house which has been ordered built by the fire commissioners of that district.

W. I. Stults, of Cranbury, has a curiosity on his farm in the shape of a young pig with four perfectly formed ears, two on each side of its head, and also on one side, a smaller one back of the others, making five in all. Mr. Stults thinks the pig is healthy and will live.

Mary E. Johnson, of Long Branch, and Leonard H. Wright, of Avon, were quietly married at the Baptist parsonage of the latter place on May 25 by Rev. Thomas R. Taylor. The groom is a popular young carpenter. The bride is a bewitching product of New Orleans, which was her native city.

Mrs. Allen, of No. 273 Webster avenue, Jersey City, employed a servant who seemed to be a gem, and she congratulated herself on her find. The girl said she was Nellie Wilson. The servant could not be found Wednesday morning. A gold watch and chain and a lot of wearing apparel also vanished.

Mrs. Mary Grasso, of Fort Lee, wasn't content with eloping with her star boarder, "Tony" Marzocca, a week ago, but came back to get all her clothes. Her husband told Constable VanKuren, and now she is languishing in the county jail. Grasso says he would rather have had his rival in jail.

The State Board of Prison Inspectors at Trenton organized recently with James Mitchell, of Millville, president, and William A. Berry, of Asbury Park, secretary. Other members of the board are Jacob Shurtz, of Somerville, Bernard Feeny, of Paterson, and former State Senator Carter, of Bordentown.

Miss May Kurrus, daughter of Adolph Kurrus, was run down by a junkman while riding her wheel Tuesday at Third avenue and Broadway, Long Branch. Miss Kurrus was thrown beneath the horse, the wagon passing over her as she lay motionless. The young woman suffered from shock. Her knee, hip and arm are badly bruised.

Preparations are already under way at Trenton for the Inter-State Fair of 1904 and Secretary Mahlon R. Margerum expects to make it "Greater and Grander Than Ever" in the truest sense of the words, and in spite of the competition of the St. Louis

Why is it that Ayer's Hair Vigor does so many remarkable things? Because it is a hair food. It feeds the hair, puts new life into it. The hair cannot keep from growing. And gradually all the dark, rich color of early life comes back to gray hair.

"When I first used Ayer's Hair Vigor my hair was about all gray. But now it is a rich black, and as thick as I could wish."

Heavy ordnance practice at Fort Hancock, Sandy Hook, is believed to have caused concussion that shook public school No. 100, at Coney Island, and loosened part of the ceiling, which fell upon the head of twelve-year-old Alfred Whalen, of Coney Island. The boy, suffering from a depressed fracture of the skull, is said to be dying in the Emergency hospital.

Fire broke out in the kitchen of Pannaci's hotel, on Ocean avenue, Long Branch, Monday night. When discovered by the cooks the floor beams beneath the large range were ablaze. On the way to the scene the Atlantic's steamer became mired in a newly fitted trench on Bath avenue, and was with difficulty extricated. The blaze was extinguished without much trouble. The hotel was crowded with Memorial Day guests.

are told of herein. There will be as many more on sale, as at the time of this circular going to press our buyers are still at the sale.

BE CAREFUL OF IMPOSTERS

Under the guise of selling bargains for this sale there are hundreds of stores in every section of the country seeking to get clear of slow selling goods, and a touch of humor has been added to the local situation by the appearance of a number of advertisements announcing "Sales of Sweetser, Pembroke & Co. Stock" before a dollar's worth of it had left the Sweetser, Pembroke building. We believe the statistics show we were the only firm in this territory represented at the sale. We will not insist on this point as it matters little, for it is certain that the magnitude of our purchases overshadows those of all other New Jersey dealers combined.
