ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

1. A T account has the following parts: (a) the title, (b) the left or debit side, and (c) the right or credit side.
2. Disagree. The terms debit and credit mean left and right respectively.
3. Jeff is incorrect. The double-entry system merely records the dual effect of a transaction on the accounting equation. A transaction is not recorded twice; it is recorded once, with a dual effect.
4. Maria is incorrect. A debit balance only means that debit amounts exceed credit amounts in an account. Conversely, a credit balance only means that credit amounts are greater than debit amounts in an account. Thus, a debit or credit balance is neither favorable nor unfavorable.
5.
  - (a) Asset accounts are increased by debits and decreased by credits.
  - (b) Liability accounts are decreased by debits and increased by credits.
  - (c) Revenues and owner's capital are increased by credits and decreased by debits. Expenses and owner's drawing are increased by debits and decreased by credits.
6.
  - (a) Accounts Receivable—debit balance.
  - (b) Cash—debit balance.
  - (c) Owner's Drawing—debit balance.
  - (d) Accounts Payable—credit balance.
  - (e) Service Revenue—credit balance.
  - (f) Salaries Expense—debit balance.

8.
  - (a) Debit Supplies and credit Accounts Payable.

  - (4) Accounts Payable—both debit and credit entries.
  - (5) Salaries Expense—debit entries only.
  - (6) Service Revenue—credit entries only.
10. The basic steps in the recording process are:
  - (1) Analyze each transaction for its effect on the accounts.
  - (2) Enter the transaction information in a journal.
  - (3) Transfer the journal information to the appropriate accounts in the ledger.

Questions Chapter 2 (Continued)

11. The advantages of using the journal in the recording process are:
  - (1) It discloses in one place the complete effects of a transaction.
  - (2) It provides a chronological record of all transactions.
  - (3) It helps to prevent or locate errors because the debit and credit amounts for each entry can be easily compared.
12. (a) The debit should be entered first.
(b) The credit should be indented.
13. When three or more accounts are required in one journal entry, the entry is referred to as a compound entry. An example of a compound entry is the purchase of equipment, part of which is paid for with cash and the remainder is on account.
14. (a) No, debits and credits should not be recorded directly in the ledger.
(b) The advantages of using the journal are:
  1. It discloses in one place the complete effects of a transaction.
  2. It provides a chronological record of all transactions.
  3. It helps to prevent or locate errors because the debit and credit amounts for each entry can be easily compared.
15. The advantage of the last step in the posting process is to indicate that the item has been posted.

Questions Chapter 2 (Continued)

18. A trial balance is a list of accounts and their balances at a given time. The primary purpose of a trial balance is to prove (check) that the debits equal the credits after posting. A trial balance also facilitates the discovery of errors in journalizing and posting. In addition, it is useful in preparing financial statements.

- (b) Business transaction occurs.
  - (c) Information entered in the journal.

BRIEF EXERCISE 2-4

The basic steps in the recording process are:

1. Analyze each transaction. In this step, business documents are examined to determine the effects of the transaction on the accounts.
2. Enter each transaction in a journal. This step is called journalizing and it results in making a chronological record of the transactions.
3. Transfer journal information to ledger accounts. This step is called posting. Posting makes it possible to accumulate the effects of journalized transactions on individual accounts.

In the first transaction, bills totaling $6,000 were sent to customers for services rendered. Therefore, the asset Accounts Receivable is increased $6,000 and the revenue Service Revenue is increased $6,000. Debits increase assets and credits increase revenues, so the journal entry is:

Accounts Receivable.....	6,000
Service Revenue .....		6,000
(Bill customers for services provided)

The $6,000 amount is then posted to the debit side of the general ledger account Accounts Receivable and to the credit side of the general ledger account Service Revenue.

In the second transaction, $2,000 was paid in salaries to employees. Therefore, the expense Salaries Expense is increased $2,000 and the asset Cash is decreased $2,000. Debits increase expenses and credits decrease assets, so the journal entry is:

Salaries Expense .....	2,000
Cash .....		2,000
(Salaries paid)

The $2,000 amount is then posted to the debit side of the general ledger account Salaries Expense and to the credit side of the general ledger account Cash.

(a) The stakeholders in this situation are:

- ▶ Mary Jansen, assistant chief accountant.
- ▶ Users of the company's financial statements.
- ▶ The Casey Company.

(b) By adding $1,000 to the Equipment account, that account total is intentionally misstated. By not locating the error causing the imbalance, some other account may also be misstated by $1,000. If the amount of $1,000 is determined to be immaterial, and the intent is not to commit fraud (cover up an embezzlement or other misappropriation of assets), Mary's action might not be considered unethical in the preparation of interim financial statements. However, if Mary is violating a company accounting policy by her action, then she is acting unethically.

(c) Mary's alternatives are:

1. Miss the deadline but find the error causing the imbalance.
2. Tell her supervisor of the imbalance and suffer the consequences.
3. Do as she did and locate the error later, making the adjustment in the next quarter.

- (a) Students' responses to this question will vary. It is important that the steps that they identify be as specific as possible, and clearly directed toward achieving their goal. You may wish to ask a follow-up question asking them to explain how each step will assist them in achieving their goal.
- (b) There are many sites on the Internet that provide information about preparing a résumé. For example, you can find extensive resources at: <http://www.rileyguide.com/resprep.html>. Many schools also have resources in their placement centers or writing labs. The Writing Center at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute provides useful, concise information on its website at <http://www.rpi.edu/web/writingcenter/resume.html>. A wide variety of sample résumés can be found. For example, Monster.com provides samples for a wide variety of professions and situations at <http://content.monster.com/experts/resume/library/>.
- (c) As noted in the All About You feature in chapter 2 of the text, overstating accomplishments on a résumé can result in many problems. It is important to provide accurate and complete documentation of all relevant training, education, and employment experiences so as to provide assurance to the potential employer, and also to enable that employer to do follow-up work. If you say you have certain skills, such as computer skills, try to substantiate the claim with recognized proof of proficiency. Make sure that all addresses and phone numbers are accurate and up-to-date. Also, ensure that the people you use as references have a copy of your résumé and cover letter, and that they are informed that you are interviewing so they know to expect a call.
- (d) See the sample résumés provided in the websites above for various format options. You might also mention to students that there are electronic résumé templates available on the Internet.
