Advancing Alzheimer's Care at The Jewish Home

Alzheimer's disease and other forms of dementia affect more than 5.2 million Americans, and the rate is increasing as the "baby-boomer" generation ages. Although caregivers provide an estimated 17.7 billion hours of unpaid care in the U.S each year, for many this is not a viable or even desirable option.

The Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Alzheimer's Unit at the Jewish Home has long been at the forefront of dementia care in eastern Pennsylvania. The Unit emphasizes an individual approach for each resident and their family, with the comfort and dignity of the resident as the primary focus. A licensed nursing staff is on duty 24 hours a day under the supervision of Unit Manager Marissa Barcola, RN. Marissa leads the nursing staff on the unit and tends to the medical needs of the residents. She also assists her team with implementing behavioral interventions.

Nicole Lipinski, BS, ADC, MC, the Home's Director of Activities and Alzheimer's Unit Coordinator rounds out the supervisory staff.

Full-time social worker Kristen Shipsky, MSW, provides support for family members, completing the full circle of care. The three function as a team to provide excellence in care for families, staff and residents.

Resident activities take place during the days and evenings seven days a week, and include exercise, music, crafts, and cooking programs.

The recently implemented Compass Program, in partnership with Genesis Rehab Services, adds new layers to the scope of care and associated services the Home is able to offer both residents and their families. The GRS Compass program, spearheaded by Nicole Lipinski from the Home and Tiffany Riley from Genesis, uses a collaborative approach to caring for residents with dementia. An individualized care plan is created for each resident to provide quality of life, encourage meaningful social interactions, and promote resident safety and function.

Customizable resources help in providing a consistent, personal approach to care. These include posters, trigger cards, and other functional maintenance resources. An example of this is the memory boxes that were placed on our third floor Alzheimer's Unit in August and September. The memory boxes contain pictures of residents and pictures of things that they like such as knitting, cats, dogs or hobbies. They might contain small items like a doll that has personal meaning for the resident. The purpose of the memory boxes is to help residents to find their rooms, act as a focal point for staff to engage residents in conversation, and as a way

New Activity Center Kitchen to Enhance Culinary Arts and Therapeutic Needs of the Residents

Through the generosity of Laurel and Alan Glassman, the Home has added a full home style kitchen to the lobby Activity Center. The idea grew from interviews with residents, both women and men, who so enjoyed cooking and baking prior to admission to the Home. While the Home had culinary programs as part of its scheduled activities, it lacked a fully outfitted kitchen to prepare and cook the food in one location. (For obvious reasons, residents couldn't use the Home's main kitchen). Now residents can knead the dough for pizza and challah, for example, and bake and enjoy the food whose enticing aromas fill the activity center and waft throughout the entire lobby.

Additionally, every Friday the residents are invited to the breakfast club in the Activity Center for "made to order" eggs to divert residents' attention if they are exhibiting behaviors. These boxes have enhanced communication between staff, families and residents.

Another strong component of the Compass Program is coaching for family members and caregivers on how best to interact and care for their loved one with dementia.

The Compass Program training began in September, and implementation on the Harry & Jeanette Weinberg Unit occurred in October. The Jewish Home is excited to offer this fully comprehensive program which includes newly-developed therapy strategies, ongoing staff education, and support for families in a rounded approach to care for residents.

The Home's staff is also heavily involved in community activities to promote a cure for Alzheimer's, as well as activities to help educate the public.

In December, Kristen Shipsky took part in a WBRE News-maker's television special on Alzheimer's Disease and its effect on caregivers, along with Clay Jacobs from the Alzheimer's Association and Krista DiRienzo from the VNA Home Health and Hospice. Kristen talked about how the Home works with families who are exploring residential care options for their loved ones, and dealing with the various stages of the disease.

For the tenth year, the Home participated in the Alzheimer's Association Walk to End Alzheimer's. The Home's team was formed ten years ago by Nicole Lipinski. This year's team captain was Kristen Shipsky. The team raised more than $2000 from Walk sponsorships, family members, and bagging groceries at Gerrity's supermarket.

The staff of the Home also participated in Purple Days, a photo contest sponsored by the Alzheimer's Association. Photos were uploaded to the Association website to be voted on by the public, raising awareness of the disease.

From implementing the best new programs available for our residents in the Alzheimer's Unit to participation in community outreach, the Jewish Home and its staff continue a tradition of providing outstanding dementia care in our region.

Alzheimer's Support Group meets the third Tuesday of the month at 2:30pm. The evening support group will be restarting in February 2015; watch bulletin boards, mailings and Facebook for announcements. Contact Kristen Shipsky at ext 164 or Nicole Lipinski at ext 113.

and omelets, pancakes and French toast. It's a gastronomical delight that adds a gourmet touch and complements the Home's daily menu selections.

The new kitchen serves another vital function. With many of the Home's residents returning to their homes after short stay rehabilitation, the licensed occupational therapists can assist residents practice safe kitchen techniques. The new kitchen was designed to accommodate residents in wheelchairs whose home return may require that skill.

We are proud of the new kitchen as it enhances the day to day lives of our residents and offers an added dimension to the quality of life and therapeutic services enjoyed by them.

Short Stay Admissions to the Jewish Home on the Rise

Many seniors not yet ready to return to their homes following a hospital stay, are turning to the Jewish Home for their inpatient, short term rehabilitation needs.

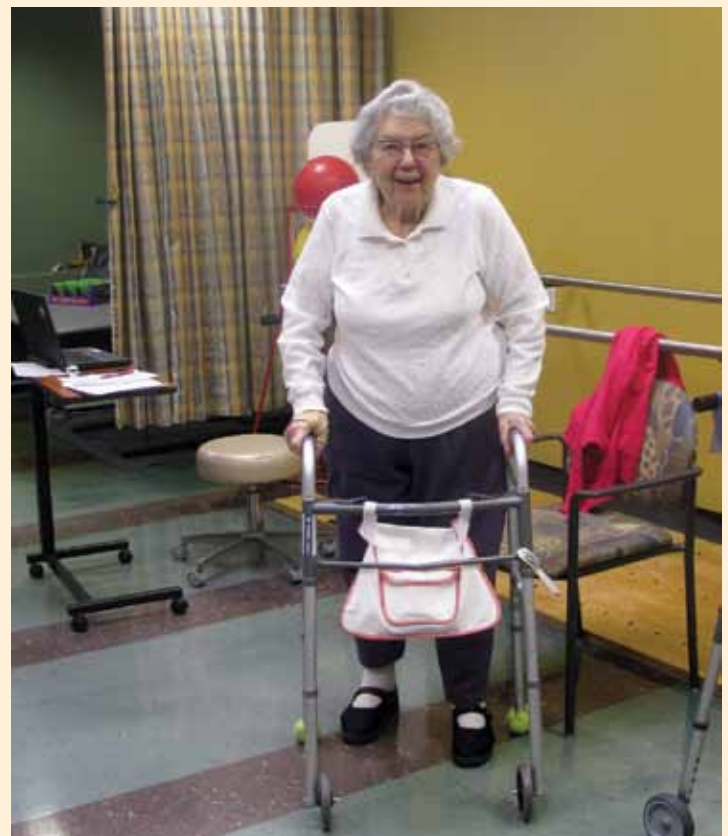

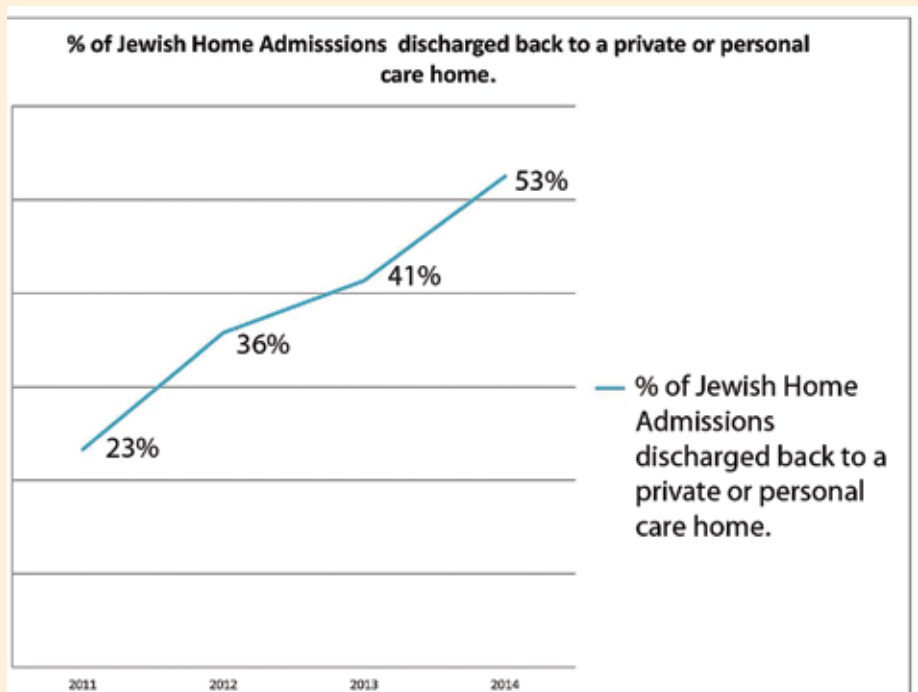

Short stay rehabilitation admissions at the Home have more than doubled since 2011 with more than 53% of residents admitted to the Home this year returning home. This group accounts for almost six discharges per month.

Many of our short stay residents come to us as a result of medical conditions such as broken bones, stroke or recuperation following surgery and other acute care stays.

The Home has an excellent staff of professional nurses, nursing assistants, social workers and ancillary departments whose focus is on caring for the needs of seniors. Our skilled therapy department, managed by Genesis Rehab Services, a leader in providing therapy services to the older adult population, provides us with the professional physical, occupational and speech therapy staff on our team. The pace of our rehabilitation program is geared to each resident's individual needs and endurance level. The home like atmosphere in our building supports the transition of our residents and their recovery process. Therefore it is not unusual for some of our residents to have more than one short term stay with us when the need arises.

One of our recent guests, Malca Shapiro, said during an interview the day before she was scheduled to return home, that care she received at the Home was "like a staying in a 5 Star hotel, including the food!" She went on to say that some of her friends and physician had recommended that she go to a short stay rehab unit at a local hospital following knee replacement surgery. She decided on the Jewish Home because as a retired registered nurse, she was familiar with the staff and quality of care provided. She felt very comfortable during a prior short stay in the Home a few years before. She credits the atmosphere and "fabulous staff" in helping her recover so quickly. Not only that, she said with a smile, "but I was able to book an appointment with Lana (our beautician) to have my hair done today before I go back home."

Anyone interested in more information on the admissions process at the Home for short term rehab or for longer stay should contact Todd Kelleher, Admissions Director at (570) 344-6177, ex 151.

Auxiliary News

Scranton Auxiliary and Wilkes-Barre Branch On the Move

The Jewish Home is fortunate that its two auxiliaries are hard working, conscientious and creative in providing special programs, activities and resources that enhance the lives of our residents.

The Scranton Auxiliary is actively involved in volunteer visitations and its most successful monthly Live and Learn Program. Named in memory of Barbara Jacobson, the Live and Learn program focuses on keeping the intellectual juices of the residents flowing. Their latest interest is supporting the staff's use of "Linked Senior", a cloud based combination of activities, therapy and dementia engagement software for seniors. It's a remarkable product and can be better understood by visiting the web site www.linkedsenior.com. The Auxiliary graciously sponsored an additional Linked Senior Kiosk (we already have two), two projectors, a 39" HDTV monitor and a transport cart. When visiting the site, spend a few minutes viewing the video tour and get an appreciation of the scope of the program and its interactive capabilities. Many thanks to Lynn Shaffer, President, and her board members for their generous support.

The Wilkes-Barre Branch women are staying out of the clouds and are doing some real down to earth programs. For the next 6 months they are sponsoring a "chair yoga" group for the residents led by a highly regarded yoga instructor, Mindy Hill, who conducts yoga at other senior centers and at Scranton's JCC. Residents are very excited about this exercise program. The Branch will be sponsoring a "Spring Fling" party with entertainment and refreshments. And a favorite is the annual Chanukah bash with Rabbi Kaplan and "Freilox and Bagels" Klezmer ensemble. Thanks to Anita Coplan, Bedonna Mitchneck and the ladies of the Branch for their ongoing efforts on behalf of the residents.

The Auxiliaries sponsor several programs throughout the year for the residents and its members. Become a member today and enrich not only your life, but the lives of our residents. To become a member, please contact Lynn Klemick at (570) 344-6177 ext 109.

Elan Gardens, Inc.

View of the Administrator: Ilise Rubinow

Chai! 18 years! On November 18th (yes, the 18th) we celebrated the 18th anniversary of Elan Gardens. It was November 18, 1996 when our first five residents moved in. So much is the same, but there are many changes too. But one thing remains the same no matter what. We celebrate life at Elan Gardens.

The photos here are from our anniversary celebration. It has become a tradition to do a Hollywood themed party each year. Staff from every department become involved and the residents respond with glee. Usually we see some interesting personalities emerging when there are costumes hiding the identity of those who perform.

For our Residents, there is much more to Elan Gardens than a party. There is respect, understanding and personalized services. There is camaraderie and there is privacy. There is safety and there is individuality. There are activities and field trips.

And as far as celebrations go – we celebrate each day that our Residents spend with us. It is a gift that they entrust their care to us, and we do everything that we can to provide them with exactly what they need. After all, we've had 18 years to get it right!

Steve, our new driver, with Joanne, our book-keeper, who is one of nine staff members who have been here since day one.

Resident Miriam Sorger with Bobbie O'Donnell, our Recreations Coordinator and Community Liaison. Bobbie, as Maria from Sound of Music, had everyone guessing who she was under her disguise.

Elvis (also known as Steve) has the room hopping!

Annual Membership Campaign Heading Toward Goal

Once again this year, the Annual Membership Drive has been well received by the legion of supporters who value the mission of the Jewish Home. Alan Glassman, President of the Home, was enthusiastic that the Home would reach its fund raising goal. "The funds raised," he said, "play a crucial role in the Home's ability to sustain the high level of care afforded the residents." He expressed his appreciation to all the donors who understand the vital role the Home occupies in our community and who acknowledge the importance of the Home's work through their generous gifts.

Mr. Glassman commended the two co-chairs, Ann Monsky and Leah Laury who, together with the other committee members, direct and monitor the campaign. As of this publication, the campaign has raised $105,000.00 from 650 members. Both Ann and Leah indicated that they expect more responses to be forthcoming. Courtesy calls will be made toward the end of January as a wrap up of the campaign.

Membership gifts can be made on line on the Jewish Home website www.jhep.org.
