Legion Commander visits NH VA Medical Center

Fang A. Wong, National American Legion Commander and his wife Barbara recently paid a visit to the Manchester VA Medical Center. Dr. Marc F. Levenson, Medical Center Director, greeted the Wongs and gave them a brief overview of the Medical Center's capabilities. Commander Wong stressed the need for good medical care for the veterans and their families.

Levenson informed Wong that some of his accomplishments since assuming the position of Director, included a state of the art ophthalmologic surgical program that includes cataract surgery and a new MRI that helps to reduce patient waiting time thus allowing more patients to be treated. Other additions include Same-Day-Surgical and Endoscopy suites. Eye, Audiology, Dermatology and Podiatry Clinics have grown.

The VA Center has also begun Primary Care Mental Health integration and has expanded the Home Base Primary Care program to all of the Community Based Outpatient Clinics throughout the state.

Concluding their meeting, Commander Wong and Dr. Levenson agreed that the VA Medical Center in Manchester is a dynamic and progressive healthcare organization dedicated to providing quality, compassionate and accessible care and service to New Hampshire veterans.

Newport School Lockdown

Newport Police initiated a brief lockdown at Richards Elementary School last week. Three officers responded at 11:30 a.m. and quickly determined that there was no problem. The lockdown was called off at 11:40 a.m.

U.S. Senator Jeanne Shaheen (l) joined Legion Commander Fang Wong and his wife Barbara on a tour of the Manchester VA facility.
