Dear Florida Tech Alumni and Friends,

The new academic year is in full swing. I'd like to highlight a few areas that I'm particularly proud of as we begin 2015-16.

First, we'll complete construction soon on the Harris Student Design Center. Thanks to a $1 million gift from Harris Corporation, the newest building on campus will offer College of Engineering and College of Science seniors completing capstone design projects an unparalleled work environment.

The 11,500-square-foot structure, located on the south side of campus, will offer students high bays, welding stations and great collaborative space as they complete their design projects.

Meanwhile, the accolades for our campus continue to come in. We were just named one of the nation's 50 most entrepreneurial research universities, according to Forbes magazine. Forbes calculated this based on the number of alumni and students who've identified themselves as founders and business owners. We're one of just two Florida universities in the 2015 rankings, and we rank ahead of the other Florida school—the University of Miami.

Finally, as our Panthers prepare for their third football season, we've announced plans to rename Palm Bay Magnet High School's stadium as Florida Tech Panther Stadium. The agreement with Brevard Public Schools means new stadium signage including a "P" on the turf at midfield ... "P" for Panthers and the high school Pirates. I hope to see you at a game this season.

Have a wonderful fall!

Sincerely yours,

A.J. Catanese, Ph.D., FAICP

SUMMERS AT SEA

PAUL T. STONE '86 writes: "I believe the photo on the back of this month's Florida Tech Today is of student BOB GORMAN and instructor RUTH BUZZIE taken in the Indian River Lagoon out in front of the Jensen Beach campus."

JIM YOUNT '84, '87 Ed.S., '88 Ph.D., writes: "I do not recognize the guys in the picture, but I think the boat is the one that the environmental science department had. Attached is a picture of me using it (RUSTY VAN EPPS took the picture) in the St. Johns River in 1983—you can see the fiberglass patterning and the height is about right. Fond memories of sampling in bugs, heat and darkness!"

ENCHANTING AQUARIUMS

"As an alumnus and graduate (B.S. Biological Sciences, Marine Biology 1976), I enjoy reading the Florida Tech magazine when it arrives.

I was intrigued by the article in the Spring 2015 edition, "Enchanting Aquariums" by Associate Professor KEVIN JOHNSON discussing and showing aquariums on campus and being cared for by KATE BECKETT.

It was FIT and my education there that inspired me to start the Aquarium Adventure Store concept and franchise (www.aquariumadventurecolumbus.com). The article was spot on and I was glad to see the info presented."

Catanese Announces Retirement Plans; McCay Named Successor

President and CEO Anthony J. Catanese announced on June 17 that he will retire from the university's top leadership post next year, after 14 years of service. Catanese will officially conclude his tenure as president June 30, 2016.

"Serving as the president of this wonderful university has been one of the proudest accomplishments of my career," Catanese said. "Florida Tech's rise to prominence is truly exciting, and certainly ongoing. This is a very special place, made so by the people—the faculty, staff, students and alumni—who care deeply about the university and its mission."

PHILLIP W. FARMER, board of trustees chairman, announced that executive vice president and COO T. DWAYNE MCCAY has been appointed to succeed Catanese as president and CEO.

"Dr. Catanese has been the right leader at the right time in the evolution of Florida Tech," Farmer said. "His legacy will be one of unparalleled growth and success. We have every expectation that Dr. McCay will extend that success, providing important continuity while exploring new areas of achievement."

Over the next year, Catanese and McCay will work closely with the board of trustees to coordinate a transition process. Catanese plans to continue as a member of the Florida Tech faculty following his retirement, serving as a university research professor.

"Dr. Catanese makes no small plans," McCay said. "His vision has helped us to achieve international recognition and to achieve it relatively quickly. I look forward to continuing the important work that he started."

Vice President and COO T. Dwayne McCay

Enriching Research

SPACE-TIME: FOAMY? OR, NOT SO MUCH?

The research of associate professor ERIC PERLMAN gleaned new insights about the texture of space-time, which quantum theory predicted as being "foamy" instead of a smooth, featureless highway on which light travels. Using the brightest beacons in the universe, quasars, as a way to indirectly measure fluctuations of light over vast distances, Perlman and fellow researchers were able to rule out two quantum foam models, pointing to a smoother universe than anticipated.

UNDERSTANDING LIGHTNING SPRITES

A new study led by professor NINGYU LIU has improved our understanding of sprites, a curious luminous phenomenon that happens 25 to 50 miles above thunderstorms. It's long been thought that atmospheric gravity waves play an important role in the initiation of sprites, but until now, no convincing arguments supported that idea. The team's model for predicting sprite formation matched data gathered on a recent aircraft observation mission that captured sprite activity with high-speed cameras. The results of their study were published in Nature Communications in June.

MODERATING PREDICTIONS FOR FLORIDA SEA LEVEL RISE

Research published in Florida Scientist by professor GEORGE MAUL concluded that a more tempered approach to predicting sea level rise in Florida is needed for future coastal planning. Maul says the public's understanding of sea level rise (SLR) in Florida is inconsistent due to wildly varying models that predict SLR ranging from a few inches to over six feet during the next century. Maul's research shows Florida sea level rise to be consistent and perhaps less than global estimates based on historical observations.

BALLOON'S-EYE VIEW

Associate professor JON SHENKER tracked schools of tarpon in the Gulf of Mexico by using a camera 150 feet above the water attached to an 8-foot balloon on the research vessel Harvey Bellows. Seeking to locate the fish's spawning sites, the balloon was a clever solution for greater air time since UAVs have limited battery power. This data along with long-term sampling efforts is intended to steer offshore drilling away from crucial tarpon habitat.

EXPERT ADVICE:

Angling for Conservation

With all of the time they spend on the water, recreational fishers and guides have a lot of information they can share with scientists to help improve fish and habitat conservation. Florida Tech Today asked associate research professor AARON ADAMS, director of operations for the Bonefish & Tarpon Trust, for tips on angling for conservation.

THE BIGGEST THREATS TO RECREATIONAL FISHERIES ARE HABITAT LOSS AND DEGRADATION, AND POOR WATER QUALITY.

Fish scientists are working on solutions to these problems, but need recreational fishers and guides to advocate for better habitat conservation and restoration. Get involved. Join a local conservation group. Contact your fisheries commission and politicians. It's not sexy, but it's essential for the future of the fisheries.

HABITAT PROTECTION AND RESTORATION ARE ESSENTIAL COMPONENTS OF FISHERIES MANAGEMENT.

Frequently, habitat restoration suffers too few personnel. Volunteer to help with local restoration projects—you'll be dirty for a day but the rewards to the fishery will last a lifetime.

OBSERVATIONS BY RECREATIONAL FISHERS AND GUIDES CAN HELP SCIENTISTS IN THEIR STUDIES.

But scientists also have a lot of information that can help people become better fishers and become better stewards of the ecosystems that support the fisheries. Get to know your local fish biologists; they have a lot of useful information.

ONE OF THE CHALLENGES IN MANAGING RECREATIONAL FISHERIES IS GETTING ENOUGH DATA.

Anglers can help by keeping logbooks so that scientists can track trends in the fishery. This data can be used to head off trouble before it occurs or to track improvements that result from things like habitat restoration. There are many smartphone app logbooks available now. Check with your local fisheries management agency or fisheries biologist to see which one they use.

WOOD NAMED CFO

CATHY WOOD joined the university's senior leadership team as senior vice president for financial affairs and chief financial officer on Aug. 15. She comes to Florida Tech from The Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., where she was most recently vice president for finance and treasurer. She has more than 20 years of experience in financial and accounting management, financial planning, budgeting and reporting, treasury, investments and oversights of multiple audits. Wood received a bachelor's degree in accounting and business administration from Geneva College in Pennsylvania and a master's degree in finance from the University of Maryland. She holds a professional certificate from the Executive Development Institute at Georgetown University.

What is Day of Giving?

Thanksgiving is a day of thanks, followed by Black Friday and Cyber Monday. Now a national movement, Giving Tuesday, celebrates the spirit of giving back. Over the last three years, Giving Tuesday has grown in popularity as individuals, friends and families come together to support causes that are important to them.

What is Florida Tech's Day of Giving?

Florida Tech will be making history in its first ever Giving Tuesday on Dec. 1, 2015! Florida Tech's Day of Giving will be an interactive and exciting online extravaganza energizing alumni to show their support of their alma mater!

It's a Universitywide Throwdown!

You will be able to help your favorite area of the university win prize money as they compete in universitywide challenges. The Botanical Garden, the Museums, the Library, weVENTURE, Continuing Education and WFIT are participating too!

Get Involved Now!

Countdown to the throwdown starts now—go to DayOfGiving.fit.edu to learn more about how you can get involved NOW to make Florida Tech's first Day of Giving a rousing success! There are thousands of charities participating in Day of Giving, but only one is YOUR alma mater.

Get Involved On Dec. 1!

The goal on Dec. 1 is to secure as many gifts of any size from as many alumni as possible during this 24-hour time period. A live leaderboard will thrill with every real-time gift made from anywhere around the world!

An Estuary Affair

The Indian River Lagoon Research Institute's reception and dinner previewed the work being done by FIT faculty to assess the health of and highlight the challenges facing the Indian River Lagoon.

Alumni, faculty, staff and friends gathered on May 18 to hear updates on the science behind the Indian River Lagoon's health from the faculty of the Indian River Lagoon Research Institute (IRLRI) at Florida Tech. The IRLRI is a collation of Florida Tech engineering and science faculty teamed up with local organizations to bring about a sustained improvement in the health of the Indian River Lagoon. Nearly 100 conservationists, environmentalists and friends of the lagoon gathered for a reception and dinner that included an introduction to the IRLRI and a status report on the lagoon, including muck dredging, nutrient run-off, fish habitats, and micro-organism and barnacle growth.

DMES Professor Geoff Swain, Elaine Vicari, Dr. Ralph Vicari and Shannon Pitner

The first Indian River Lagoon technical symposium organized by the institute, Sound Science Promoting Sustainable Engineering, will take place Sept. 25-26 on the Florida Tech campus. For more information, visit research.fit.edu/irlri.

OCEAN SCIENCE CONSORTIUM

Florida Tech has joined the Cooperative Institute for Marine and Atmospheric Studies (CIMAS), a consortium funded by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) that brings together the research and educational resources of universities in Florida and the Caribbean to increase scientific understanding of Earth's oceans and atmosphere.

PI KAPPA ALPHA RECOGNIZED FOR CHAPTER EXCELLENCE

Florida Tech's Zeta Sigma chapter of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity has once again earned the Raymond L. Orians Chapter Excellence Award from the Pi Kappa Alpha International Fraternity. The award recognizes outstanding achievement and overall chapter excellence for 2014-15, distinguishing Zeta Sigma among the best of the fraternity's 211 chapters nationwide.

WBC REBRANDED, EXPANDS REACH, MISSION

The Florida Tech Women's Business Center was rebranded weVENTURE, reflecting a growing regional network of business centers across Central Florida, including locations in Melbourne, Rockledge and Orlando. weVENTURE seeks to raise the profile and influence of women entrepreneurs through its network of business centers and also offers programming and resources geared toward increasing financial fluency, achieving access to capital, providing targeted and strategic business mentoring services and inspiring young entrepreneurs.

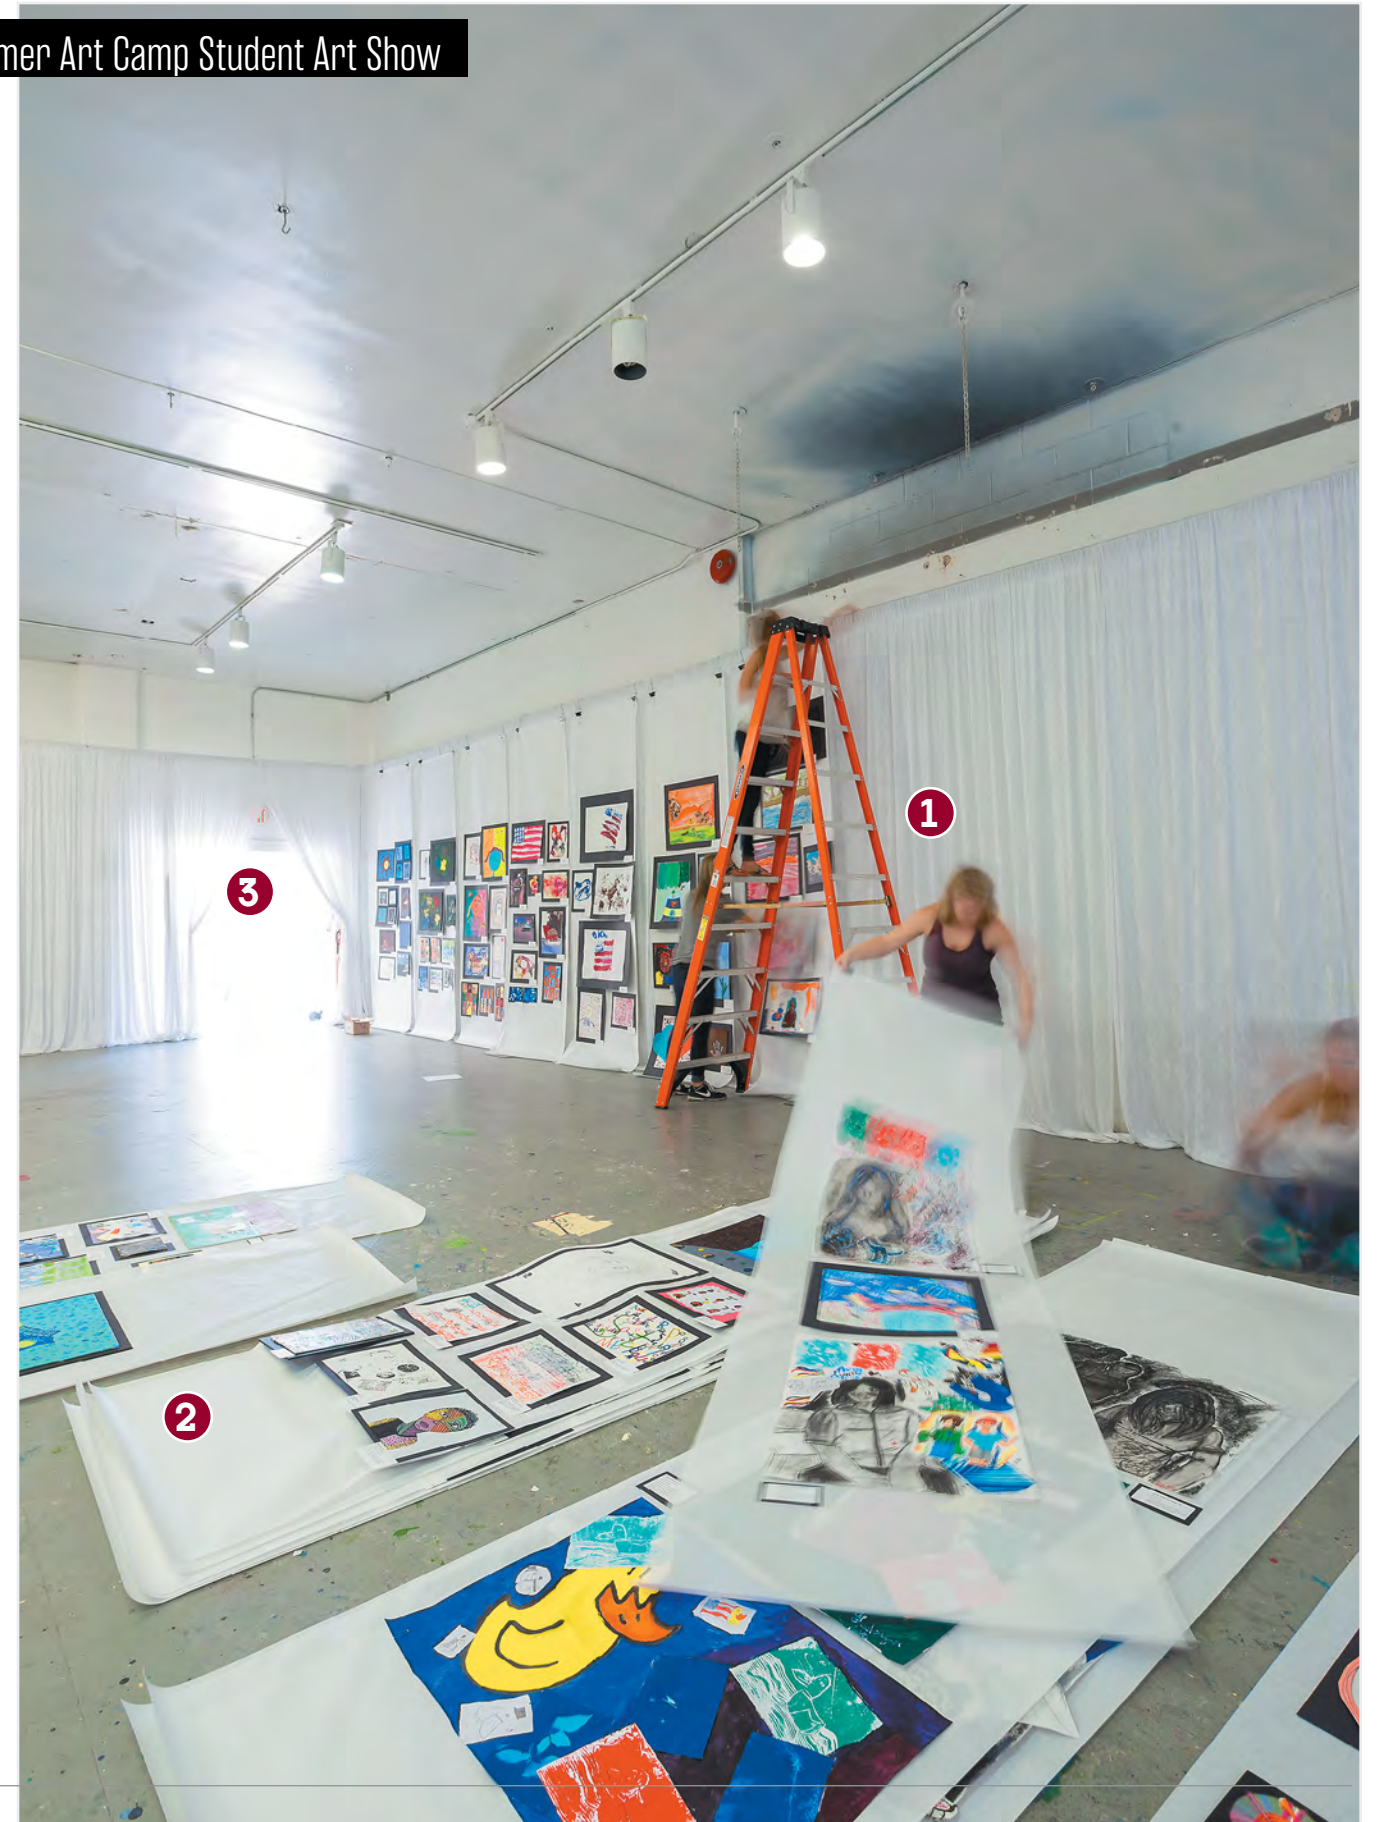

Behind the Scenes Summer Art Camp Student Art Show

This summer, the Renee Foosaner Education Center hosted 592 campers over the course of eight weeks of Pop Art Summer Camp. Students learned about printmaking, acrylic painting, assemblage, drawing and mixed media while studying the work of pop art icons like Andy Warhol, Robert Rauschenberg, Jasper Johns, Robert Indiana, Jim Dine, Roy Lichtenstein, James Rosenquist and Larry Rivers. The culmination of their experience was the Student Art Exhibition on Aug. 6-7.

- 1 Camp staff included two Foosaner staff members, eight art instructors and more than 20 volunteers. Set up for the exhibition totaled 115 man-hours.
- 2 Artwork displayed on 40, 12-foot panels was on view for 842 exhibition attendees, including student artists, their families and the general public.
- 3 Campers took 16 visits across the street to the Foosaner Art Museum for docent-led gallery tours.
- 4 In total, campers used 23 gallons of scholastic grade American paint, three reams of 60-lb. white drawing paper and 650 gallons of water. (Under OSHA standards, the museum collects its rinse water.)

Greek Life Grows

Sigma Tau Gamma became the eighth member of Florida Tech's Greek Life community this year. Commonly known as Sig Tau, the chapter made its debut as the fraternity's Epsilon Omega chapter.

Art Flags Fly

Members of the Florida chapter (Pod 4-5) of the Studio Art Quilt Associates (SAQA) brought color and creativity to the north covered bridge this summer with their installation of 23 art flags. The flags are loosely based on Tibetan prayer flags, which are sets of five flags representing happiness, peace, compassion, strength and wisdom. The flags and covered bridge lead visitors to the Funk Center for Textile Arts, which hosted the SAQA-related Southern Accents exhibition this summer.

FIT Joins Kern Entrepreneurial Engineering Network

A grant from The Kern Family Foundation will profoundly advance engineering education at FIT, making it more timely and relevant to today's graduates as they embark on their careers.

The Robert D. and Patricia E. Kern Family Foundation has made a grant of $276,000 to accelerate the transformation of FIT's undergraduate engineering students through a culture and curricula that instills the entrepreneurial mindset. This grant elevates entrepreneurial engineering to a core value within the university and ensures the entrepreneurial mindset is an integral part of the engineering program. "Florida Tech has committed significant resources to cultivate an entrepreneurial focus in the Colleges of Engineering and Business," said Executive Vice President and COO T. DWAYNE MCCAY, "and the grant from The Kern Family Foundation puts FIT in the forefront of engineering education as we intentionally and systematically develop an entrepreneurial ecosystem across the campus."

The Kern Family Foundation formed KEEN (the Kern Entrepreneurial Engineering Network) in 2005 to assist private colleges and universities with both strong engineering and business programs to graduate engineers with an entrepreneurial mindset so they can create personal, economic and societal value through a lifetime of meaningful work. The KEEN program builds a vibrant entrepreneurial culture adopted across the curriculum and is enhanced by experiential extra- and co-curricular student opportunities and connections across campus, as well as with alumni and industry.

College of Engineering Dean MARTIN GLICKSMAN noted that FIT is now one of 21 private colleges and universities in the KEEN network. Other members include Baylor, Bucknell, Saint Louis, Lehigh and Villanova universities, Lafayette College, Milwaukee School of Engineering, Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology and the universities of New Haven, Dayton and Detroit Mercy, among others. "Having the shared resources of the KEEN network to fundamentally shift engineering education from a product focus to an end-user focus," added Glicksman, "is an incredible opportunity to add to the already evident success of our graduates."

Principal investigators BESHOY MORKOS and CHIRADEEP SEN, along with Glicksman, and in partnership with the Bisk College of Business, will lead a team of 18 faculty and 90 students to guide the process across all nine of the departments of the College of Engineering.

"The Kerns' personal history is so evident in the KEEN program philosophy," noted SUSAN ST. ONGE, senior vice president for development. "Robert Kern was a young engineer who developed a successful start-up which formed the business we know today as Generac. When the Kerns sold the business, it was important to them to fund a catalyst for change, and in very short order, FIT students will be an essential part of that change."

Established in 1998, The Kern Family Foundation is a prominent, strategic foundation based in Wisconsin that invests in the rising generation of leaders.

FIT AMONG MOST ENTREPRENEURIAL

For the second consecutive year, Florida Tech is one of the nation's 50 most entrepreneurial research universities, according to Forbes magazine. It is one of just two Florida universities in the 2015 rankings, and at No. 33 is ranked ahead of Notre Dame, Boston College and University of Michigan, among others.

GRANT FUNDS LAGOON RESEARCH

The Educational Foundation of America has made a grant to the Indian River Lagoon Research Institute of Florida Tech to compile a collective picture of the Indian River Lagoon informed by data from multiple researchers, in order to prioritize remediation projects and direct efforts and expenditures for remediation.

Summertime Surge

Florida Tech hosted over 100 summer camp programs—a campus record.

ANNOUNCING PANTHER STADIUM

No more Panthers on Pirate turf! Beginning this fall, the home field for Panther football and lacrosse will be the newly renamed Florida Tech Panther Stadium, formerly known as Palm Bay Magnet High School's Pirate Stadium. The facility name change is the result of a naming rights agreement between Florida Tech and the School Board of Brevard County. As part of the agreement, stadium signage will be mounted behind the west stands that face Babcock Street, on the front of the press box located at the top of the west stands and the turf at midfield will bear a 'P' for the Panthers and Pirates of Palm Bay Magnet High School. The Panthers' football program has played at Palm Bay Magnet High School since its inaugural 2013 season. This spring, the men's lacrosse team and the first-year women's lacrosse team played all their home games at the 4,980-seat facility.

SUMMER IN OXFORD

"Don't be afraid of being spontaneous! If you want to go somewhere, inform yourself on the area and just do it."

—Vaaseen Richards, a psychology senior from Rochester, N.Y.

Vaaseen documented the university's Oxford Study Abroad program on Instagram this summer. In addition to taking classes at Jesus College, she and the Florida Tech group visited London, Stonehenge, the Ancient Roman Bath, Lacock Alley, Blenheim Palace, Amsterdam, Ireland and Paris.

ASD: Is it ever too early to act?

Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) is one of the most prevalent neurodevelopmental disorders, with an estimate of one in 68 children, occurring across all racial, ethnic and socioeconomic groups. ASD is more prevalent in children than cancer, diabetes, spina bifida and Down syndrome. A growing body of research suggests that autism can be accurately diagnosed by age 2 and is stable over time. There is hope, but caregivers and professionals must act early. Extensive evidence has shown early intensive behavioral intervention significantly improves a child's developmental outcomes—with applied behavior analysis or ABA being the 'standard approach' for decreasing autism symptoms and teaching new skills.

According to a recently published prospective study, parents' concerns as early as 6 months of age can predict autism spectrum disorder in high-risk siblings. Although symptoms exist and developmental milestones are missed, caregivers who observe signs of an emerging disability are often counseled, by pediatricians and other professionals, to wait (some insurances will not cover diagnosis until 18 months). However, research in the past decade shows promise for identifying symptoms as early as 6 to 12 months. These early symptoms include diminished or no response to his/her name; reduced "spontaneous" social orienting (i.e., shifting eye gaze back and forth during interaction); reduced social "liveliness" during parent-child interaction; and impaired joint attention (e.g., ability to respond to or initiate interest with caregiver toward the same object or event through nonverbal means).

Despite these advances in detection, families often do not pursue interventions until many months or years after symptoms are first observed. However, we know that early treatment, guided by a qualified clinician, starting at a significantly younger age, can mitigate the severity of the symptoms and, in some cases, the child is virtually indistinguishable from his or her peers by the age of 3 or 4 years. Recently, researchers at the New England Center for Children have found that toddlers between 18 and 24 months make the most dramatic gains. These findings offer much-needed hope to families and indicate there is the possibility of the same dramatic results in the treatment of infants. For more information regarding warning signs, diagnosis and treatment, visit www.thescottcenter.org or www.autismadvisor.org.

Ivy Chong is the director of autism services and training at The Scott Center for Autism Treatment and associate professor in the College of Psychology and Liberal Arts. She holds a doctorate in behavior analysis from Western Michigan University and is a board certified behavior analyst and licensed psychologist.

Allen Paves Unprecedented Path to Professional Ranks

Former Florida Tech catcher leaves imprint on Panther program

It's often said that college is the time you learn the most about yourself as an individual, but upon his arrival as an under-the-radar recruit from Chaminade High School in St. Louis, Missouri, in 2012, former Florida Tech catcher Austin Allen never imagined his name would go down as one of the greatest in program history.

Before any sort of stardom, Allen enrolled as a freshman after transitioning from Kirkwood, Missouri, with plenty of apprehension in hope of just making an early impression on both his coaches and teammates.

"I was nervous," Allen recalled. "I just wanted to be able to help the team in any way possible. Whatever Merc (MATT MERCURIO) and Coach B (GREG BERKEMEIER) wanted me to do, I was going to do it. I knew that it was going to be a challenge from the get-go, but going back to the whole recruiting process, I knew I made the right choice coming to Florida Tech. Looking back, I wouldn't change that for anything. It made me the baseball player and the person I am off the field today."

The left-handed hitting catcher ended up earning his way into the lineup, making 39 starts as a freshman, but admittedly had plenty to improve on—and improve he did.

Fast-forward three years and Allen was popping up on nearly every major league team's radar. Not shy of the attention he received from scouts, Allen belted 11 home runs this past season, tying his previous totals from his freshman and sophomore campaigns combined. In addition, the 6-foot-4 standout secured the Sunshine State Conference batting title with a .421 average and broke the school record for doubles with 25.

A culmination of hard work and extraordinary dedication to the game, Allen's life changed on June 9 when the San Diego Padres selected him in the fourth round, No. 117 overall, in the MLB Draft. The pick not only opened the door to the professional ranks, but made him the highest player drafted in Panther history. Previously, JONATHAN BAKSH was the program's highest draft choice having been selected in the seventh round by the Toronto Blue Jays in the 2006 draft. World Series Champion TIM WAKEFIELD was an eighth round pick in the 1988 draft by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I get chills over it, it's crazy,"

Allen said of being mentioned in the same sentence with both Baksh and Wakefield. "Coming in, you know who those guys are right away just from stories. Those guys are legends around here. I always thought 'Man, I want to be one of those guys that Coach B and Merc and other guys like Nick Brennan '08 always talked about.' Not just as a good baseball player, either, but also a good person that always did the right thing for the team and gave it his all every single day."

Now playing for the Tri-City Dust Devils, the Class A Short-Season Affiliate of the Padres, Allen is keen to notice that the level of competition has ramped up across the board, but still reverts back to what he learned in his playing days in Crimson and Gray for guidance.

"To have confidence in everything I'm doing," Allen mentioned about what he's taken with him out west. "It was an adjustment going from high school to Florida Tech, both in the classroom and on the baseball field, and it's been an adjustment going from Florida Tech to the San Diego Padres organization. Confidence is one thing I hope to instill in other people and also maintain myself. It's important to believe in yourself. Even when someone says you can't do it, prove them wrong."

Allen insists he intends on returning to Melbourne and ultimately finishing his degree in business administration, but while he's out chasing his dream, don't expect Panther fans to forget about him anytime soon.

"I want to be remembered as a competitor," he said. "I went out there every single day trying to beat somebody, trying to come out on top. It was all about getting that win for the team and Florida Tech."

Just a kid from a suburb outside St. Louis, Allen has built a bond that can never be broken and now leaves behind a legacy that'll forever make Florida Tech his second home.

How I Spent My Summer

Florida Tech Student-Athletes Score Big in Summer Experiences

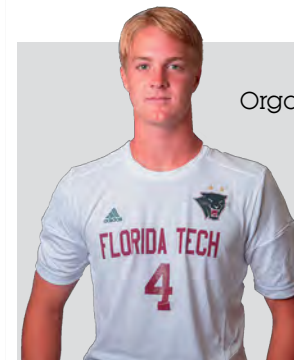

Willa Huddleston
Women's Swimming, Applied Mathematics
Shelby Pearce
Women's Swimming, Mechanical Engineering

Willa: "I studied contemporary China and Chinese language and culture in China. One of my favorite memories was doing Tai Chi on the Great Wall led by Dr. Patterson. Seeing Beijing, Chengdu and Shanghai widened my perspective on China and the world."

Shelby: "I studied abroad this summer in China and took two courses: Mandarin and Contemporary Chinese History. We went to the mountains and saw the Great Wall and the Dujiangyan Irrigation Project."

Alex Coultrup
Women's Rowing, Communication
"I raced for Team USA at the Under 23 World Rowing Championships in Plovdiv, Bulgaria. My entire summer allowed me to grow a good deal as a person and as an athlete. I'm really grateful to the rowing community and all the opportunities I had."

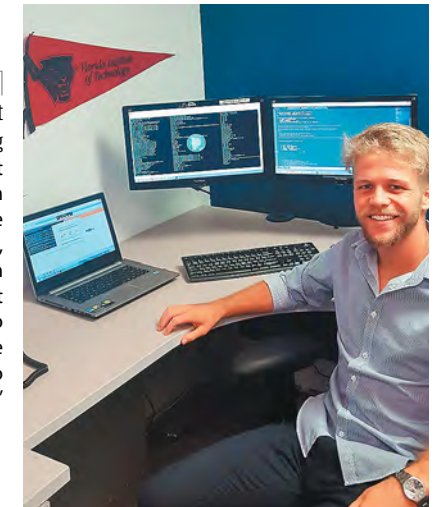

"This summer I worked in Dr. Alan Brown's Physical Organic Chemistry lab. The project I helped on involved a reusable sensor for the carcinogenic compound hydrazine used by NASA. I synthesized the organic component of the sensor in both small quantities and large quantities in order to test our hypothesis that the sensor would be sensitive enough for work in NASA."

Will Henderson, Men's Soccer, Biochemistry

Ashley Vezina
Women's Soccer, Chemical Engineering
"I went to Cusco, Peru, to study hydrology and renewable energy at the Universidad San Ignacio de Loyola. We visited Incan agricultural sites and a hydroelectric and nuclear power plant. We also did a lot of fun activities like white water rafting, hiking, zip lining and visiting Machu Picchu."

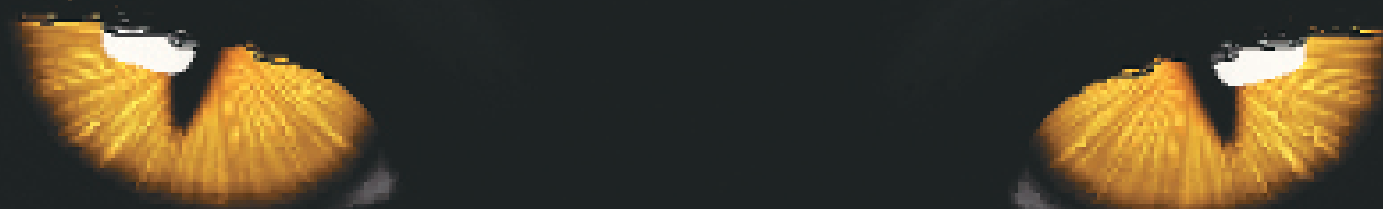

Forrest Fegert
Men's Soccer, Software Engineering
"This summer I held an internship at Privece, a cybersecurity company from Melbourne Beach. I worked with the technical team primarily on planning, developing and implementing an application programming interface test environment for the company. I was also owner and maintainer of a large software project which tied directly into their platform."

Kayk Wilson
Women's Basketball, Communication
"This summer I interned at WFIT. I worked on writing, reading PSAs and helped where needed. I enjoyed the people and the hands-on style of learning. The opportunity showed me that if you are doing what you love, there will never be a day that you're going to work."

We are the PANTHERS

IT TAKES A SPECIAL PERSON TO BE A FLORIDA TECH PANTHER

Having a sense of pride—in your institution and in everything you do both in the classroom and on the playing field—is just one characteristic.

It takes heart. Determination. Drive. Commitment. It takes investing in the present, as well as the future. A challenge? That's an opportunity to succeed, not an obstacle that can't be overcome.

That's the sense we get from talking to Florida Tech athletics director BILL JURGENS and several student-athletes about what being a Panther is truly all about.

"We have to know that it's not going to be a super-easy road, and that we have to be able to look at everything put in front of us," junior softball pitcher RACHEL PENCE said. "It's a very academically challenging institution. It takes a lot of determination and knowing what you want and how you're going to get there; knowing you have professors and staff who are totally willing to help you with whatever you need."

Pence and her softball teammates created quite a buzz around campus last season, not only reaching the NCAA Tournament for the first time in school history, but also going to the NCAA Super Regional.

But that wasn't the only success the Panthers had on and off the field. This past spring, Florida Tech set a record when 134 student-athletes were named to the SSC Commissioner's Honor Roll—including 36 who had a perfect 4.0 GPA.

The men's varsity eight won the Dad Vail championship. Men's swimming had its first-ever All-American (NIR BARNEA), while the women saw DAR RAZ become the first Sunshine State Conference Gold Medalist in school history.

RACHEL TOBIN and ALEXIS SANTIAGO were both named All-Americans in women's track and field. JUSTIN MCMASTER qualified as an individual for the NCAA Cross Country Championships. Men's lacrosse was nationally ranked for the first time, while the women qualified for the SSC Tournament in their first year.

The baseball team started a program best 17-0 and was the South-Region runner up. AUSTIN ALLEN became the highest draft pick in school history when he was picked in the fourth round by San Diego (No. 117 overall). SCOTTY WARD became the school's first SSC Pitcher of the Year.

Women's golf reached a national No. 1 ranking and sent its third-ever individual (GURO RAMBJOER) to the national championship tournament, while the men sent their first (GAELLEN TREW).

Men's soccer lost in the SSC title game on penalty kicks to the eventual national champion. The football team saw XAVIER MILTON named Co-Offensive Player of the Year in Gulf South Conference and Milton, GABE HUGHES and J.J. SANDERS were all named to All-American teams. In women's basketball, coach JOHN REYNOLDS won his 500th game, and KAYK WILSON was an honorable mention All-American.

All of that success created a buzz around campus that showed something else that's great about being a Panther—a sense of family.

"When we got our name called for regionals, there was definitely a buzz and excitement and anticipation among all the athletes," Pence said. "I don't even remember how many texts and hollers I got from across campus saying, 'Good for you guys!'"

That success led to a good feeling, all right. But rather than resting on those laurels, this year's teams are already gearing up to make this upcoming school year even better.

Bill Jurgens, Rowing Coach, February 1981

Bill Jurgens

Director of Athletics

On what it takes to be a Panther:

"All I've ever wanted is for the student-athletes to have pride that they're a Panther. At Florida Tech, looking at it from a student angle, there's a strong commitment to academics and athletics. Athletics at Florida Tech are geared to assist the students in both areas.

Our first line for support for the student-athletes is coaches. I have a chart I gives out 12 leadership principles for coaches. Each category has a breakout box with other ideas to go with the topic. They're not numbered on my chart, but I'm doing so here:

1. Planning
2. Continuous daily improvement
3. One-on-one communication
4. Competition
5. Teamwork
6. Recruiting/hiring
7. Teaching life-long skills
8. Structured environment
9. Character/integrity
10. Caring/concerns
11. Role Model
12. Competency

We'll continue to strive so that their successes mean a lot to them, their accomplishments mean a lot to them and they're proud to have been a part of Florida Tech athletics, being a Panther."

WHAT IT MEANS TO BE A PANTHER — AS DEFINED BY TWO INDISPUTABLE GREATS

Tom Bohrer '86

Head Coach, Boston University Men's Rowing

XXIV Olympic Games Silver Medalist, Men's Four Without Coxswain 1988

World Championships: Silver Medalist Men's Four 1991, Fifth Place Men's Eight 1990, Silver Medalist Men's Four 1989

U.S. Rowing Male Athlete of the Year 1989

FIT "Outstanding Oarsman" 1985

FIT Hall of Fame 1992

"To be a panther I think of integrity. Whether it was a coach, an equipment manager, dining hall staff, another athlete from a different sport, all wanted what was best for the university. They put the university above themselves and that led to an environment of people working as a team vs. working for their own interest. I felt this as a student and now as an alumnus, I see this is as being stronger.

"When I got back from the 1988 Olympics, I was watching a tape of the NBC broadcast and right before the start of the race the announcers were giving the lineups for each boat. They had my picture up and underneath the picture it said "Florida Institute of Technology '86.

"At that moment, I felt a great amount of pride that I rowed at FIT, and I thought of all the people at FIT (Coach Jurgens, Freshman Coach Eric Smith, professors and my former teammates) who helped me get there. It was not about the Olympics ... but how I got there that was important."

"Most of our team is returning this year, and I think we all have the collective mindset that if you're not going to buy into what we're doing, it's not going to work," graduate student and men's soccer player TREY COLLINS said.

"That atmosphere that we've created is good, not just for soccer, but for athletics at Florida Tech."

Junior linebacker CHRIS STAPLETON stayed in town this summer, not only for an internship at Northrop Grumman, but also so he could get more work in for next season. He wasn't the only one.

"I've been in a full weight room before with guys all around me, and we were just working," he said.

While the players are setting the tone, so are the coaches and the rest of the Florida Tech administration.

It all starts at the top, where the leadership and commitment of PRESIDENT ANTHONY J. CATANESE has allowed Florida Tech athletics to flourish like never before.

Florida Tech had 10 sports when Catanese arrived in 2003. Now, the Panthers boast 22.

Jurgens, who has served as the school's athletic director since 1976, is the ultimate Panther.

"My job is to do all I can to assist the coaches in helping our student-athletes do well and providing them with any kind of assistance or help," Jurgens said. "We've got a very good coaching staff here. They do a good job in assisting us in carrying out our mission."

The players themselves play a role in that, too. New players need mentoring, to be shown the Florida Tech way of doing things.

Pence found that in teammates TAYLOR SMITH and BROOKE SMITH. For women's basketball player TIESHA FLAGLER, it was JASMIRE BROWN.

When Stapleton arrived on campus, however, those players didn't exist. Everyone was new, just like the program. Now, after having played two seasons of football, he intends to be that guy who serves as a leader to the younger players.

"It's a role I'm definitely more involved in with the next year of guys because I want to be able to invest myself in the next generation of Panthers and making sure this is somewhere I want this program to go," Stapleton said.

"It's something I want to see done, and I have a pretty big opportunity to really make a difference in the program. I want to come back and see some Florida Tech national championships."

Collins, a Melbourne High grad who went to Jacksonville University and Florida before arriving at Florida Tech, wants to see the men's soccer program continue to grow and to recapture the energy that surrounded the team at the end of last season when it played in front of a packed house.

To get there, it's going to take players focusing together on a common goal and making sure they take pride in their work. In other words, being a Panther.

"A lot of it is the stuff you're doing when there's not someone watching you," Collins said. "When somebody is not pushing you to do it, it's your inner drive, it's on your day off, doing what you need to do, eating right, hydrating, stuff like that."

"That's an important part to me, and it's something I'm trying to spread through our team so that, after I leave, it's something that's more like a legacy and that this program continues to grow."

Though she spent her summer at home in Jacksonville, Pence said she and her teammates were still able to keep in touch through group text messages.

That only helped extend the team atmosphere where players could push

"I get no greater satisfaction than when I talk to an alum, and they tell me some of the best days they ever had were being here at Florida Tech; and then, of course, seeing what they've accomplished."

—Bill Jurgens

each other, inspire each other and, if necessary, hold each other accountable.

"We have all these goals, all these expectations, but they're really hard to do by yourself," Pence said. "Thinking about those things is almost overwhelming, but you have other girls around you who are like, 'No, we can do it.'"

"Knowing that I want to do something for my teammate, and loving my teammate, I'm going to bust my butt for her. That's another characteristic that we want to build into the program—just loving your teammate through whatever. That doesn't mean being your teammate's best friend all the time. It means being able to pull the best things out of your teammate."

Flagler, who admitted she felt a little homesick when she first arrived at Florida Tech, now says the campus feels like home. From Coach Reynolds, whom she looks up to, to the support she and the women's basketball team have received throughout her time in Melbourne, the senior has had a wonderful experience.

"The support we have in the community—everything there is about work ethic and just positive," the forensic psychology major said. "My friends go to other schools and they hate it. Some of them, they just don't like the way the program is set up. I feel like we have the best education program. I don't regret choosing Florida Tech at all."

That's music to the ears of Jurgens, who wants to make sure every Florida Tech student-athlete has the best possible experience and to take pride in their institution.

Once a Panther, always a Panther.

"We want our students to feel that they have had the chance to be the best they can be, both in the classroom and on the athletic field," Jurgens said. "We want them to feel that there were many lessons learned and values developed during their time here that will help them throughout their lives."

Alumni Affairs: What can our students, alumni and community expect from a Matt and Kim concert?

Matt Johnson: A great time—a certain energy, I think that is what people really connect to—you may not realize that Kim is going to be jumping up and down on her drum set and occasionally standing on the audience hands. We give it everything we've got. We like to create the vibe of the show where people dance and jump around. Not standing and looking at your feet. The audience is part of the show—it's about everyone.

Homecoming Fest Featuring Matt and Kim Duo Promise Dancing Frenzy For Free Live Concert In Downtown Melbourne

Alumni Affairs caught up with indie-pop artist Matt Johnson, who co-founded the band with Kim Schifino, to chat about Homecoming Fest 2015.

"We are thrilled to add Matt and Kim to the Fest Headliner list—The Mighty Mighty Bosstones, Taking Back Sunday and SOJA. They bring an infectious onstage energy, and their shows are known for their party vibe. We expect to fill the streets of downtown Melbourne again this year," said Bino Campanini, vice president of alumni affairs.

Matt and Kim is an American indie dance duo from Brooklyn, New York. The band started in 2004 and have played in tons of U.S. festivals like Coachella, Lollapalooza, Firefly, Ultra and hundreds of shows including Madison Square Garden. They've also won three MTV awards: an MTV VMA, an mtvU Woodie Award for "Lessons Learned" and a 2011 OMA award for Best Live Band. Their upbeat, stick-in-your-head track "Daylight" is certified Gold and on its way to Platinum, having sold over 900,000 copies.

FROM THE FTAA PRESIDENT

DUANE E. DE FREESE '82 M.S., '88 PH.D.

WITH IMMEASURABLE GRATITUDE AND PRIDE

The new freshman class has settled into the 2015 fall semester at Florida Institute of Technology, and I realize that this is my last note for Florida Tech Today as president of the Florida Tech Alumni Association (FTAA). It has been an honor to represent you. The FTAA has made great progress over the past several years due in part to the exceptional support and visionary leadership of President and CEO Anthony J. Catanese. On behalf of our 60,000 alumni, we thank you for your 14 years of dedicated service. We are very pleased that you will remain on the Florida Tech faculty as a research professor. The alumni community congratulates Florida Tech Vice President and COO, T. Dwayne McCay, who has been appointed by the board of trustees to succeed Dr. Catanese as president and CEO in 2016. The FTAA looks forward to working with you to advance the mission of the university.

Being the FTAA president has been easy because of Dr. Catanese. Dr. McCay, Bino Campanini (VP of Alumni Affairs), the entire Alumni Affairs staff and the dedicated volunteers of the FTAA board. Thank you all.

If you are a Florida Tech alumnus, student, community leader or friend, two events in 2015 are "must do" items for you 2015 calendar:

HOMECOMING 2015—"Around the World" Nov. 5-7, 2015. Please come join us for the best homecoming in our history. Have some fun at the FTAA—Meg O'Malley's 5K Run/Walk. Participate in an amazing Homecoming Fest in Downtown Melbourne with a free live concert by national recording artist, Matt and Kim. Watch Florida Tech football face off against West Georgia at Panther Stadium. Attend our Homecoming Gala and Awards Ceremony at the Clemente Center on the Florida Tech Campus. This is a weekend that should not be missed!

FLORIDA TECH DAY OF GIVING. On Tuesday, Dec. 1, Florida Tech will join a global initiative called "Giving Tuesday." We have all shopped on Black Friday and Cyber Monday, now let's donate on Giving Tuesday to our alma mater. On this day, we will launch a day of giving for Florida Tech. It's a worldwide virtual event that will connect us to our 60,000 alumni worldwide to help Florida Tech prepare for future excellence. No gift is too small. Your participation will drive our success. Go online at DayOfGiving.fit.edu on Dec. 1 to send a message that we are changing the world for the better.

Thanks again for your support!

Calculating Quake Hazards

ALUMNUS IS LEAD AUTHOR ON PUBLISHED STUDY.

The latest research into the little known, fault-riddled, undersea landscape off of Southern California and northern Baja California has revealed details about a tectonic train wreck in the Earth's crust with the potential for magnitude 7.9 to 8.0 earthquakes. The new study supports the likelihood that these vertical fault zones have displaced the seafloor in the past, which means they could send out tsunami-generating pulses toward nearby Los Angeles and neighboring San Diego.

Geologist MARK LEGG '73 of Legg Geophysical in Huntington Beach, California, is the lead author of the new analysis accepted for publication in the Journal of Geophysical Research: Earth Surface, a journal of the American Geophysical Union. He is also one of a handful of geologists who have been trying for decades to piece together the complicated picture of what lies beyond Southern California's famous beaches.

By combining older seafloor data and digital seismic data from earthquakes along with 4,500 kilometers (2,796 miles) of new seafloor depth measurements, or bathymetry, collected in 2010, Legg and his colleagues were able to take a closer look at the structure of two of the larger seafloor faults in the Borderland: the Santa Cruz-Catalina Ridge Fault and the Ferrelo Fault. What they were searching for are signs, like those seen along the San Andreas, that indicate how much the faults have slipped over time and whether some of that slippage caused some of the seafloor to thrust upwards.

What they found along the Santa Cruz-Catalina Ridge Fault are ridges, valleys and other clear signs that the fragmented, blocky crust has been lifted upward, while also slipping sideways like the plates along the San Andreas Fault do.

NOAA was working on complete high-resolution bathymetry of the U.S. Exclusive Economic Zone—the waters within 200 miles of shore—until the budget was cut, said Legg. That left out Southern California and left researchers like himself using whatever bits and pieces of smaller surveys to assemble a picture of what's going on in the Borderland, he explained.

"We've got high resolution maps of the surface of Mars," Legg said, "yet we still don't have decent bathymetry for our own backyard."

DANIELA IACOBELLI '09 IS MAKING STRIDES TOWARD EARNING HER 2016 LPGA TOUR CARD.

She won the inaugural Tullymore Classic on July 5, closing out the event with birdies on three of her final four holes including a two putt from 120 feet on hole 18. It was her first win of the year, vaulting her to the number two spot on the Volvik Race for the Card money list. She needs to remain in the top 10 to be awarded her 2016 LPGA Tour card. The Tullymore Classic is one of the newest events on the Symetra Tour, the official qualifier for the LPGA.

Sunita L. Williams '95 M.S.
Space Pioneer
VETERAN SHUTTLE ASTRONAUT
BLAZING A NEW TRAIL

The true measure of a university's greatness can be found in the achievements of its alumni. Florida Institute of Technology has established a worldwide reputation for developing leaders and innovators across diverse fields, from academia to private industry to government. In that stratum of "the best of the best," FIT alumni have gained their unique distinction through successes in their professions, service to the university and contribution to their communities.

The Jerome P. Keuper Distinguished Alumni Award recognizes an alumnus whose career accomplishments honor the university's legacy of excellence.

This year's recipient is Sunita L. Williams '95 M.S. who will be presented with the award at the Homecoming Awards Gala on Nov. 7.

THE JEROME P. KEUPER DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD CONTINUES ILLUSTRATING THE PROMINENCE OF FLORIDA INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY IN THE 2015 AWARD WINNER, SUNITA WILLIAMS

Williams, who earned a master's degree in engineering management, again makes history by being named one of the first astronauts in NASA's Commercial Crew Program. This group of four astronauts will fly the next generation of space vehicles. It is the successor to the 30-year-long space shuttle program. The ambitious plan is to land the first humans on Mars by 2030 on privately built spacecraft.

"Space exploration makes us think outside the box. It makes us stretch our imaginations even farther. Technology is nothing without imagination and spaceflight imagination in the next generation is going to go really far. That is their challenge though, and we are just trying to give them the baby steps to get there," said Williams in preparation for Mars.

"These distinguished, veteran astronauts are blazing a new trail, a trail that will one day land them in the history books and Americans on the surface of Mars," said NASA Administrator Charlie Bolden.

This isn't the first history in the making for Williams. She holds the world record for the most spacewalk time—50 hours, 40 minutes—by a female astronaut. Williams, who spent 322 days in space on two shuttle missions was referred by Bolden as a "space pioneer."

Williams, a U.S. Navy captain, was born in Euclid, Ohio, but considers Needham, Massachusetts, her hometown. Growing up just outside of Boston and riding her bicycle frequently into the city, it comes as no surprise she is a Boston Red Sox fan. Williams, an avid exerciser, swam on a competitive swim team in the Harvard pool during her teen years with her older brother and sister. In fact, her brother, a naval academy graduate as well, convinced her to attend the Naval Academy. In addition to other sport activities, Williams swam for the Naval Academy team.

She received her commission in the Navy in May 1987 and became a helicopter pilot and was later selected as a test pilot. Williams logged more than 3,000 flight hours in more than 30 different aircraft.

While attending Test Pilot school, her class toured the Johnson Space Center and she met astronaut John Young who spoke about flying to the moon. The concept of vertical landings intrigued Williams and inspired her to think about becoming an astronaut. To improve her chances for astronaut selection, Williams earned her advanced degree from Florida Tech in 1995.

NASA chose Williams for the astronaut program in 1998. Williams, known as Sunny around the Johnson Space Center, in December 2006, launched into space for the first time on board the shuttle Discovery as part of the 14th expedition to the International Space Station (ISS). Williams served as the flight engineer for both the 14th and 15th expeditions. While there, she set world records both for space walks and participation in sports. Over the course of four space walks, spending 29 hours and 17 minutes outside of the station, Williams set the new record for females. Williams also circled Earth almost three times as she participated in the Boston Marathon from space. She ran about six miles per hour on the ISS station treadmill with an official completion time of four hours, 23 minutes and 10 seconds—the first time an entrant has competed in the race from orbit.

On July 12, 2012, Williams traveled to the ISS again, this time on a Russian Soyuz vehicle. She served as the flight engineer for the 32nd expedition and the commander of 33rd. World records again would be recorded in her name. During Expedition 33, on Sept. 16, 2013, Williams participated in the first triathlon in space simultaneously with athletes in the Nautica Malibu Triathlon held in Southern California.

Her training begins now for the Commercial Crew Program. Williams expects to return to space in 2017.

Williams' courageous service and trailblazer actions exemplify the ideals of the Jerome P. Keuper Distinguished Alumni award and make her a model recipient.

Hannah Medd:
Shark Ambassador

Hannah Medd '02 is a marine biologist and founder the American Shark Conservancy (ASC), a nonprofit organization dedicated to the conservation and sustainable management of sharks and rays through science and outreach.

I was inspired to start ASC by the plight of sharks in many parts of the world, with some regional populations declining below 90%. Many shark species are biologically vulnerable to overfishing with late maturity and low fecundity and cannot withstand high levels of fishing pressure. Sharks are also threatened by negative public opinion as communities do not typically protect what they are afraid of and do not understand.

Fuelled by my natural curiosity, passion for the marine environment and fondness for the underdog, I decided early on that sharks would be my focus. Throughout my career as a biologist, I have been lucky enough to work with researchers, conservationists, policy-makers, commercial operators, academia and the public on the complex issue of shark conservation. This well-rounded experience plus my scientific background inspired me to form ASC with the philosophy that the sustainable management of sharks comes from a combination of strong science and effective outreach.

ASC currently has two programs: SharkStudies, which involves long-term monitoring of the zoogeography of sharks along the southeast coast of Florida and other areas. SharkSmarts is an outreach and education program that provides accurate information about sharks via multiple platforms to ensure the public stays informed about the threats facing sharks and engaged in actions to protect them.

Sharks face many threats, like habitat loss, pollution and overexploitation. The marine food web is incredibly complex, and each of the more than 400 species of sharks plays some role in keeping it in balance. Research has shown that sharks are important to the health of oceans, influencing reef health and productivity, as well as prey species population numbers and behaviors.

Media coverage of sharks can be harmful and frustrating at times. I have had to learn that much of the programming is under the entertainment category, which I accept, unless the programming attempts to blur the lines or focuses purely on the unlikely but sensational topics such as shark attacks. Many of us in the 'shark community' are frustrated by this simply because there are so many other great stories to tell, like cool shark adaptations (i.e., parthenogenesis, bioluminescence, endothermy, "walking", etc.), how important sharks are to the ocean and coastal communities, or the different species that never seem to get air time like the Southern Sawtail Catshark or the Smalleye Lantern Shark. Despite later being blamed for the unfair and detrimental reputation for sharks, "Jaws" (the movie) actually inspired me and many people I know to work in shark research and conservation, so I believe even if the media coverage is inaccurate, it can lead to better understanding.

DEGREES: '02 B.S. marine biology; B.S. ecology

CURRENT CITY: Delray Beach, FL

FAMILY: Husband Ivan Rutzen

HOBBIES: Scuba diving, photography and travel

LITTLE KNOWN FACT: I was third in the country in the Junior Hunter division of the National Horse Show Association and considered forgoing college to run a horse show barn.

NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENT: I consider graduating from Florida Tech with honors a huge achievement! Also, I contributed to the successful proposal to add manta rays to the Appendix II of the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES), offering international protections for the vulnerable species.

#ParticipationMatters

No gift is too small | College Challenge

NOW IS THE TIME TO GET INVOLVED!

On Dec. 1, you have an opportunity to be part of a national movement and, together with other alumni, make a positive impact on your alma mater. By participating in Florida Tech's Day of Giving, you will join alumni from around the world and make a difference in the lives of our students and faculty while demonstrating your support for your school and its future. Make no mistake, the participation of alumni and their financial support of their institution is a key factor in how organizations, including U.S. News & World Report, perceive the success of an institution and how they ultimately rank it.

The key point here is participation. It is the number of alumni who give back that is judged and not the amount that is given. All alumni can play a role and no gift is too small. So join me and let's show U.S. News & World Report, and all the other organizations that review higher educational institutions, that we are proud of our alma mater. As students, we were part of Florida Tech's past, but as alumni we remain part of its present and part of its future.

Coming soon: DayOfGiving.fit.edu

GET READY FOR HOMECOMING 2015

Book your flights or pack up the car and make your plans to come to back to campus for Homecoming 2015. For many of you, the weather in November will be making a turn for the worst, while here in Melbourne it will be an idyllic 70/80's. But it is not just the weather that is on offer. As always we have a great few days filled with fun activities and Panther Pride.

We are excited that national recording artist and Indie darlings, Matt and Kim, will headline FIT Homecoming Fest. It is going to be one of the liveliest and most fun packed concerts that we have hosted and we once again expect to fill the streets of downtown Melbourne with our students and alumni.

Probably the biggest news that has hit campus in recent years was the announcement that Buzz Aldrin will be joining our research faculty. The interest and feedback from alumni on our social media has been amazing. There is something about space that still excites and inspires. Following in Buzz Aldrin's footsteps is, NASA astronaut Sunita Williams, our 2015 Jerome P. Keuper Distinguished Alumni Award winner. I hope many of you will be able to join us at our Homecoming Gala as we salute Sunita and celebrate her achievements. (See page 30 for more details.)

mark your calendar to support
Florida Tech on Dec. 1.

Giving Tuesday, a day of philanthropy celebrating the season of giving, was introduced in the United States in 2012. Following Thanksgiving, Black Friday and Cyber Monday, Giving Tuesday has grown in popularity as individuals, friends and families come together to support causes that are important to them. Last year, donors gave millions of dollars to nonprofit organizations in the U.S. and abroad.

This year, Giving Tuesday falls on Dec. 1. If you choose to participate, consider making your contribution to Florida Tech.

Your gift is 100 percent tax deductible, and a contribution of any amount has an impact on campus. Annual Fund dollars are used to create new opportunities for students, enhance the curriculum and retain top faculty.

For more information, contact Kim Amidon at kamidon@fit.edu or 321-674-6141.

2014–2015 Honor Roll of Donors

Each year we honor trustees, alumni, faculty, staff, students, parents, corporations, foundations and other friends in the Honor Roll of Donors. This year's Honor Roll of Donors consists of those who gave to the university between May 1, 2014 and April 30, 2015. We salute all who remembered Florida Tech during the 2015 fiscal year.
