Work From Home

Employee Benefits

A thoughtfully designed workspace sets the stage for better work – and a better work life. Creating a workspace in their home, just like in the office, is now more important than ever as it encourages productivity and improves work life balance.

Bringing form, function and style that matches their home, but also gives everyone the features from the office.

Employees may not have a dedicated workroom, so why not let them choose what fits their floor plan.

Average cost of a home office is $600

The work from home office is a new development, with nearly half (48%) of respondents creating space used specifically for work during the pandemic.

+ Employees who do not have a set home workspace are 140% more likely to say their WFH performance has suffered.

Work From Home

Company Benefits

Employers who contribute toward home office expenses reap big returns as employees without a home office set up say their work performance has suffered. Companies seeking to recruit top candidates and retain high performers will need to offer home office set ups or compensation for employees to purchase their own.

Save time by choosing from a curated product offering chosen by industry experts.

Products delivered straight to your employee's door for a seamless experience.

Ensure your employees have the right furniture to fit their needs for the long term.

Dedicated Spaces:

Save Time

Promote Better Focus

Reduce Worker's Comp Exposure

Coze™ Table Desk

Company WFH Allowances

In an Aon survey of around 1,400 U.S. based companies, more than 1 in 5 companies are helping pay for their employees' home-office equipment.

+ More than 10% are even covering their workers' internet bills.
