PRIME OPPORTUNITY

South Florida's unique location makes it a critical transshipment point for the Americas and recreational cruise line bases. South Florida sends off and receives more cruise ships than any other destination on earth. That reputation is only rivaled by the amount of cargo that Port Miami & Port Everglades process each year. Furthermore, The Brightline is the nation's only privately funded express intercity passenger rail system and now connects Miami, Fort Lauderdale & West Palm Beach. Future plans include expanding the rail to Orlando, Tampa & Jacksonville.

But it doesn't end there. Due to the fact that the State of Florida has no state income tax and a rapidly growing population, many companies are looking to either relocate or start branch operations here—adding to the health of the local job market. Through eMERGE Americas South Florida is becoming a tech hub for Latin America. South Florida has also established itself as a major banking center for the region.

With a burgeoning workforce, incomparable tax incentives and benefits, and plenty of financial institutions, the options are endless. That means more opportunities for more South Florida residents.
