

Waitrose Own Label Products

Suitable for those Avoiding Soya

Advice on soya allergy

Soya allergy is more common in children, and most grow out of it by the age of two, however, some adults have soya allergies.

Soya can be consumed in the diet as whole beans, soya flour, soya sauce and soya oil. Soya is widely used as an ingredient in small quantities in many processed foods. Removing all products containing soya from the diet would make the diet very limited. However, the level of avoidance required will depend on each individual case. Some individuals may need to avoid all these forms of soya, whereas others may be able to tolerate small amounts e.g. soya sauce and soya lecithin.

The following information is a list of Waitrose products selected according to the criteria described below:

This list of Waitrose own label products excludes:

- Soya beans
- Soya flour
- Soya derived flavourings
- Soya lecithin (E322)
- Soya protein
- Unrefined soya oil
- Soya milk
- Soya bean curd (tofu)
- Soya derived additives, e.g. E471, E472 (a - e)
- Soya sauce
- Any other soya derivatives

Lists are updated on a regular basis as recipes may change occasionally. Customers are advised to always check the ingredients lists on pre-packed products and ask for information on products served over the counters.

Waitrose Limited (The Company) has produced this list for the general information of the public. It contains information gathered from various sources and although the Company believes it to be accurate at the time of publication, the Company accepts no responsibility for, and makes no representation nor gives any warranty or undertaking express or implied as to the accuracy or completeness of the list.
