OUR MISSION

Ante Up, YOUR Poker Magazine, is dedicated to everyday poker players and their poker rooms.

Congratulations!

We here at Ante Up always enjoy being able to pass on congratulations to worthy recipients, especially for lifetime achievements and once-in-a-lifetime victories.

So, of course, we'd like to take this time and space to congratulate Joe McKeen of Pennsylvania for winning the World Series of Poker Main Event in dominating fashion. Be sure to check out our story on Page 12.

But we'd also like to congratulate Jennifer Harman and John Juanda for being inducted into the Poker Hall of Fame. While winning the WSOP world title is quite a remarkable feat these days, succeeding as a high-stakes poker pro for decades, both at cash games and the world's largest tournaments, is incredibly impressive and not to be dismissed lightly.

And we have to admit, we hold a special place in the annals of Ante Up for Harman. She was one of the first A-list pros who agreed to grace our fledgling Ante Up PokerCast back in the day.

We realize she has done thousands of interviews in her career and wouldn't remember chatting with us, but it left a lasting impression on these Ante Up publishers. And we'll never forget her adorable dogs barking in the background as we peppered her with questions.

While we realize Barbara Enright, the only female player to make a WSOP main event final table, was the first woman inducted in this hall, Harman's induction feels more like walls coming down in the Good ol' Boys Club, and poker can use a lot more of that.

We'll see you at the tables.

— Christopher Cosenza and Scott Long

MEET BRYSEN JANSEN

Muckleshoot Casino in Auburn, Wash., hired Brysen Jansen as poker room manager nearly two years ago.

He came to poker the way many of us did, from the outside looking in at the beginning of the poker boom. In his case, this was literally the truth as he was dealing in the pit tables just outside the enclosed poker room at Muckleshoot, watched the increasing crowds pushing through the doors.

He switched to dealing poker and liked the more convivial atmosphere of the poker table vs. the more serious gambling going on in the pit. His biggest poker thrill was dealing the hand that hit a $272K bad-beat jackpot. Three years ago, the then-poker room manager took him under her wings as a floor supervisor. His strategy for the poker room is to get all the poker business in the area with superior customer service. He often takes dealers aside to discuss how the room can improve and he also makes great use of promotional money. — Jay Zeman room also has some great cash-game promotions, including extra tournament chips for playing live. Players earn an extra 1K tournament chips for bringing in any non-perishable food item to the casino.

STONES GAMBLING HALL: Promotions at the Citrus Heights property are in full swing. The $100 and $200 Rack Attacks run at 3, 4, 9, 10 p.m. and midnight. Also, $100 and $200 Aces Cracked runs from noon-1 p.m., 6-7 and 1-2 a.m. Players can earn double points by playing midnight-noon. Stones also offers wheel spins when you hit a royal flush where you can earn 1X, 2X or 3X your winning total.

TURLOCK POKER ROOM: Santa's No-Limit Bounty is Dec. 13 at noon. The $100 event has a $5K guarantee as players receive 10K chips and 20-minute levels with some special bounties included. For every elf you knock out, you'll receive $50 and if you knock out Santa, you'll get $250. Santa will be playing for the Haven Women's Center of Stanislaus County in Modesto.

PETE'S 881 CLUB: This sports bar-restaurant has the only poker room in Marin County. On Mondays, there's an $80 event with $20 rebuys at 6 p.m. The same event runs on Saturdays at noon. On Sunday at 4, a $120 buy-in event has $100 re-entries. The main tournament is the first Sunday of the month ($220, 20K chips, $100 unlimited re-entries before the first break).

ORLEANS IS WORTH MAKING A VISIT

The Orleans, the popular locals favorite on Tropicana Boulevard, two miles west of the Las Vegas Strip, is a worthwhile stop for visitors. If you don't have a car, you can get there and back via a shuttle bus that runs every 45 minutes to and from the center of the Strip. If you don't mind staying off the Strip, the hotel has some of the best room rates in town.

The poker room recently changed its tournament schedule and it's not all no-limit hold'em. Mondays and Saturdays at noon is $75 Omaha/8. The same tournament runs Thursdays at 7. Wednesdays at noon is a $75 Omaha/8-stud/8 event. Tuesdays at 7 is $100 PLO while Sundays at 7 is a $100 HORSE tournament. All of these tournaments have 20-minute levels and 10K stacks.

There are two superstack turbo NLHE tournaments on the schedule: Mondays at 7 ($100) and Fridays at noon ($75). These tournaments have 15-minute levels and players start with 20K chips.

Bounty tournaments run Wednesdays and Saturdays at 7 for $125 ($25 bounty). Tuesdays and Thursdays at noon are $75 NLHE events. These also have 20-minute levels and 10K stacks.

The most popular regular NLHE tournament in town runs Friday at 7 p.m. ($125, 12,500 chips, 30-minute levels).

A nice variety of cash games are always available. No-limit players enjoy the $1-$3 game with a $100 minimum and a $500 maximum. During busier times, you can find a $2-$5 game ($200-$500 min-max). Multiple limit hold'em and Omaha/8 games are available, too.

Hold'em and Omaha games have progressive bad-beat jackpots. Promos change monthly, so ask about them. Recent promos have included high hands of the hour, big bonuses for high hands during certain hours, cash rewards for playing the most hours during a month and cash drawings.

MIRAGE: Daily tournaments have been added at 2 p.m. and 10 p.m. to join the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. tournaments. Most days these have a $65 buy-in for 10K chips with 20-minute levels.

"The Stack" tournament has been a popular Saturday fixture for years and is running on Fridays and Sundays, too.

It starts at 11 a.m. and offers players a 25K starting stack with 25-minute levels. The regular 7 p.m. tournaments on Fridays and Saturdays are now $100 events. Both nights the starting stack is 15K, and on Friday there's a $25 bounty. Levels are 20 minutes.

Promos for the cash games include a bad-beat jackpot, high hands ($100 for quads, $200 for straight flushes, $500 for royals) and $75 for Aces Cracked (8 a.m.-2 p.m.). The most popular cash games are $1-$2 NLHE ($100-$300 min-max) and a $3-$6 limit game with a $30 minimum buy-in.

SUNCOAST: The locals room in Summerlin has started spreading a big cash game. It starts every Tuesday at 6 p.m. and is $2-$5 NLHE. The game has a mandatory button straddle and the buy-in is $500 minimum and $3K maximum.

HARRAH'S: The mid-Strip room is running a $10-$20 HORSE game Tuesday nights at 6. Added to the traditional HORSE mix is deuce-to-seven triple-draw. The game is being dubbed "HorseT." The stud games have a $1 ante, a $3 bring-in and a $10 completion. The minimum buy-in is $100. After just a few weeks, it's filling up with a healthy waitlist.

VENETIAN: Berzad Teranie of California won the $1,600 Deep Stack Main Event for $66K. He outlasted Anuj Agarwal ($60K), also from California, and Nemesio Alegado of Illinois ($53K). The prize pool was $420K with nearly 290 entries.

The Winter Weekend Extravaganza will be Dec. 9-13. The highlight is a $250 event with three starting days beginning Dec. 10.

It offers a $100K guarantee. Single-day tournaments between $125 and $200 are scheduled and all events have guarantees.

New Year's Extravaganza returns as well. It runs Dec. 25-Jan. 10. That's a bit longer than past New Year's events. The big event is a $400 tournament that's part of the River Card tour and has a $150K guarantee.

The two starting dates are Jan. 1 and 2. There's also a three-starting-flight $250 event that starts Dec. 27 with a $100K guarantee. On Jan. 6, a four-starting-flight $250 tournament features a $150K guarantee. The other tournaments are single-day affairs priced between $125 and $300. Again, all events have guarantees.

WYNN: Pennsylvania's Joseph McKeehen, just before winning WSOP main event at the November Nine, took down the championship event of the Wynn Fall Classic, earning $90K. Seth Berger of New York earned $60K for second and Jeff Roberson of Nevada won $38K for third. The $1,600 buy-in had more than 260 entrants and a $388K prize pool.

BELLAGIO: The WPT Five Diamond World Poker Classic runs Dec. 4-20. The $10,400 main event begins Dec. 14 and runs to Dec. 19. If that isn't a big enough buy-in for you, you can enter the $100K Alpha 8 event Dec. 18.

Other events include a $10,400 PLO tournament Dec. 10 and a pair of two-day seniors events, one priced at $1,090 on Dec. 7 and one at $1,600 on Dec. 10. NLHE events priced between $500 and $5,000 round out the schedule.

MCKEEHEN DOMINATES, WINS WSOP, $7.6 MILLION

Joseph McKeehen, the 24-year-old pro poker player from the Philadelphia suburb of North Wales, Pa., put on one of the most dominant performances in November Nine history, bringing to close the 46th annual World Series of Poker at the Rio All-Suite Hotel and Casino in Las Vegas by pocketing a whopping $7.6 million.

It's his first WSOP victory, and what a title it is, besting more than 6,400 players. "This is definitely the greatest accomplishment anyone can have in this game," McKeehen after his win. "I was always confident I could make money playing the game professionally, but to get this really proves something."

Josh Beckley was runner-up ($4.4M) followed by 61-year-old Neil Blumenthal ($3.3M).

Also, longtime popular pros Jennifer Harman and John Juanda were elected to the Poker Hall of Fame, becoming the 49th and 50th members. Juanda, 44, has five WSOP bracelets and more than $16M in tournament earnings while Harman, 50, has more than $2.5M in tournament earnings and two bracelets, but it's her prowess at the world's biggest cash games that makes her remarkable.

RENO/LAKE TAHOE

HARVEYS LAKE TAHOE WSOPC: Robert Georato won the World Series of Poker Circuit Main Event, earning his third WSOPC ring and $153,505. This is the biggest tournament cash of Georato's career. He's a retired math teacher that plays poker professionally. It's also the third time he has qualified for the Casino Global Championship. He beat nearly 480 players.

PACIFIC NORTHWEST

Tulalip Casino's new 12-table poker room will have its revamped "Poker Pow Wow" on Jan. 22-31, featuring a $520 main event with $10K added and three Day 1s.

All other tournaments also have added money or guarantees, so a good time will be had by all.

The opening event will be a good preview to the main, a $235 buy-in NLHE tourney with $5K added and a pair of Day 1s (Jan. 22-23) and a final Day 2 on Jan. 24.

For those who need practice before next summer's World Series of Poker, Jan. 25 will be a $150 pot-limit Omaha event with a $10K guarantee. The next day is a $225 seniors event with a $12K guarantee, which was won by Ante Up ambassador Jay Zeman last year so here's your chance to knock him off his throne.

If you didn't get enough PLO on Jan. 25, then Jan. 27 is a $235 PLO event with a $12K guarantee.

The main event begins the next day and runs till Jan. 31.

Tulalip is the fifth-largest poker room in the region. It routinely spreads NLHE games with $1-$3 and $3-$5 blinds and PLO games with $2-$2, $5-$5 and $5-$10-$25 blinds (subject to the Washington state-mandated $500 limit per bet, of course). ♠

HOT POKER SPOT: Bucky's has joined Casino Del Sol Resort in becoming the second Arizona poker room to offer the Hot Poker Spot side bet. This is a side bet players can make during a hold'em cash game in which players can win $1K for a $1 wagered in the designated side-bet spot.

At press time, the Hard Rock Poker Open was kicking off, so look for results in a future issue. Significant for the region in this series' schedule is a $550 six-game mix featuring NLHE, deuce-to-seven triple-draw (and single draw), PLO, stud/8 and Omaha/8.

INDIGO SKY CASINO: A real value is the poker newsletter distributed via email that includes a monthly tournament calendar and upcoming promotional information. It's found on the casino website as well but often the calendar appears in the newsletter first. Tournaments offer buy-ins of $35-$66 and include crazy pineapple, seniors and bounty. KANSAS

AMERISTAR CASINO KANSAS CITY: A bad-beat jackpot of more than $170K tops the promotions. Mini bad-beats are also paid out starting with jacks full. Players can play four hours and get a $15 food comp and be one of the first five players each day to get their aces beaten to win $100. Featured games include $4-$8 hold'em with a kill every Wednesday and Friday to $5-$10 Omaha/8 with a kill beginning at 6 p.m. every Friday.

HOLLYWOOD CASINO KANSAS SPEEDWAY: This comfortable room offers USB ports at the tables as well as $1-a-minute massage service. Players can use the "Display Clock Data" feature on the Bravo poker app when a tournament is running to view number of players, prize pool and blind levels.

HARRAH'S NORTH KANSAS CITY: Dec. 13 is the last day players can qualify into a $10K freeroll on Dec. 20. The top 25 players based upon hours played and the top 25 players based upon qualifier points earned on all daily tournaments will advance.

KANSAS STAR CASINO: The 13-table room continues to offer a NFL splash-pot promotion Thursday nights for every touchdown. Games begin at 7:25. New is an Aces Cracked promotion after midnight Fridays where you can in $100-$500.

Alternate Sunday tournament play in December is the $75 Multi-Level tournament with $750. Be sure to ask about the details of these events when you visit the room.

And don't forget the $20K Texas Ho Ho Hold'em event on Dec. 13 at 11 a.m. The buy-in is $230 and to register be sure to call 575-464-7799

SANDIA RESORT AND CASINO: Lots of change going on here, including new management. Ante Up would like to welcome Clarence Hilton, who is heading up a bunch of new promotions. Some are still in the works, but one allows players to win a Mercedes-Benz. For more details, call the poker room. Also, the bad-beat jackpot surpassed $100K at press time.

ROUTE 66 CASINO: Players can enjoy three daily events with the first beginning at noon throughout the week and December weekends. The buy-ins range from $14-$33. Female players were especially happy with the recent $85 women's hold'em tournament because the buy-in was $1,100 for any men who insisted on playing. There were no takers.

BUFFALO THUNDER RESORT AND CASINO: Every player with 45 hours of live play from Nov. 1-Dec. 24 will receive $50 to $599 in the Holiday Race for Cash promotion.

THOMPSON SHINES IN DAYTONA HPT

The Heartland Poker Tour Main Event at Daytona Beach Kennel Club was the poker room's largest HPT yet, as 389 players from all over the country generated a $575K prize pool. Staying true to its roots, the heart of the final table was stacked with homegrown players such as Tallahassee's Jared Reinstein and Jacksonville's David Jackson, Andrew Dykeman and Dalton Mills. Mills finished second in his last HPT final table but this time he came up short of the televised final table in 10th place for the second time in his HPT career.

But it was Winter Park pro Corey Thompson who took down the title, more than tripling his best live tournament cash, pocketing $131K. On the final hand, Thompson's pocket 10s cooled Steve Karp's pocket nines. Karp earned $81,326 for second.

The preliminary series also were the most successful to date with record turnouts for each event, including 118 for the $165 seniors, which was chopped for $2.9K each between Ormond Beach's Jim White and Orlando's Clay Taul. Other big winners included Alan Phillips and David Prociak and Jason Loposilvero, who split Event 1 for $11.6K each.

This was HPT's seventh visit to Daytona Beach since 2011. Denver's Corey Zedo finished fifth for $28,350. He plans to apply a portion of the winnings toward motorcycle upgrades.

BESTBET JACKSONVILLE: At press time, the Bounty Scramble $5K Main Event was under way. The preliminary series had wrapped up and was the most successful to date. The Player of the Series was Palm Coast's Johnny Ear, who won Event 1 ($200 NLHE), toppling 851 players to earn $23K. A week later, Ear was at the final table of Event 6, which boasted a field of 613 players and a $183K prize pool. He wouldn't fare as well, finishing fifth, but it was enough to earn him POS and entry into the $5K, $1 million guarantee main event. He also posted another final-table appearance for $4.2K in Event 16.

Denis Gnidash from Fair Lawn, N.J., took down Event 16, which is considered the hardest undercard event of the series. The $2,100 buy-in with $500 bounties attracts a tough field of pros looking to warm up for the main event. Gnidash took home $32K after a three-way split with 2013 WSOP champ Ryan Riess and Sam Phillips.

LOUISIANA

COUSHATTA CASINO: The annual $550 Fall Blowout tournament drew 112 players and when the tournament reached the bubble stage (13 players left), the negotiated a chop of the $54,320 prize pool. Overwhelming chipleader, Jeremy Tinsley,

MEET DAVID BENNETT

David Bennett is an avid poker player who lives in the Tampa Bay area, but don't call him a pro.

How long have you been playing and what are your goals/aspirations with the game? I started playing poker around 2007. My initial focus was on the cash games, but shortly after moving to Florida in 2010, I began playing a lot of local tournaments. Two weeks after moving to Florida, I won $78K in a tournament at Derby Lane (in St. Petersburg) and have been hooked ever since. Though poker has been my main source of income for the past five years, I still do not consider myself a professional poker player. My main goal is just to continue to improve my game and become more consistent with my play. I believe consistency is what truly separates the pros from the skilled amateurs. I feel if I continue to work at it, the results will come naturally.

Why did you start the Derby Lane Poker League two years ago?

(It's) a way to offer some of the local players an opportunity to win their way into larger buy-in tournaments. We play once a week and members are awarded points for finishing in the top five. This year, we will be sending five of the 27 members to Las Vegas for the WSOP. Though very competitive, the league has a family feel to it. Members are always very supportive and genuinely want each other to succeed outside of league play. — Andrew Malowitz received the biggest portion ($9,661) for first place. Bruce Soileau was second ($8,369).

Said tournament director Darron Simon: "We're interested in making this a multiple-starting-day tournament in January to increase participation and prize money for the players."

The Winter Classic runs Dec. 9-13 (See the ad on Page 36).

ISLE OF CAPRI: Poker room manager David "Stew" Stewart has returned to the Lake Charles Casino's eight-table poker room. Stewart briefly left the Isle to open and manage the six-table poker room across the lake at the Golden Nugget Lake Charles. It didn't take Stew long to realize he missed his "home" and is eager to return the Isle of Capri as the premiere poker room in southwest Louisiana. He has introduced quite a few player promotions and new tournaments to the weekly schedule. Check out the poker room's website or find it on Bravo.

Ante Up Poker Cruises hit the high seas for its first back-to-back sailings in late October, beginning with a 13-night voyage from Boston to Tampa, with stops in five exotic southern Caribbean islands, including St. Lucia, where Ante Up publisher Scott Long, poker room manager Ramze Sleiman and passengers Brent Philbin, Sharon Beauchamp and Bobby Beauchamp ziplined through a rainforest.

On the second half of the voyages, a packed poker room offered players plenty of tournament and cash-game action, plus three free poker courses and an open-bar cocktail party.

Philbin, pictured with Ante Up dealers Nicolle Provoste Serruys and Jennifer Brady, won the $20 rebuy tournament that was so fast and furious with rebuys and add-ons that it generated a $3,648 prize pool, while veteran Ante Up cruiser Vic Sabo was declared the champion of the $100 main event after a three-way deal was reached.

BAY AREA HITS IT BIG AT PPC ARUBA

The Poker Players Championship is one of the favorite tournament series in the bay area, with stops in Ocala, Naples/Ft. Myers and Tampa Bay Downs. These series send many players to Aruba for the PPC World Championship. Of the 10 players who made the final table, four were from the Central Florida poker area and the champion has a home in Tampa. The four Central Florida finalists were David Kidd (eighth, Naples, $11,360), Steve Trizis (seventh, St. Petersburg, $15,147), Danny Lobado (second, Tampa, $62,480) and PPC world champ Vincent Fiorenza (Oviedo, $106,027). Fiorenza also won the HPT Daytona Beach stop last year, defeating local pro Carlos Loving. And this is the second six-figure score of Fiorenza's career.

With the conclusion of the world championship comes the end of the player-of-the-year race, which went to Tampa Bay player Allen Wiseman. With 10 cashes for more than $60K this past season, Wiseman earned the POY title and entries into the North American Championship at the Silks Poker Room and the World Championship in Aruba.

HARD ROCK TAMPA: The Winter Open runs Dec. 3-20 and will include numerous guarantees, a ladies event, a seniors event, PLO and four multiday events ($150 buy-in/$50K guarantee; $350/$150K; $560/$200K and $1,650/$300K).

DERBY LANE: The St. Petersburg poker room has added guarantees to many daily tournaments. Sundays will have a $5K guarantee on the 1 p.m. $150 tournament. Tuesdays will be a Player Appreciation $207 event ($200 to the prize pool) and will have a $15K guarantee. Check the Derby Lane calendar to see when your favorite tournament will be running.

FT. MYERS-NAPLES GREYHOUND: The popular Miller & Moulton celebrity event is Dec. 17 ($75, 7 p.m.).

MISSOURI

HOLLYWOOD CASINO: The St. Louis property has launched a unique new promotion called Sets Cracked. This promo pays players whose pocket pairs make a set, full house or quads and lose to another pocket pair. An interesting aspect of this promotion is though each player must hold a pocket pair, both hole cards do not have to play to qualify. This means your set still gets paid when it loses to a four-card straight or flush, provided the winning player is holding a pocket pair. Each rank (deuces through aces) has its own $100 daily jackpot that increases by $25 for every day that it does not hit. That's at least $1,300 up for grabs every day.

AMERISTAR CASINO: Kane Lai, the doctor from Highlands Ranch, Colo., ran well and played even better on the way to his first HPT victory ($150,593).

Lai's final opponent was logger Chris Cornell as they got all of the chips in the middle with Lai holding a better flush. Cornell, a Clarksville, Tenn., native, earned $92,055.

DIAZ POCKETS $134K AT ISLE OPEN

The Isle Poker Room in Pompano Beach closed out its rotation of four major tournament series in late October with the conclusion of the Isle Open main event, as the $1,500 buy-in tourney easily surpassed the $500K prize pool guarantee with 477 entries.

The event attracted many of South Florida's top players, including Maurice Hawkins of West Palm Beach, who sat in to play just one day after arriving home from a top-50 finish in the World Series of Poker Europe Main Event in Berlin, and Parkland's Matt Waxman. Hawkins finished 25th and Waxman was eliminated in 21st place.

On the final day after Lenny Duvdivani of Sunrise and Dmitry Agrachov of Weston went out in sixth and fifth place, respectively, the final four launched into a marathon session that lasted several hours. But shortly after Hans Winzeler was eliminated, the final three players agreed to chop, handing the trophy to David Diaz, a WSOP bracelet-winner in 2011.

Diaz, who finished second over the summer in the main event of the WSOPC at the Palm Beach Kennel Club, collected $134,523 for the victory while Evan Teitlebaum, also of Parkland, took home $110K for second. Joey Couden of Blacklick, Ohio, cashed in third for $90K.

For Couden, it was a breakout second-half in 2015 after three cashes at the World Series, as this was his third major final table after a victory at the Florida State Poker Championship in August at the Isle. Diaz (No. 341) and Couden (No. 345) are ranked in the Global Poker Index.

HARD ROCK HOLLYWOOD: The casino continues to expand its association with two major poker entities: the World Poker Tour and the Poker Night in America. The WPT returns for its regular mid-April appearance with the Seminole Hard Rock Showdown. However, the WPT also revealed it is doing away with the WPT World Championship, which was at the Borgata last April, and would be replacing it with a new event called the WPT Tournament of Champions, scheduled for April 21-23 at Hard Rock Hollywood, immediately after the Showdown. All Season XIV champions will receive an automatic invite and will have their airfare and hotel accommodations paid for, and members of the WPT Champions Club can buy-in for $15,400. This means no players will be allowed to participate that have not won a WPT event.

"The season-ending WPT Tournament of Champions will truly be a championship event," WPT CEO Adam Pliska said.

As for PNIA, it will cover the Rock 'n' Roll Open final table (Nov. 27-Dec. 2) and bring back televised high-stakes cash games, including the return of an all-ladies table.

"We're looking forward to the anticipated encore of Ladies Night," said Jason Newman, director of poker marketing for Seminole Gaming.

The WPT also announced the facility would host a WPT DeepStacks event Jan. 14-18 with a $1,100 buy-in.

MARDI GRAS: Some of David Litvin's friends and employees refer to him as the "King of the Freeroll" because the director of the Big Easy Poker Room has had tremendous success with small nightly events and a major guaranteed freeroll about once a month. So, with the holidays rolling around, December will feature two freerolls at the Hallandale facility. The first will be Dec. 6 at 1 p.m. and will feature a $10K guarantee, but the tournament fills up quickly, so getting your free ticket shortly after they become available at 10 a.m. that day is advisable. Big Easy will up the ante with a special freeroll on New Year's Eve at 7 p.m. with a $15K guarantee. It will feature a special $500 high-hand giveaway unique to the tournament, with qualifying during the first 30 minutes of action after the break. Litvin talked about the continued success of the events paying for themselves.

"We always have at least 150 players at the rebuy period, so the interest is still there," he said. "These freerolls attract people that will eventually play cash games, but most people treat it as a great value, knowing they will spend some rebuy money to have a shot at a really nice prize pool."

MISSISSIPPI

GOLDEN NUGGET: The Biloxi poker room does a great job of keeping its tournament and promotions updated on its website. Visit goldennugget.com and select the Biloxi property for specifics. Highlights this winter include a breakfast or lunch buffet for anyone playing at least three hours of live action, live and tournament bad-beat jackpots and tons of fun high hand/splash-the-pot opportunities.

SCARLET PEARL RESORT AND CASINO: Expect lots of fun promotions when this property opens Dec. 9 in D'iberville.

BEAU RIVAGE: Poker room manager Johnny Grooms also does a great job of keeping monthly live promotions fresh and exciting. Check out beaupoker.com for a calendar and break down of everything going on for the remainder of 2015, which includes the popular "Lose an Omaha hand with four unpaired wheel cards or two aces and two wheel cards and win $100." Simple, to the point, easy money. Can't beat that.

PEARL RIVER RESORT: In the middle of the state, table games administrator Neal Atkinson has some crazy good promotions in his poker room. Check out pearlriverresort.com for details. Highlights include a prime-time Aces Cracked promo awarding prizes from $30-$225 and a "suited card splash the pot" where a single suited flop awards a hearty pot splash with additional money awarded if the turn and the river are also the same suit.

HORSESHOE TUNICA: Up in the northern end of the state, get your tournament fix here every Saturday. The $12K guarantee with just a $150 buy-in is the best value in the state for a guaranteed prize pool. It's a veritable who's who of local poker, too, where every week familiar faces gather to compete in the tourney and then hit the live games for action that lasts the rest of the weekend. Tournament details can be found at caesars.com and just follow the prompts to the Tunica property.

AMERISTAR VICKSBURG: Chan Pelton captured the HPT main event and $42,560. The rancher from College Station, Texas, took over the chip lead with seven players left and never relinquished the lead. ♠

KACHITTAVONG WINS WPF AT FOXWOODS

After a four-way chop, Soukha Kachittavong walked away with the trophy of the Foxwoods World Poker Finals Main Event, which drew 243 entries for a $589,275 prize pool in Ledyard, Conn. Kachittavong and Je Wook Oh, who was second, each earned $76,037.

The third-place finisher, Matthew Wantman, actually earned the most, pocketing $107K, while Ryan Mostafa finished fourth ($70,037).

Robert Campion, who was fifth, $34,767 to his bankroll.

Playing out of Woonsocket, R.I., Kachittavong increased his live earnings to $372,582. The cash, his fifth at this year's World Poker Finals, was the richest of his career.

A New York resident, Oh pushed his career take to $604,235. He has 27 cashes in 2015, including a pair at the World Series of Poker, where he was 86th in the main event. Wantman's cash was his best live showing, bringing his career earnings to $507,903. He's cashed 28 times this year, five of those at the WSOP.

Mostafa, from Stamford, Conn., has made more than $190K on the live circuit. The first cash of his career came at Foxwoods in July 2012.

The payout took Campion's winnings to $76,364. A New York resident, he has cashed 10 times, the first coming at the 2014 World Poker Finals.

The sixth-place finisher was Evan Paushter, who earned $27,696. Peter Sennon collected $22,392 for seventh.

Some of the undercard events winners include Robert Pasaretta of Pascoag, R.I., who captured the final $300 Big Stack for $6,296, and Robert Courtney of Millbury, Mass., who won the seniors event for $11,507.

The MegaStack Challenge, which runs Dec. 4-14, has more than $1 million in guarantees, including a $300K guarantee for the $1,650 main event, which has two flights on Dec. 12 and concludes the next day. Other interesting events from the series include the $600 opening event, which has a $500K guarantee and three Day 1s, and a $400 event on Dec. 9, which has a $100K guarantee and two starting flights that day with Day 2 on Dec. 10.

And finally, save the date as the poker room will join Ante Up and Blue Shark Optics to host a Restock the Shelves tournament on Jan. 18. Call the poker room for details.

MOHEGAN SUN: There are lots of $85 bounty events this month, pretty much daily at 10 a.m., but the highlight might just be the $230 Holiday Hangover event, which sports five

MEET MATT GLANTZ

Matt Glantz is a popular poker pro who recently ended his run as Parx Poker Room Ambassador in Philadelphia. He is well-known for his poker play, but his tournament structures are legendary and he was integral in establishing the property's Big Stax series.

When was the first time you learned to play poker? My first time playing poker was in my late 20s. I was a derivatives trader at the Philadelphia Stock Exchange when I got invited to a $5-$10 seven-card stud game after work one evening. It was the first time I ever played a hand of poker and was instantly hooked.

What's the biggest win of your career and are there any poker moments you found memorable or life-changing? The European Poker Tour's London High Roller when I took first for $862K. That was a big score at the time and got me thinking about tournaments for the first time. Previously, I was just a cash-game player.

Would you say the rest of your poker career will be focused mainly on tournaments or cash? I feel as though I'm still primarily a cash-game player but tournaments are definitely (important) now and going forward will be a significant part of my schedule. Tournaments are a great challenge and a ton of fun, but for me, cash games are a much steadier way to make a living. The variance in tournament poker keeps the tournaments a secondary form of poker for me.

Do you have a favorite venue and what makes your poker room different? My favorite poker room is obviously Parx. For many years, I couldn't wait for poker rooms to become legal in Pennsylvania. When I found out four years ago that Parx was opening up a huge poker room only 25 minutes from where I live, I was thrilled. (As) the poker ambassador for Parx Casino, we (were) able to grow the game's popularity in the Philadelphia area. This is something I really enjoy. The staff at the Parx Poker Room is the most player-oriented friendly staff in any room anywhere. This is what sets our room apart from all the others. — Jo Kim

PHILADELPHIA/ATLANTIC CITY

SUGARHOUSE CASINO: The property's fourth $100K Showdown ran Oct. 28 Nov. 1, gathering 550 players. Since its launch in April, the tournament has increased in popularity, meeting the guarantee each time. Rathe Miller claimed the championship for $33,202 and Alex Palumbo took second ($18,673).

Anthony Cuffari, an active tournament player in the region, bagged a record of nearly 650K chips for Day 2 but finished eighth. "My reading skills made a huge improvement through daily tournament experience," he said. "I've been able to pick up on tells by reading body language, getting into better situations in position and making big calls based on the players."

PARX: The Big Stax XIII series ran Sept. 29-Oct. 13 as 332 players entered the $110 main event.

Vinny Pahuja, Michael Esposito and Thomas Revello agreed to three-way chop after Revello agreed to take home $66K as chip leader while giving Pahuja, who was second in chips, the trophy and title. Pahuja added $62K to his tournament resumé of nearly $2M. Esposito, who's been playing poker for three years, took home his biggest tournament cash for $50K.

"I try not to give anything away to reveal information about my hands," Esposito said. "I spend most of my time playing cash, but I'll be playing tournaments more frequently now."

POMPANO PARK

MN FALL CLASSIC GOES TO IOWA'S CLARK

The Fall Poker Classic, Minnesota's largest tournament series, returned to Canterbury Park on Oct. 3-18, drawing many of the best players in the Midwest.

Scotter Clark of Marion, Iowa, won the $1,100 main event, taking home $85,940 after fighting for more than three hours heads-up against Vladimir Revniaga.

This was Clark's first cash that appeared on Hendon Mob. The main event drew 377 entries, an increase from 363 last year, for a $365,690 prize pool.

This year's FPC included 15 tournaments and 11 bonus evening events. For the first time, the series included a $5,250 high-roller event that drew a respectable 32 entries for a $157,600 prize pool. Robbie Wazwaz of Brooklyn Park, Minn., took the top spot for $70,920. Tony Hartmann and John Morgan were second and third, respectively. Lucas Mernin of Robbinsdale, Minn., won the $550 event for $23,455.

Soni Lo won the $340 HORSE event for $8,381. Derek McMaster won the $235 Omaha/8 event for $7,006.

Wazwaz was the top earner for the series with one win and two cashes for a total of $86,226. In 2015, Wazwaz has had 18 tournament cashes for $273,805, showing he has continued the trend he started in January when he won the Great Minnesota Freeze Out.

Revniaga had the second best total ($49,462) spread across three cashes to increase his lifetime Hendon Mob earnings by more than 38 percent. Mitchell Shock cashed three times for $41K. Carl Carodenuto cashed four times ($36K) and Charles Costanzo rounded out the top five with three cashes ($29K).

The Ultimate 100K guarantee preceded the FPC. Thomas Sawyer of Lake Delton, Wis., won the title for $23,698. The event had a $150 buy-in and drew 1,114 entrants across six Day 1s, generating a $128,110 prize pool.

RUNNING ACES: The poker room's signature tournament, the $280 Hallow Scream, drew 616 entrants across six Day 1s for a $134,205 prize pool. Luke Vierkant of Sauk Rapids, Minn., outlasted the field for $34,308.

MEET JOSH REICHARD

Hailing from Janesville, Wis., Josh Reichard, 24, is a poker pro who has been traveling the tournament circuit for four years. He captured his fourth World Series of Poker Circuit gold ring in late October at Horseshoe Hammond in Indiana. Reichard, who won the Mid-States Poker Tour stop at Ho-Chunk Gaming Wisconsin Dells in 2013, topped a WSOPC field of 216 to win Event 12 ($365 turbo) to capture the $16,201 first-place prize.

He also had second- and third-place finishes during the series, which gave him 117.5 points and the Casino Championship title, earning a seat into the first WSOP Global Casino Championship.

It's the third time he has qualified for the season-ending championship, but is he optimistic this time?

"The first one was disappointing," he said. "I ran deep and got it in good with 25 left and lost. The second one I was one of the first eliminated. ... I look forward to having another shot at it." — Chad Holloway declined to hear a case regarding the Ho-Chunk Nation being able to offer poker via electronic tables, meaning the Seventh Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals ruling from April, which stated video poker at the casino was legal, will stand.

State Attorney General Brad Schimel and Assistant Attorney General Clayton Kawski asked the court to hear the case, which focused on whether video poker was a Class II or Class III game.

If the latter, where players bet against the house, it would be prohibited as described by the IGRA. The tribe maintained it was the former because it was not banked by the house.

The Supreme Court declined the case, which was among 1,600 other passed cases, with no comment.

POTAWATOMI CASINO: On Nov. 2, a massive $213K bad-beat jackpot hit. Cero Zuccarello's quad fours lost to the quad eights of Robert Micheline Jr.

Both players flopped a set and the turn and river improved both.

Zuccarello (top right) of Monona received $64,015, Micheline of Pewaukee won $42,678, five other players at the table earned $12,803 and 57 others in the room won $748.

HEAD, STYBANIEWICZ EARN WSOPC INDIANA MAIN EVENTS

After an epic heads-up match in the World Series of Poker Circuit Main Event that lasted more than six hours, Russ Head eliminated Abhishek Yerra to earn the title and the $133K at Horseshoe Southern Indiana.

"I am going to win it," Head said beforehand. "Last year I got second and this year I am going to win it."

Robert Cheung of Vancouver won his first WSOPC ring along with $10K, defeating 124 entries in the turbo event.

"The game has changed a lot," said Cheung, who won a WSOP bracelet in 2007. "In 2007, everything was so much easier. Now that everyone knows how to play, the entire final table was really strong."

Cody Pack from Cartersville, Ga., won the six-max event for $13K, picking up his third ring this year. He defeated more than 160 players, which generated a $49K prize pool.

HORSESHOE HAMMOND: Amanda Heidbrick won the $365 opener of the WSOPC in Indiana, earning $101K. But it was Krzysztof Stybaniewicz who captured the coveted main event for a whopping $365K. It was the Denver amateur's first ring.

"I was pleasantly surprised with the competition," Stybaniewicz said. "People were not going to sit down and let themselves get pushed around. They were all extremely aggressive and very good players. It was an extremely tough grind."

AMERISTAR EAST CHICAGO: The Heartland Poker Tour returns the property on Jan. 14-25. The $300 buy-in opener will again have a $100K guarantee. Last August's opener had 989 entries.

MAJESTIC STAR: The seniors tournament fell short of the $4K guarantee, drawing just 21 entries. Andre Pierre won $2K and the title after a lengthy heads-up tangle with local pro Nadim "King" Saleh. WPT DeepStacks winner Tim McCarthy made the final table along with Gary Herstein, who leads the list for the most tournament cashes here.

TROPICANA EVANSVILLE: The Mid-States Poker Tour visits on Jan. 23-31 with a $50K guarantee for its $350 buy-in.

IOWA

MESWAKI CASINO: The MSPT returned to Tama and beat the $300K guarantee to pay out more than $400K. Rich Alsip, a pro from Eden Prairie, Minn., who was runner-up in this event in March, came back with a score to settle, and this time he took down the top prize of $101,229.

The final table began with pro Matt Alexander sporting a huge chip lead, but he went out seventh after losing most of his chips in a flip. Derek Dempster and Alsip traded blows once head-up play got going until Alsip turned bottom pair into trips on the river to disappoint Dempster's top pair. Then, to make matters worse, Dempster shoved his short stack with 5-4 offsuit and Alsip called with the same hand, only to see Alsip earn a flush.

HORSESHOE COUNCIL BLUFFS: The Holiday Poker Classic again runs during the last week of the year with the $550 main event kicking off Dec. 26 at noon with play continuing the next day at 1. There will be several main-event satellites as well as many $150 fat-stack events to give players plenty of time to play.

FERRAROTTI WINS MICHIGAN ST. CHAMPIONSHIP AT FIREKEEPERS

FireKeepers Casino in Battle Creek, Mich., hosted the Michigan State Poker Championship as part of the Mid-States Poker Tour and once again sported one of the largest tournaments in the state.

While the MSPT didn't top its turnout from earlier this year, there were 559 entries to produce a $559K prize pool and a first-place prize of $134,642, which went to Michael Ferrarotti of Livonia, Mich.

Linda Callear of Morley, Mich., was the "Last Woman Standing" and nearly became the second female MSPT champion. She made the final table but lost a flip to Bill Rogers, who three-bet all-in with K-Q. Callear called with 7-7 but Rogers flopped a queen, sending Callear home with $38,662 for fourth place.

Ferrarotti's victory also was his first MSPT cash, beating Rogers of Midland, Mich., in heads-up play. Rogers took home $75,703 after a wild final hand of the tournament. Ferrarotti raised to 160K with K-5 and Rogers, holding A-Q, made it 500K with 1.5M behind. Ferrarotti moved all-in for 9.1M and Rogers snap-called. The flop came K-10-K and Rogers was down to four outs. He hit a jack on the turn for Broadway and the lead, forcing Ferrarotti to hit one of 10 outs for the title. A five on the river paired his other hole card for a full house and the Michigan State Poker Championship.

THE LAST 'COURSE' YOU'LL EVER TAKE

Sometimes you need a book to be written that allows the reader, and in this case the poker player, to follow along with the information provided and apply it to the situations we all encounter at the table.

In The Course: Serious Hold'em Strategy for Smart Player, by Ed Miller, this poker pro and columnist presents material exactly what is needed to play at the $1-$2 and $1-$3 NL tables and then takes it two steps forward, providing the necessary guidance to advance into $2-$5 and even the $5-$10 tables.

I believe this book really helps those struggling at the lower end of these no-limit tables, concentrating on preflop decisions, card ranges and, of course, position. Suited-ness plays a role, but Miller skillfully allows you to select the right time to apply this factor, giving it the extra allowance needed to play a particular pot.

Recently, one of my online clients here in Maryland, who has read the book five times, yes, five times, and has memorized the charts, the ranges provided and more, is smoking them at the $2-$5 tables at the Horseshoe Casino and Maryland Live.

On a recent cruise, there was no daily poker table available (this could have been avoided if he had gone on an Ante Up Poker Cruise). However, on the way back to port, there was a poker tournament, which he played, applied the same theories and won first place, a $2K watch and a ton of swag. I'd like to hear from those who have read the book. And for those who haven't, I highly recommend you get the e-edition or the book from reputable book stores and online distributors such as Amazon.com.

If you haven't read this book, ask yourself if playing poker is just entertainment or recreation. Should that's the case, then don't bother acquiring this book. But if it's your intention to supplement your income, create a new stream of permanent income or to move into larger stakes in the cash-game world, then don't delay; get this book today.

I rarely review a book where I had the privilege to receive it before publishing to report any errors (grammatical, punctuation or confusing sentences) to the author.

In addition, if I felt a particular subject could be further explored from a player's perspective, I made that observation for any updates the author may make in the upcoming editions. But, to be honest, they were minor. It's a terrific book and many of my clients have purchased it and they all said it instantly helped make their game better.

HERE ARE SOME TIDBITS FOR CASH GAMES

After seeing my columns here in Ante Up, many players attend to email me seeking my coaching help. One recent student told me he usually played $1-$2 no-limit hold'em cash games and included a few tidbits from his poker bio. We set up a consultation call and in my response I included a few tips. My tips come from my gut; I do not have a canned response. Here's what I included in my response:

MARK BREMENT

"Make sure your preflop raise narrows the field to one or two players. And stop limping. Hope that tidbit helps."

The response I received: "Wow, thanks for the tip. I was just telling my wife how I am playing too passive. I will call you next week."

TIDBIT 1: Bet-sizing is a big deal. Flopping top set is not a good reason to play it slow, resulting in teasing players to catch the turn. The turn can lead to a substantial increase in outs for opponents. Most players fail to recognize where their blunder occurred. But we certainly remember getting our set of aces cracked by runner-runner.

TIDBIT 2: Be sure to over-charge opponents. Ultimately, this makes you the house. You have manipulated the odds in your favor, which is why owning a casino is a good thing. Recently, I overheard a player lament his luck and the story cited was the aforementioned scenario. He let all three players catch the turn on the cheap.

The play caused him an exit in a tournament and he failed to realize his bad play with three players drawing most likely had manipulated matters from being a strong favorite after the flop to becoming an underdog on the turn. We often mistake the winner to be lucky because he was drawing thin, but forget to factor in all of the outs we never get to see.

TIDBIT 3: There is zero luck in poker. Let's not kid ourselves; we make our own breaks. I used to take a survey in my class and most students came in at 60-40. If zero luck confuses you, think of a major-leaguer who is getting great wood on the ball, but is in a slump. His linedrives are being caught. He's down in the dumps because his average is suffering. His hitting coach tells him not to change a thing, which leads to the last tidbit.

TIDBIT 4: Your poker coach's No. 1 job is to help you untangle your play. Losing might be variance or blunders, big leaks or subtle. Don't fall prey to chasing ghosts.

WHEN IN DOUBT, BE SURE TO BET OUT

You open-raise with pocket 10s and get one caller who has position on you. The flop seemingly is perfect for you, 8-7-2 rainbow. You make your continuation bet and get called. You figure your opponent for two overcards. The turn is an ace. You're unsure of whether to bet and you check. Your opponent bets and you fold giving him credit for the ace. He turns over pocket nines. You realize if you had bet the turn, you most likely would have induced a fold.

DAVID APOSTOLICO

Now, the assumption your opponent had two over cards is not a bad one.

The bottom line is, though, you never know for sure what your opponent has when calling into you.

He could be on a draw, have a monster or a slightly worse hand. Or he could be floating you, thinking you didn't hit the flop and is waiting for you to give up on the hand so he can take it.

The point of this article is not to provide a blueprint of when to bet and when to check. That is so situation-dependent on so many factors.

Good players inherently will know the right thing to do based on the situation, though in hindsight the decision may prove wrong. The point of this article is a philosophical one.

If you're truly torn between checking or betting, then I would encourage you to bet. Most players tend to be risk-averse. If they have doubts, they would rather check. The problem with that line of thinking is you have now increased your risk by conceding power to your opponent.

By not continuing to exert pressure on your opponent, you have increased the likelihood of pressure being exerted on you. Good opponents will pounce on your indecisiveness and make you pay for it.

Again, this article isn't meant to be an advocate for overly aggressive betting.

Rather, over your next few sessions, keep this in the back of your mind. When you are truly wrestling with a decision to bet or check, go ahead and bet. See how opponents react and how the hand plays.

Don't be results-oriented but objectively determine if betting was the right decision based on the information you had at the time. You're more likely to find out where you stand and what your opponent's relative strength is by betting rather than checking. So, when in doubt, bet out.

IF THEY NEED TO VENT, THEY'RE WEAK

I sat with a few poker players once and asked, "How many of you have heard of ventilators?" There were some chuckles; one guy asked if that was anything like a little battery-powered fan with a squirt bottle. Another said he thought I had mentioned it somewhere but wasn't sure. It was confirmed: Most people really don't know about ventilators and that's almost forgivable except for poker players and law enforcement officers.

JOE NAVARRO

Before I list the ventilators, let me say I recognize that we ventilate ourselves all the time if the temperature becomes significantly warm.

However, the presence of others in close proximity can cause us to ventilate ourselves also, as can a difficult college test or an interviewer's piercing questions.

In these cases, you may find yourself ventilating your shirt by pulling or tugging at it away from your body. We do this to relieve physical as well as psychological discomfort.

When I got into law enforcement, I began to observe that suspects often ventilated themselves while the innocent did not. This served me well, not in detecting deception, but rather, in seeing which questions caused the suspects discomfort.

What can cause psychological discomfort at the table? The same things as in life: insecurity, doubt, fear, apprehension, a sense of weakness, vulnerability or anxiety; all the things we associate in poker with being weak or marginal or with reluctantly being forced to act.

Here are five ventilators you can look for while playing. Chances are something is bothering the individual and with all of the other information you have gathered at the table, this may give you a significant advantage in discerning what the other player is thinking, feeling or fearing as they contemplate their next move or after going all-in.

- Look for players to run their fingers through their hair multiple times in quick succession.
 - Players who wear hats will lift their hat completely off the head or angle it upward in such a way as to let in air.
 - Female players ventilate slightly differently than men when it comes to hair. If they have hair down to the neck they will lift up the hair at the nape of the neck brushing the hair upward, an effort to allow air to cool the neck.
 - Look for players who pull on their shirt buttons or the front of their shirt by lifting it away from the skin. This may be repeated by both hands lifting up the shirt simultaneously just above the pectorals. The lifting of the shirt allows air to flow beneath the fabric cooling the skin.
 - Pulling at the collar is also often missed. This tell (behavior) was popularized by comedian Rodney Dangerfield.

DOES THE GAMBLER'S FALLACY APPLY HERE?

The gambler's fallacy is the belief that the chances of something happening with a fixed probability change as the process is repeated. Basically it says something happens, the thing that happens differs from what is normally expected and therefore it won't happen again, e.g. flips of a coin, red-black and other games of chance.

STEPHEN BLOOMFIELD

Poker, as we know, is a game of skill with opportunities (some call luck) and with incomplete information. I want to try to expand the information aspect.

In poker, gambler's fallacy takes the form of, "he had aces last time, he couldn't possibly have aces again," or "he sucked out on the river for a flush, that can't happen again." Assuming everything remains the same, the odds are the same each time.

Conversely, we lead ourselves to think, "I'm due; I will make my trips because I haven't made trips in so long." No, the odds remain the same.

So, do you fall into the gambler's fallacy when playing, betting or raising? Because when it doesn't happen, you're surely likely to tilt and blame your misfortune on thinking something was likely to happen when the odds really stayed the same.

These fallacies are fallacies in games of pure chance.

What about poker? Statistically, the odds of getting pocket aces don't change. The odds of flopping a straight don't change.

Poker isn't about pure chance; there's skill involved and there are numerous decisions on each street that confound the game.

But we fool ourselves all of the time. A poker room runs a high-hand promotion and the room fills up. The high hand every hour seems to be a straight flush, often a royal flush. What happened to the odds? Maybe we just remember the straight flushes, or maybe people play differently when there's a big promotion.

Now take it to your normal table. When you're factoring in the math, the patterns, the tells and you're about to make a decision, don't decide the villain can't have pocket aces again. It's just as likely the villain was dealt pocket aces this time as last time or even the next time.

Don't let this so-called logical scenario rule your decision-making; the gambler's fallacy is what keeps the house in business. For poker, keep your head in the game and don't fall for this fallacy.

RESOLVE TO STAY HEALTHY AT THE TABLE IN 2016

This seems like the perfect time for some New Year's resolutions, poker-style. I'm not referring to strategy, as there are plenty of qualified pros to give you one-liners worth remembering next year. Doyle Brunson says, "Never go broke with a queen in your hand." His son, Todd, says, "The third raise is always aces." Daniel Negreanu warns not to overvalue a pair of 10s. "After all, they're just 10s."

TOSCANO

I'm also not going to focus on any of my personal poker goals. I have some such as, "Always try to keep count of the pot," and "Play more razz." But those are really of no concern to anyone but me.

No, I'm supposed to be the medical guy, so I thought I'd review the most important nuggets of healthy advice I've given you in my past columns and ask you to consider taking some of these good health habits into the new year.

NO. 10: Get a flu shot. You've gotten one, haven't you? I sure have. Regular poker players are at a particularly high risk because they sit at a table with nine people and pass cards and chips around. The flu always gets a lot of press this time of year because it's so darn contagious and seasonal flu kills 35,000 Americans every year.

If you play a lot of poker, you should get a flu shot EVERY year. And if you do get sick, do everyone a favor and stay home. Have some soup.

NO. 9: Wash your hands, a lot. ... after a bathroom break, before eating, and at the end of your session, wash up. If you can't find soap and water, use hand sanitizer. Avoid touching your nose or mouth during play. Sneeze or cough into the crook of your elbow, not your hand. If someone at your table is sneezing or coughing, cover your mouth.

NO. 8: Get enough sleep. If you're planning to play late, catch a nap earlier in the day or sleep late the next morning. Don't replay hands in your head while you're trying to get to sleep, especially those bad beats. Let them go.

NO. 7: Limit your caffeine. ...and not just coffee or Red Bull.

Colas and even green tea "energy" drinks are loaded with the stuff.

NO. 6: Don't hold your bladder too long. Limit your fluids during the latter stages of a tournament when the blinds escalate and take advantage of breaks in the action to take care of business. Did I mention washing your hands?

NO. 5: Don't let a blood clot sideline you. Sitting at the table for hours can cause blood to sludge in your legs. Point your toes and contract your calf muscles every time you get the button. Get up frequently and walk; do deep knee bends; exercise your legs; wear elastic socks.

NO. 4: Don't lean on your elbows. This goes for online and live play. That little watery blob at the tip of your elbow is a bursa. If you traumatize it enough by leaning on it, it can swell up or even get infected. And, for gosh sakes, don't stick a needle in it. If it's hot and red, see a doctor. If it's not, leave it alone.

NO. 3: Exercise your mind and memory. Pay attention to the play, especially when you're not in a hand. Look for patterns. Resolve to remember them. Challenge yourself. Learn other games, such as razz!

NO. 2: Don't use drugs to improve your game. The slight and temporary performance improvement you might experience by using speed or coke isn't worth the enormous danger to your health. If you don't have ADD, forget Ritalin and Adderall. They're just as risky. Pharmaceutical quality speed is, after all, still speed.

NO. 1: Don't smoke at the table. ... cigars, cigarettes, anything. And don't let others smoke at your table. Clearly you'll have more control over this resolution if it's your home game, but you can voice your objections and refuse to attend games where smoking is allowed.

And, if you have a choice, choose a non-smoking cardroom. No matter how good a game might be, it's not worth breathing carcinogens.

— An avid poker player, Frank Toscano, M.D. is a board-certified emergency physician. He's medical director for Red Bamboo Medi Spa in Clearwater.

If you're sick, do everyone a favor and stay in bed.

THAT'S WHY WE HAVE A CARDS SPEAK RULE

I was in a $1,000 tournament in a major Las Vegas tournament series. A player in early position raised and it folded to the big blind, who shoved all-in. The original raiser tanked for a while before throwing both his cards face up and saying, "I call."

ELLIOTT SCHECTER

He never moved or even touched any of his chips and his statement was not real clear. The dealer thought he said, "I fold."

The big blind threw his hand in face up as well. Most of the table heard the second player call, but we all just watched as the dealer scooped up both hands, turned the cards over and pushed them into the muck.

The dealer then pushed the pot to the big blind. The deck was never mixed into the muck. Several players said, "Wait," and the player at issue said he called. The dealer said, "I heard you say fold." Several of us confirmed we thought we heard him say call. The floor was called and ruled that as long as the exact hands were known, they can be brought back.

Someone asked how mucked hands can be taken out of the muck? The floor said these were "tabled hands" and not mucked hands, so out they came. The deck was never compromised, so the hand was reset and the flop, turn and river were dealt. Was this correct? — Dave Rendahl, via email.

VERBAL IS BINDING

Email us at letters@anteupmagazine.com if you have something to say or ask. Be sure to give us your name and we just might print it.

ELLIOTT SAYS: It sure would have been nice if any of the players at the table, especially the pair involved in the hand, would have spoken up and said "Stop!"

If the hands and board don't play in this situation, what's to stop dealers from doing this every time their least favorite players get action on their all-in bets? Thankfully, the players were paying attention and were able to assist in reconstituting the all-in hands. The deck, having been luckily kept to the side, was intact for the board to be dealt. The rules that apply to the showdown apply here as well since the action was closed and the active hands must be tabled.

The Cards Speak rule means the players as well as the dealer are responsible for reading the hands and determining the winner at showdown.

TEMPERANCE VS. TEETOTALISM

BY FATHER PAUL KAMMEN

Reflecting on growing up and early gambling experiences, I can recall two stupid bets I made as a kid. In fourth grade, I took the eighth-graders to defeat the staff in a volleyball game, lost and then got upset about it not knowing how to pay off whatever I bet. All I remember is the teacher saying Dan, the student with whom I placed the bet, would not come after my family. (She also may have said, “Did you learn anything about gambling?” I think we know the answer to that question). And in seventh grade, I placed a bet (with no knowledge of what a “spread” was) of $5 that the Timberwolves, then in their inaugural season, would certainly defeat the Bulls (then with Scottie Pippen, Michael Jordan and the rest). This did not happen and it cost me five bucks.

I never went to a GA meeting and, in the years that have followed, I have continued to enjoy gambling; but now it’s entirely poker, the game I learned from my grandpa, who strangely somehow dealt me four aces with a joker as one of my first hands. However, I don’t play the game professionally. I play for small stakes, as I live in a town with two cardrooms. I also enjoy writing, having written on small stakes stud and stud/8, completing two books on the game, and I wrote some columns for a time. But as I said, a pro player I am not, nor am I a pro writer, as is obvious from this column.

I became a priest, being ordained a little more than seven years ago serving in the Twin Cities after six years at seminary following my stint at the University of Minnesota. I had hoped not to share with anyone in the parish that I had written about poker; but sure enough, when my archbishop introduced me to the parish, he promptly informed them I had written a book on poker. He didn't mind at all and I think he found it humorous. I consider poker an enjoyable hobby, along with bowling, photography and jogging. It's a hobby with a goal of making money, of course, but I also enjoy the stories and the competition and find it a great way to unwind. Which leads me to the point of the column: What is the morality of playing poker and gambling and does it constitute sin?

I strongly say no. It's true some sects of Christianity have taken hard stances against gambling and alcohol; but the Catholic Church does not state these are absolutes to be avoided. Certain things are moral absolutes in Catholic morality, such as taking innocent life and no premarital sex. These things we determine from scripture and tradition, the teachings of the saints and church authorities who interpret scripture. There's no prohibition of gambling or alcohol use in the Bible.

So then, does this mean you should find a case of Milwaukee's Best and cash in the savings account for a night of fun at the local casino? Not quite. The Catechism of the Catholic Church says it best: Games of chance (card games, etc.) or wagers are not in themselves contrary to justice. They become morally unacceptable when they deprive someone of what is necessary to provide for his needs and those of others.

The passion for gambling risks becoming an enslavement. Unfair wagers and cheating at games constitute grave matter, unless the damage inflicted is so slight that the one who suffers it cannot reasonably consider it significant. The point is gambling is risky; one does not have to do it at all and many don't. Gambling also can be a dangerous slippery slope for people. So what is the bottom line on gambling? It comes down to embracing temperance.

Temperance is a virtue that moderates pleasures. Teetotalism is an absolute avoidance of things; hence it is more proper to call Prohibition of the '20s not the result of temperance movements, but of teetotalism. Temperance causes us to use restraint. Thus, I think the best course of action is for a gambler (or for our readers, a poker player) to ask themselves the hard questions: Is poker too much in my life? Am I playing above my bankroll? Am I making excuses to not be with my wife or husband or children tonight just so I can play in this tournament? Am I cheating at the game? Am I using money that I need for bills or tuition? Am I using money that needs to go to my spouse or family? Am I sneaking out of work to play or hiding my play from my spouse? Indeed, the catechism is quite right when it points out how the passion for gambling can become an enslavement.

Poker needs to be enjoyable. Ideally, you can have some fun and augment your income. Perhaps you lose more often than you win; if it's your money and you're not causing yourself harm by using money you need, but would spend the same on dinner and a movie, I don't think it's a big deal. Obviously there's short-term variance in the game.

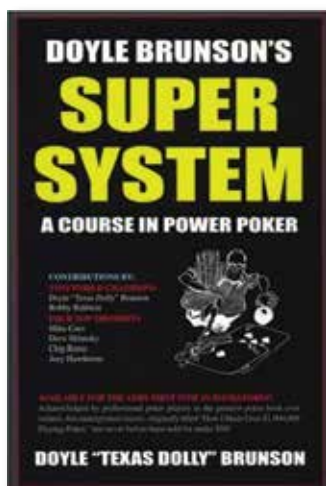

But for many, losing is a way of life. How many people populate tables constantly chasing time and time again, win a pot here and there, but essentially play slots with cards and not sound poker? The moment it becomes money you need, or money your family needs, you need to get away from the table or the mouse. With this, there are also the things money can't buy, such as the moments with our families. Poker night with the guys or an hour before bed online is one thing, but if night after night is spent at the table and you have a family, you really are missing out on a lot. Yes, there are those who do this for a living, but even those who do so need to find time for their families. The game of poker will always be there; our families won't.

The bottom line is poker can be enjoyable. You like it otherwise you wouldn't be reading this magazine. And yet for some reason, there are those who see it as a sinful activity or question its morality. It has the potential to become sinful in the Church's eyes, but it also is something that can be enjoyable when done in moderation. My advice? Budget accordingly and be open about it with a spouse. Make sure it never gets out of control and if people start saying things such as, "Hey, seems like you're never around anymore," or "You seem to be getting stressed out about your poker game, is everything OK?" then hear them out. Don't be afraid to ask friends and family for help.

Poker is a great game, and I've enjoyed it ever since I got those five aces "dealt" to me. I find it a great way to unwind, to perhaps have a story and hopefully win a few bucks. It most likely always will be a part of my life. But my primary vocation is to the church and the people of my parish. I also make priorities for my family and friends. No matter what your beliefs, we can all agree the people in our lives matter most, which is why we serve humanity by volunteering and giving to charity. These are the things that really matter and I hope you keep them as the top priority in your life.

If, like me, you think poker is awesome then keep it up. But remember, so much more important than a game of cards is what we do away from the table. The key is to keep our priorities right. ♠

MCKEEHEN WINS WSOP

Joe McKeehen, a 24-year-old poker pro from Pennsylvania, is our new world champion, knocking out six of the final-table players. CHRIS: It's probably the most dominating performance we've seen. A lot of people were comparing it to Jamie Gold's dominance, but I think Jamie's performance wasn't as dominating as this was. McKeehen never really sweated anything. He was just in command the whole time. SCOTT: I wonder what kind of champion he is going to be. To really be someone who is remembered, not that everyone wants to be remembered, but if you want to be remembered, I think it's a lot harder now. You have to have a strategy, have to stick yourself out there and say, "Hey, this is what I'm going to do so people remember me after next year's 24-year-old wins and takes that title."

HARMAN AND JUANDA JOIN POKER'S HALL

Jennifer Harman and John Juanda became the 49th and 50th members of the Poker Hall of Fame, voted in by a panel of members and media. SCOTT: I was a little disappointed with some of the comments on our Ante Up Group discussions on PokerRadius.Com over Jennifer being inducted. Someone said, "Oh, she's just a stay-at-home mom" and another one was, "She doesn't have any real accomplishments in the poker world." I think both of those are way off-base.

CHRIS: Even if some of the more important things in life have caught up with her, raising twins and being married, it doesn't mean it discounts what she's done in the past, what she's done for the sport. No way. She's made World Poker Tour final tables. She's won bracelets. She's won tournaments. She's played the biggest game in the world. She deserves it, and to say she's a "stay-at-home" mom is way off-base. Not even close.

MISSISSIPPI GRIND GETS WIDER RELEASE

As Mississippi Grind, the latest poker movie, makes it to the silver screen, Jay Caspian King wrote an essay for the New York Times, positing that great gambling films shouldn't end with happiness, because happiness only can be found in the chase.

CHRIS: Why can't you focus on one facet of their life or one time in their life where there was a happy story? I think it could end in happiness. You need to experience the lows so you can appreciate the highs in movies, I think. Any gambling movie has to depict someone going broke or being miserable or getting their butt beat by the state police.

SCOTT: A poker tournament has one winner. So even a poker tournament has a happy ending for only one person. It's just like sports movies. You have a winner and a loser. It's hard for it to be happy for everyone.

DAILY FANTASY SPORTS CRUMBLING?

The daily fantasy sports industry is facing a barrage of criticism, and now poker is getting caught up in the fire, thanks in part to a bit on John Oliver's show. What can the poker industry do to fight back?

SCOTT: What I've finally realized is that, because of daily fantasy sports, we have lost as poker players the ability to convince the general public that poker is a game of skill. I think it's always been a tough argument for us, even though we believe it and we know it's true, it's a tough sell. If you go to politics, it's not about what's right, it's about what people perceive to be right. I think we've lost this perception game, and daily fantasy sports has really hammered it home and made it nearly impossible for us.

CHRIS: John Oliver is coming under fire now, because he kind of contradicted himself. He's trying to make it sound like it's gambling and he goes on to prove that it's skill without necessarily realizing he did it.
