Diamond Bar – Anyone who drove past Summit ridge Park last week couldn't help but notice the formerly white but now burnt out BMW X5 on fire in the parking lot at 1600 Grand Ave in the early morning hours. LA County Sheriff deputies were on hand to oversee what happened to the car.

"This may be a crime scene," said one LA County Deputy.

"We haven't determined the cause yet."

"The deputy was investigating if it was arson, insurance fraud, or vandalism, but none of those were evident," said Walnut-Diamond Bar station captain AI Reyes. "It stemmed from a call of non-criminal auto fire we received."

Captain Reyes told OurWeeklyNews.com that the

CH Robbery Suspect Arrested; Police Still Seeking Third Man

BY ANTHONY SAUDE

Chino Hills - A Hemet resident, a suspect in a brazen robbery at a Chino Hills residence in April was arrested Wednesday, while another man from Perris was already in custody.

Deonta Simuel, 18, of Hemet, was arraigned on robbery charges Thursday in Rancho Cucamonga Superior Court after he had been arrested the previous day, according to online court records. He plead not guilty to two counts of robbery during video arraignment proceedings. He is scheduled to return to court May 8 to begin the trial.

A third man is still being sought by San Bernardino County sheriff's deputies.

The Chino Hills victims had just arrived home about 7:40 p.m. on April 19 in the 13000 block of Misty Meadow Court, when three men walked up, forcefully took the residents' belongings and ran away from the residence, according to a sheriff's news release.

One of the victims chased the men as they headed for a vehicle, a black Hyundai Accent hatchback driven by the third unknown man. Steven Stephon Williams, 22, of Perris, could not get inside of the car before it fled. He was found and arrested

Police Need Your Help to Solve Fatal Hit and Run

By Anthony Saude

Eastvale – Crime never goes away, and the Eastvale Police Department's Traffic Division is asking for the public's help with an investigation that occurred four years ago.

On Friday, April 25, 2014, just after midnight, Eastvale officers began a Hit-And-Run investigation at the intersection of Limonite Avenue and Hamner Avenue. The collision turned fatal. Officers learned a black, unknown make sedan, struck a bicyclist after failing to stop for a red light. The sedan fled the scene on Limonite Avenue and was never located. Witnesses attempted to provide information that day, but at this moment, no one is in custody. The day's tragic events took the life of a young man, Troy Davids, and left his family mourning his loss.

The commitment to the investigation has never diminished for the Eastvale Police Department. They are now asking for residents in the community for your help. All information and the previous leads the public provided have been exhausted. The traffic division for the police department is encouraging anyone with information to come forward and contact them at 951-955-2600.

Details:

On Friday, April 25, 2014 at 12:12 a.m., Eastvale Police Officers responded to a reported injury traffic collision at the intersection of Limonite Ave. and Hamner Ave., in the City of Eastvale. During the preliminary investigation it was revealed that an unknown make or

WVUSD Parents, Community Shine at Gala

By Kelli Gile

WALNUT-- A stellar group of Walnut Valley Unified School District volunteers and community members were honored during the A Night of the Stars gala held April 26 at the Diamond Bar Center.

The 4th bi-annual event, sponsored by the Walnut Valley Educational Foundation, lauded exemplary parents, alumni, business, education, leadership, and service partners.

"It is an honor having the opportunity to celebrate so many wonderful people tonight," said Superintendent Dr. Robert Taylor.

"Thank you so much for helping make Walnut Valley such an incredible school district!"

Cheng, Ray and Carol Gonzales

- Chaparral Middle School,
Gordon Mize - South Pointe
Middle School, David Morales

- Suzanne Middle School,
Wanda Tanaka - Diamond Bar
High, Pastor Donald R. Gridiron and Gloria G. Gridiron - Ron Hockwalt Academies,

and Raymond and Kary Wong – Walnut High.

Distinguished partner awards were presented to Ryan O'Shea MD, Diamond Bar High Class of 2003 - Alumni, SolarMAX Technology, Ching Liu - Business Partner, Nancy Hogg and Denis Paul - Community Partners, Walnut Valley Secondary Music Programs: Diamond Bar and Walnut High Schools, Chaparral, South Pointe, and Suzanne Middle Schools -Education Partners, Walnut Valley Financing Corporation -Leadership Partner, and Walnut Valley Kiwanis Club - Service Partner.

"After hearing all the accomplishments shared about our honorees, the term 'it takes a village' is truly felt here," said Board President Cindy Ruiz who emceed the presentations with Deputy Superintendent Dr. Matthew Witmer.

The celebration of education also featured music by the Cheng, Ray and Carol Gonzales Diamond Bar High Commercial – Chaparral Middle School, Music Program.

The Kenneth Goodson Memorial Scholarship was introduced in honor of the Assistant Superintendent of Business Services who passed away in February.

The event concluded with a surprise Distinguished Leader recognition for Dr. Taylor as Superintendent of the Year.

"I can't tell you how long we've kept this a secret!" Ruiz added.

"It took all these people on stage to come together, including the School Board, Employee Associations, Parent Organizations, and Educational Foundation to pull this off!" Ruiz said.

Star parents were honored for generously giving their time and talents to benefit students and schools.

Three years ago, Cyrus J. Morris Elementary honoree and school alumnus Karen Motus was motivated to spearhead and lead a Science Olympiad team because her children, Kaylee and Elonzo, love science.

"I stayed on as coach because I have been surrounded by students, faculty, and families who enjoy learning about STEAM and the importance of teamwork!" she said.

April Alvarado has been involved in every event at Walnut Elementary during the past seven years. She volunteers to be a room parent for classrooms when they don't have one – even though her children aren't in that class.

"She never hesitates to help," lauded Principal Robert Chang.

Chaparral Middle School band booster parents Terri Lotto, Carrie Cheng, Ray and Carol Gonzales were honored successfully fundraising over $20,000 this year to support out-of-state competitions. They arrive daily to stock, catalog, and sell snacks from the after-school band store.

"The contributions of these three families represent the commitment of this wonderful group of supporters to music, and to the Chaparral band program!" said Principal Ron Thibodeaux.

Rich Nakama volunteers in the Quail Summit Elementary library, virtual desktop (VDI) lab, playground area, and is the logistics person for the Carnival.

"Rich is always the first to arrive and last to leave!" said Principal Frances Weissenberger. ■

DB Woman Arrested for Money Laundering

BY ANTHONY SAUDE

Diamond Bar— A Diamond Bar woman was arrested by FBI agents for fraud, money laundering, embezzlement. and five other counts, after an indictment was issued, according to the US Attorneys

Li Lin Hsu, 40, who formerly worked as an Ameriprise Financial Adviser was arrested by special agents for allegedly embezzling clients' funds that she promised would be invested. Instead Hsu used the money for a $1 million condominium and other personal expenses, the indictment read.

The trial for Hsu is expected to begin June 12 in Santa Ana on the federal charges. If convicted, she could face up to 20 years in federal prison for each of the fraud counts, 10 years on the money laundering count, and 5 years on the obstruction of justice charge.

The indictment also charges Hsu with three counts each of mail and wire fraud, with one count of money laundering and one count of obstruction while employed by Ameriprise, Hsu solicited investments from clients through advertisements in local Chinese-language newspapers, among other ways. She allegedly continued the crime even after her 2015 termination from the company. The indictment contends that Hsu conned 11 victims out of at least $2 million.

Over a five-year period,

According to the indictment, Hsu never invested her clients' money in anything; instead she spent the money on her own personal expenses, such as credit card bills, personal loans and luxury items. It is believed that she even purchased a $1 million condo with some of the

The money laundering charge alleges Hsu used nearly $1 million stolen from one victim to purchase her condo in Diamond Bar. Hsu allegedly attempted to conceal the Real Estate scheme by using some of the stolen money to pay back some of the other victims to throw the authorities off of her trail. She sent her clients bogus account statements with phony investment purchase confirmations. ■

Manhunt for Transient for Rents Skyrocketing? (Part 2)

By Nef CORTEZ

Diamond Bar property values have increased tremendously over the last 8 years, as they have throughout California. Rents have also increased more than 30% for Single Family Residential (SFR) detached homes over that same period of time. This week we will look at the rental rates for Townhomes and Condominiums in Diamond Bar and compare them to the rental rates for SFRs.

The first quarter (3 month period) of 2010 saw the Diamond Bar Townhome and Condominium Median Sales Price at $265,000.00. After dropping a little further in 2011, the Median Sales Price for that segment of the market in Diamond Bar reached $382,000.00 in the First Quarter of 2018. That represents an strong increase of 44.2% in the 8 years, averaging approximately 5.5% annually. The number of sales recorded in this segment of the market in the first quarter of 2010 posted a fairly strong total of 54. The number of recorded Townhome and Condominium sales in Diamond Bar for the first Quarter of 2018 dropped to 33, a steep drop of 39%. For those in the real estate industry, that represents a steep drop in numbers of transactions, almost mirroring the drop in the SFR market.

The number of leases transacted (per the California Regional Multiple Listing service-CRMLS) in the first quarter of 2010 was 76. That number increased by 36.8% to 104 in the first quarter of 2018. It seems that the lower number of recorded sales translated into a higher number of reported lease transactions. This would indicate that an increased number of property owners are choosing to rent out their properties instead of selling them. And why not, with both rental rates and property values increasing, it is a winwin for property owners.

The rental rates for Townhomes and Condominiums in Diamond Bar increased as well. The median lease price for a Townhome/Condominium in Diamond Bar was $1,800.00 in the first quarter of 2010. That number now has reached $2,500.00, representing an increase of 38.9% in the 8 year period. The median lease price for a Single Family Residence in Diamond Bar for the first quarter of 2018 reached $2,860.00, only 10% more than the median lease value for the Townhome/Condominium market.

I wish I had bought more real estate back when...LOL! Seriously!

Did You Know?

Is That 'Junk' in Your Attic or Basement Worth a Fortune?

BY STATEPOINT

From baseball cards and sports equipment to postcards and toys, is that "junk" in your attic or basement dusty treasure or just dusty? We've all heard of families getting rich from the sale of rare memorabilia. So how can you tell if your stuff is valuable and how can you sell it, if it is?

"The general rule is that the older the item, the more valuable it is. 1980 is not old. 1960 is kind of old. 1910 is old," says Al Crisafulli, Auction Director at Love of the Game Auctions, an internet sports auction house that has helped many families identify and sell valuable items.

In one instance, Crisafulli determined that a family's baseball bat that spent decades beside their front door to protect from intruders, was actually used by Hall of Famer Lou Gehrig -- and Love of the Game Auctions sold it for them for more than $430,000.

He is offering these tips to help determine if your items are valuable:

Baseball Cards: Cards from the 1960s and earlier are collectible, and those from before the 1940s can be extremely pricey. Do they have sharp corners, no creases and retain original gloss? Do they depict star players and Hall of Famers? A Babe Ruth, Ty Cobb, Honus Wagner or Mickey Mantle will sell for more than non-stars.

With particularly old cards from the 1880s and early 1900s, look for tobacco and candy brands, such as Old Judge, Piedmont, Sweet Caporal or American Caramel. Unopened packs from almost any era can be valuable.

Memorabilia & Equipment: Look for old advertising posters depicting sports stars and food, tobacco or sporting goods brands. This doesn't mean ads torn from magazines, but those used as store displays and for other purposes. Tin signs are highly collectible from the 1900s into the 1960s, but low-quality reproductions aren't. Pre-1950s catcher's masks, baseball gloves and bats can be valuable, especially those endorsed by star players. Condition is important but used equipment can be valuable.

When you go to sell sports items, consider a special-ty auction, such as Love of the Game, which has the expertise to properly research sports pieces, and maintains lists of bidders specializing in this area so it can get top dollar for these items. More information is available at loveofthegameauctions.com.

Postcards: Postcards of your vacation destinations likely are worthless. But those depicting famous people, such as movie star cards and vintage baseball postcards, can be valuable. Look for early "real photo" postcards from the 1900s through the 1940s, which are photographs printed on postcard backs. No matter the type, the older, the better, and the more famous, the better.

Old Halloween or Christmas postcards from the early 1900s can be expensive. The same goes for many intricate "hold-to-light" postcards, where portions of scenes light up when held to strong light.

Toys: Look for famous characters, such as early Walt Disney items, superheroes, Star Wars, etc. The most prized toys are those in original condition with no broken pieces and paint intact. And if you have original boxes, you might strike gold!

So, while you're cleaning that attic, basement or garage, don't rush to purge. Before throwing out old "junk," determine if it's valuable! ■

History 101

May 12, 1932: Body of Lindbergh Baby Found

By History.com

The body of aviation hero Charles Lindbergh's baby is found on this day in 1932, more than two months after he was kidnapped from his family's Hopewell, New Jersey, mansion.

Lindbergh, who became the first worldwide celebrity five years earlier when he flew The Spirit of St. Louis across the Atlantic, and his wife Anne discovered a ransom note in their 20-monthold child's empty room on March 1. The kidnapper had used a ladder to climb up to the open second-floor window and had left muddy footprints in the room. The ransom note demanded $50,000 in barely literate English.

The crime captured the attention of the entire nation. The Lindbergh family was inundated by offers of assistance and false clues. Even Al Capone offered his help from prison, though it of course was conditioned on his release. For three days, investigators had found nothing and there was no further word from the kidnappers. Then, a new letter showed up, this time demanding $70,000.

It wasn't until April 2 that the kidnappers gave instructions for dropping off the money. When the money was finally delivered, the kidnappers indicated that little baby Charles was on a boat called Nelly off the coast of Massachusetts. However, after an exhaustive search of every port, there was no sign of either the boat or the child.

On May 12, a renewed search of the area near the Lindbergh mansion turned up the baby's body. He had been killed the night of the kidnapping and was found less than a mile from the home. The heartbroken Lindberghs ended up donating the home to charity and moved away.

The kidnapping looked like it would go unsolved until September 1934, when a marked bill from the ransom turned up. Suspicious of the driver who had given it to him, the gas station attendant who had accepted the bill wrote down his license plate number. It was tracked back to a German immigrant, Bruno Hauptmann. When his home was searched, detectives found $13,000 of Lindbergh ransom money.

Hauptmann claimed that a friend had given him the money to hold and that he had no connection to the crime. The resulting trial again was a national sensation. Famous writers Damon Runyan and Walter Winchell covered the trial. The prosecution's case was not particularly strong. The main evidence, apart from the money, was testimony from handwriting experts that the ransom note had been written by Hauptmann and his connection with the type of wood that was used to make the ladder.

Still, the evidence and intense public pressure was enough to convict Hauptmann. In April 1935 he was executed in the electric chair.

Kidnapping was made a federal crime in the aftermath of this high-profile crime. ■

Cooking Time: 30 mins Servings: 4

Nutrition: 520 Calories Ingredients:

- Zucchini- 2
- Red Onion- 1
- Lemon- 1
- Grape Tomatoes- 8 oz Basil- 1/3 oz
- Basil- 1/3 oz
 Whole Whoe
- Whole Wheat Couscous-1 cup
- Veggie Stock Concentrate- 2
- Sumac- 2 tsp
- Grilling Cheese- 8 oz
- Za'atar- 2 tbsp
- 1 PREHEAT AND PREP. Wash and dry all produce. Preheat broiler to high or oven to 500 degrees. Halve zucchini lengthwise, then cut into long, thin wedges. Halve and peel onion, then cut into 1-inch-thick wedges. Finely mince 1 wedge. Zest lemon until you have 1 tsp zest, then cut into wedges. Halve tomatoes. Pick basil leaves from stems; discard stems. Thinly slice leaves.
- 2 COOK COUSCOUS. Heat a drizzle of oil in a small pot over medium-high heat. Add minced onion and couscous. Cook, tossing, until onion is softened and couscous is lightly toasted, 2-3 minutes. Pour in 1 cup water and stock concentrate. Bring to a boil, then lower heat, reduce to a simmer, and cover. Cook until tender, 10-12 minutes.

- 3 COOK VEGGIES. Toss Zucchini, onion wedges, sumac, and a large drizzle of olive oil on a baking sheet. Season with salt and pepper. Broil (or bake) until lightly charred, 10-15 minutes, tossing halfway through.
- 4 COOK GRILLING CHEESE. Heat a drizzle of olive oil in a large pan over medium-high heat (use a nonstick pan if you have one). Take 4 oz grilling cheese (about half the package; we sent more than needed) and cut into 2 large slices. Place za'atar on a plate. Press cheese into za'atar to evenly coat all over. Add to pan and cook until browned, 2-3 minutes per side.
- 5 FINISH COUSCOUS. Transfer couscous to a large bowl once done simmering. Stir in tomatoes, half the basil, a squeeze of lemon juice, and lemon zest. Season with salt and pepper.
- 6 PLATE AND SERVE. Divide couscous between plates. Top with zucchini, onion, and grilling cheese. Garnish with remaining basil and serve with remaining lemon wedges on the side for squeezing over. ■

The Iron Complaint

By Clark's Nutrition

Iron has long been used as a therapy for weakness throughout history, even when the purveyors of this remedy knew nothing of its ability to mitigate weakness or lethargy. Hippocrates, the father of medicine, would recommend ferruginous (rich in iron) water treatments to individuals suffering from what was termed "chlorosis" or iron-deficiency anemia. It made sense to the Greeks that a condition of weakness (anemia) should be met with an element of strength (iron). The god of war, Ares, was associated with the element iron as it was the chief component in his spear (bronze-tipped) and shield, and was a symbol of strength. Yet aside from mythology, iron as a real cause and therefore treatment of lethargy, weakness, and a slew of other symptoms is well understood today and is one of the most researched and well-understood elements in the human diet.

Iron is important for metabolism (energy production), affects many hormones, such as thyroid hormone and testosterone, and is crucial for growth and normal development throughout life. While isolated iron deficiency is fairly uncommon in the US, infants, teenage girls, pregnant and lactating mothers, postmenopausal women, and those with poor diets are at a heightened risk. It is important to receive regular checkups and comply with doctor orders if diagnosed as deficient or anemic. Iron requirements change as we age and range from 8 milligrams (mgs) to 18 mgs and goes as high as 27 milligrams in pregnant and lactating

Iron deficiency is commonly observed as anemia which may have some of the following symptoms:

Weakness, feelings of coldness Decreased work and school performance

Slow cognitive or social development Decreased immune function.

Decreased immune function.
In nature, iron may be found bound to "heme" or without heme. Heme is a nitrogen-based cyclical structure that is a part of hemoglobin found in red blood cells, and myoglobin found in muscles that carry the oxygen we breathe to cells and carbon dioxide away from cells. Heme iron (found in animal foods) and nonheme iron (plant-based) may be absorbed differently and will certainly be found in different concentrations depending on the makeup of one's diet. .

Iron from animal sources may be absorbed up to 35% and iron from plant sources may be 20% absorbed, yet this does not mean a non-meat eater needs to consume meat sources of iron. Iron needs in the body are closely regulated and our ability to absorb iron is based on our need to absorb iron. If we are deficient in iron, our body will absorb more in the gastrointestinal tract and if we are "topped" off in our tissues, we will absorb less. Therefore, iron absorption is more an issue of need than an actual issue of source.

The majority of iron supplements are the non-heme variety and absorption is increased when eaten with foods high in vitamin C such as orange juice, bell peppers, broccoli, and strawberries or with a vitamin C supplement (100-250 mgs). It should come as no surprise that the majority of iron consumption in the US comes from breads and grain-based desserts. Here are some excellent iron sources for anyone to include:

Heme (animal) iron sources
Liver, beef, & chicken
Clams & oysters
Salmon & tuna,
Non heme (plant) iron sources
Lentils & beans
Spinach & pumpkin seeds
Fortified cereals and grains

We have an evolved ability in today's day and age to be diagnosed and remedy many things that afflict us. Luckily, iron deficiency is no longer viewed as a person's lack of war-like aggression and treated with Ares' spear. If you have been diagnosed with iron deficiency and given the go-ahead to seek out iron rich foods or supplements, speak to a nutritional consultant today and explore your iron needs. As always, have a healthy day!

30 Years (Part One)

By Mark Hopper

Thirty years is a long time. It is almost a third of a century.

But, that is how long we have lived in Diamond Bar, California. I began my new job as the pastor of our church on June 1, 1988 -30 years ago. My wife and kids stayed in Arizona waiting for our house to sell while I began work at the church. I lived by myself in a condo near Pathfinder and Diamond Bar Blvd. The condo belonged to a widow who was in poor health and she was living with her family. So I was on my own for about six weeks.

Although I missed my family during that time, I had a lot of time to get to know the community and people in the church. I was able to visit most of the church families and several of them invited me to dinner in their homes. In addition, I enjoyed delicious chocolate chip cookies and other snacks that came to my door during those days.

When our house finally sold in Arizona, I flew home to pack up and move to California. With four kids and a four bedroom house, we had a lot of stuff to move. We rented a U-Haul Truck - the biggest they made ment was fun. It felt like we towing the biggest trailer they made! Friends in Arizona helped us load everything in to the truck and trailer and new friends in California helped us unload it. We could not have done it without their help.

We moved into the Daisy apartments (now the Hillside apartments) on Grand Avenue across from the Fire station. We unloaded some things into this two bedroom apartment, but most of our things would need to be put in storage. When I drove this giant truck and trailer down the exit driveway, it got stuck. The trailer hitch got caught on the pavement and the back wheels of the truck were lifted off the ground. The truck was stuck and we couldn't move! It was quite a sight.

I ran over to the fire station and asked for help, but they didn't know what to do either. Finally, I called the U-Haul hot line and they sent a tow truck from Sana Ana to help. The tow truck driver hitched a heavy chain on to the front bumper of the truck. The firemen blocked oncoming traffic and the tow truck dragged us down the driveway and on to Grand Avenue while I was sitting in the truck using the brakes so I wouldn't hit the tow truck in front of me. It was a memorable start to our new life in Diamond Bar.

Our life at the Daisy apart-were on vacation. It was a little crowded with four kids and two adults, but it had a pool, spa and tennis court. I would go to work each day and my wife and kids enjoyed "vacation" at the Daisy apartments!

I usually took Monday as my day off, so we began to go to the beach on Mondays. We usually went to Newport Beach and we usually stopped at Thrifty Drug store to get a scoop of ice cream on the way to the beach. This became a weekly routine. Eventually the kids began to invite friends to come with us. The summer of '88 was a summer to remember.

In the first book in the Bible (Genesis) there is the record of Abraham leaving his home in Ur near the Persian Gulf and traveling to a land called Canaan (Israel). The Bible says that Abraham went in faith, following the call of God on his life. Abraham packed up his family and his possessions and traveled to a land he had never seen before. It was a journey of faith.

We packed up our family and our possessions and traveled to a community we had never heard of called Diamond Bar. It was a journey of faith for us too. We are thankful that the Lord led us to this special community and to this special church.

Believe You Can and You Will

By Nancy Stoops

for moment think about your mindset regarding yourself.

What is your internal dialogue? Do you tend to tell yourself you can and so you do or do you tell yourself you can't so you don't. Also what is that mindset based on and is it really your truth. If you believe you can't think about all that you have already done successfully and learn to challenge that lie that holds you hostage. I bet you are all much more capable then your mind tells you. Take out a piece of paper and fold it in half and write done all the lies. Write down all of the lies that hold you hostage. Now on the other side ride down your truths based what you have already done successfully. Now make as many copies of this paper and take it with you everywhere and place them all over your house. Next time you are believing you can't the truth will remind you that you are already have been successful. Pretty soon you will be storing the truth in your mind and know you can and so you will.

Learn to challenge the incorrect believe system that has always held you back from being who you are intended to be. The truth literally does set us free. I was raised to believe I could fly. This mindset has honored me with a life of blessings and success. Learn to believe in yourself and in your capabilities. The truth is if you believe you can do something and work really hard anything is possible. Believe you can and you will. Our mindset literally is a road map for our lives.

Our mindset acts as a designer for our entire lives. I hope you will take the time to change your mindset and take the opportunity to grow into the best version of you.

of Kansas in 1966, David was a dedicated Jayhawk sports fan his entire life. He obtained his doctorate in political science from Stanford University. David enlisted in the Air Force during the Vietnam War years, there he taught at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado. After his years in the service he taught at Brown University and at the Naval War College in Newport, Rhode Island. In the early 90's he changed life direction and moved to Los Angeles, joining Hitchcock Automotive Resources.

David's long list of professional accomplishments and accolades are remarkable but his community and public service efforts are what defined him in his life. As a longtime elected Trustee for Mount San Antonio College in Walnut, California, David mentored countless students and helped transform the college. He always made time to meet with students privately, advise them on career paths and participate in campus events. Annually, he'd even perform in some of the on campus stage shows to help raise funds for student scholarships.

Everything David committed to he did with dedication, passion in an approachable, coachable and infectious way. His sense of humor was contagious allowing him to elicit laughter even in tense situations. He was a practical joker, never missing a chance to play a trick on a close friend or colleague. Endearingly, he found his own antics very funny.

David was so many things to so many people: a teacher, a friend, a confidant, a mentor, a public servant, a philanthropist, a partner and a leader. While his soul is laid to rest, his legacy

David is Survived by his Fiancé Earnestine Tu, and his two brothers Bruce and Roger

A close friend of David's. Michael Armijo said," He had a strong genuine concern for the community, he was constantly trying to help people and he gave his heart to the residents. He was like a brother to me, he always made time".

Celebration of Life services will be held at Mt. San Antonio College on May 11th at 9:30 am in the Clark auditorium.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Dr. David K. Hall Business Scholarship.
